Hoffman of the Highlanders leads the American league in batting in the first rush of the season, according to a compilation which has been made of the first eight games played. Unglaub, recently appointed captain of the Boston Americans, is second and Fielder Jones, mentor of the White Box, is third. While this table shows sixteen players who are hitting ever the coveted 300 mark, there are few of the stars of other days in the bunch. Alonko Stone is hitting at the tremendous clip of 161 and is no longer a terror to opposing slab artists. Lajole, the great, is at the 380 mark, and so it goes. Warm weather may make a change in the next two weeks:

SIOUN CITY, Ia., April 28.-Today's game between Pueblo and Sloux City was a one-sided comedy. The Indians hit the Sloux pitchers at will and took the long end of a 16 to 5 score without the least trouble. Sloux City's errors at critical times and generally stupid work in the infield aided Pueblo in heaping up runs.

Hard-Hitting Game Ended by Sensational Catch in Ninth.

The Hoctors of South Omaha and the Dietz Athletics battled with each other through nine innings of hard slugging which was ayone's game up to the last iming. On account of the slippery condition of the grounds the fielding on both sides was ragged at times, but those who braved the weather were treated to a game which was full of excitement from the time the first ball was thrown until the ninth inning, when, with three men on bases, Angus pulled down knight's long drive into right field. FLY AND BAIT-CASTING TEST

Ancient Tournament Will Be Held Foon at Courtland Beach.

EXPERT FISHERMEN FORM SOCIETY

Will Be Erected the Lake Front and the Contest Will Be Held There.

Omaha is to have a fly and bait casting contest at Courtland Beach in the near future. It will be held under the auspices of the Omaha Bait and Fly Casting club, an organization of expert fish ermen of Omaha with a membership limited to twenty-five. A platform will be built along the water front at Courtland Beach and the tournament held at that point. The officers of the club are Dr. F. S. Owen, president; Albert Edholm. vice president; H. D. Neely, secretary and treasurer; Joseph Sykes, captain. The members of the club are Dr. F. S. Owen, J. Van Rensslaer, A. J. Latey, Dr. C. W. Hayes, Albert Edholm, John F. Dale, H. D. Neely, R. W. Breckenridge, J. S. Skyes P. B. Adous, D. J. Adams, D. Williams Dr. J. H. Irvine, O. H. Wirth, Carl E. Herring, H. C. Brome, C. C. Wright and A. L. Mohler.

The events will include "long distance fly," "distance and accuracy fly," "accuracy and delicacy fly," "light tackle long distance fly," "obstacle fly," "roll fly cast ing," "distance and accuracy balt casting one-half ounce," "delicacy and accuracy balt casting one-quarter ounce, "long distance bait casting one-half ounce, and "delicacy bait, long distance, one-quar ter ounce." The competitors may choose their own reels, lines and rods, but must conform to certain rules in handling these All casting must be single-handed.

One of the Ancient Sports. Fly casting is an art of time-honored antiquity and has been a source of delight to anglers from the ancient to the present. Volumes have been written concerning the points and requirements. Poets have sung the praises and heart songs of the anglers in almost all civilized tongues,

A quarter of a century ago fly casting found a young and hearty brother at its side and since that time that brother has thriven so that now, in the twentieth century, two kindred arts, widely different in the manner of manipulation and character of tackle, are practiced and balt casting has taken its position in the scientific

The advance in the beautiful art of scientific fishing is promoted immensely by tour-naments of casting clubs which, while they have continued to develop and teach fly casting, have brought out rapidly the finer and higher points in balt casting until it now stands on a par with the older sport The first international tournament was held at the World's Fair at Chleago in 1899. Besides teaching skill in the handling of the rod and reel, the club has a higher purpose in assisting in guarding against the evils of professionalism that come up and to assist in the propagation and protection of game fishes and to influence legislation to that end. The club aims to promote an appreciation of true amateur sportsmanship among anglers and to lend moral support to all moves toward true sportsmanship in all sports and to promote social conditions incident to the sport of angling.

Some Targets Used. In the tournament a target is used which is placed from 35 to 100 feet from the platform, according to the event. The aim of the caster is, of course, to come as near to the center of the target as possible. There is no officially described target and one satisfactory in every respect has not been invented. At Kalamazoo at a tournaent held there the target had a wooden bull's-eye and iron rings buoyed up by pneumatic arrangement. The first ring circling the bull's-eye had a diameter of thirty inches. Any shot within this ring is perfect. The second ring, twelve inches from the first, had a diameter of four feet eight inches and within that space one point is figured off. The third ring had a diameter of six feet six inches and inside this ring two points are figured off. The fourth or outside ring has a diameter of eight feet six inches, and within this ring three points are figured off. The total number of points off, divided by the number of casts and this sum deducted from 100 (perfect) gives the average per cent or score of the contestant. Fishermen Seize Chances With the open season on for fishing at Cut-off lake hundreds of Omaha fishermen are taking advantage of the splendid opportunities offered and have been well rewarded for their labors. Last week one fisherman caught twelve fine specimen of black bass, the largest weighing four and one-half pounds. What better fishing could one want than that? It was not Olson either-Olson, the man who knows where the fish go for their breakfast, lunch and dinner. It was merely a fisherman from the busy life of Omaha, taking a little recreation and pleasure.

The return of the cold weather and snov has kept many away from the lake, but the prospects of the really warm weather have driven thousands to thoughts of boat ing and fishing and members are hustling around to pay their dues to the Rod and Gun club, lest they be dropped from the
