

OMAHAS MASSACRE, PUEBLOS

Terrific Fawcett in Which the Colorado Indians Are Slaughtered

NINETEEN TO ONE IS THE WAY OF IT

Big Thompson for Six Innings Allowed the Reds from Over the Hills Neither Hit Nor Run.

The Pueblo Indians were simply massacred at Vinton Street park Thursday afternoon and when the battle was ended the Bourkees had amassed nineteen runs to one little tally for the Indians.

Big Thompson started in to work for Pa and for six innings he allowed neither a hit nor a run, in fact, let but one man reach first base on White's walk, and then White threw to first when he had taken Franck's place at short. It was really a slaughter of the innocents, and while Thompson was pitching the Pueblos had about as much show of winning the game as a beating lamb would of killing the butcher.

The trouble all started in the first inning after Omaha had retired Seloe's team without a man reaching first. Olibert was sent in to pitch for Seloe, and so confident was he of his prowess that he did not take the trouble to warm up during the fifteen minutes allotted to Omaha to practice. Of course, the first inning was not entirely chargeable to Olibert, but he had his share. The first man walked and Harris dropped Franck's fly. Autrey made a single and scored Belden. Franck scored on Welch's infield out and Doan reached first on the first of Corban's errors. Austin hit for a double and Corban made his second error on Graham's grounder. Goding then hit for a double, scoring both Austin and Graham and Thompson struck out. Belden walked for the second time in the inning and Franck hit a single, scoring Goding. Franck stole second and came home on the second single Autrey made in the first inning. That was the way Omaha made the nine scores, which were enough to win that or almost any game.

Thompson went to work to try for a no-hit, no-run game and it looked like he might succeed, but in the seventh inning Pa sent in Metz to give him his first try in fast company. The Pueblos made but one hit off Metz, but he passed five. Corban made a single in the eighth inning and Metz passed three which forced one across the plate, making the only score for Seloe.

St. Louis City comes this afternoon, which is also women's day.

Notes of the Game.

Belden made four runs in two times to beat the Pueblos.

Thirteen Omaha players took part in the game.

The Pueblos surely had an off day. He could not hold the ball when it hit in his mitt.

Eight innings without a hit or a run is not such a bad record for such a cold day.

Giving it to Thompson.

Eleven stolen bases makes the Bourkees look fast on bases or else the Pueblo catchers seem a little slow.

Melchior, the terror at the bat of the two Pueblos, was the easiest in the bunch Thursday and struck out twice.

Belden had home stolen in the eighth inning, but Welch did not get a foul out of the ball. He squared himself, however, by hitting it safe.

Thompson surely watches the bases and a runner has a poor chance to steal second with sun in the box. That is the strongest point of Nick Altrock.

Belden made a beautiful one-handed catch in the first inning by jumping backwards and into the air after a hard hit ball which the wind was carrying away from him.

Sloux Beat the Leaders.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 2.—Sloux City, Iowa, defeated the Red Sox of Des Moines in the series from Des Moines by a score of 4 to 1. Clark was landed on for four hits in the eighth inning, resulting in three scores, winning the game for the packers. Corbett was given perfect support, and won his game by a hit in the eighth bringing in two scores. Des Moines scored in the second on a base on balls by Yeaeger, and again in the eighth on a base on balls. Yeaeger's second two bagger and McGivray's single. Sloux City scored one run in the fifth on three singles, a base on balls and a batter hit with a pitched ball.
