BANNER JOB OF PLUMBING

Thirty-Five thousand Dollars Covers Construction for New Cohn Hotel.

ONE OF LARGEST EVER LET IN OMAHA!

Work Goes to Local Firm and Includes the Apparatus for Heating the Big Structure Also.

The plumbing and heating contract for the new hotel building for Herman Cohn, which will be erected on Sixteenth street, has been let for $35,000 to J. J. Hanighen. This is one of the largest plumbing and heating contracts ever let for a building in Omaha and is indicative of the quality of the new building which will be erected by Mr. Cohn. Other contracts for mere construction have been let to the National Preceding company of Chicago and F. P. Smith & Son of Omaha and preliminary work on the new building has been begun. Excavating on the site near Twentieth and Harney streets for the main exchange building for the Independent Telephone company has been completed and the work of driving piles for the foundation of the building will be begun Saturday morning. The work is being done by John Towle and piles will be driven to the depth of thirty feet in order to furnish a stable foundation for the large exchange building, for which plans are being prepared by Fisher & Lurie.

Contracts will be let by the telephone company next week for the concrete work on the foundations of the building and the plans probably will be submitted to contractors for bids on construction within two or three weeks. Deeds were placed on record Friday morning transferring the title to the lot, which was part of the public play grounds, to the new telephone company.

FIRE HORSES BREAK AWAY

One Animal Sustains Injury in Wild Run and May Have to Be Killed.

Starting out from the fire barn at Eleventh and Jackson streets to answer an alarm of fire from Thirteenth and California streets before the driver could get on the seat or check them, the horses attached to the wagon of Hoss company No. 1, dashed out through the door, becoming frightened, when a wheel struck the side of the opening and broke into a runaway north on Eleventh street with Captain Sullivan hanging to their bits trying to stop them at 8 o'clock Friday morning. He was obliged to let go before they had proceeded half a block in order to avoid running into a woman in a buggy, who was in the way and the animals continued their run at top speed for another block, colliding with two horses on the way, when one of them fell with a shaft wound in the breast, and they were grabbed by Market Officer Henry Leach.

Driver Phillip Miller was carrying one of the horses when the going tapped and he turned the animal loose on the way, when one of them fell with a shaft wound in the breast, and they were grabbed by Market Officer Henry Leach.

EFFECT OF PARDON BY MAYOR

Sixteen-Year-Old Girl-Who is Enslaved to Fall Again.

CLUTCHED TIGHT IN THE GRIP OF VICL

Other Officials Had About Succeeded to Work Her Rescue When Dahlgren's Clemency Neutralized Their Efforts.

The use of the pardon power by Mayor Dahlgren resulted Thursday in the return to a life of shame of a 16-year-old girl through the efforts of her male consort and a time the purposes of Police Judge Crawford, City Prosecutor Daniel and Police Matron Gibbons were thwarted in their efforts to work her reclamation, until she could be rescued from the maze of the red light district and placed out of the reach of her companion and low friends.

The girl, who has assumed the name of Cleo Melburn, has a husband at Des Moines and when she was again taken into police court April 29 from Martin's arcade, her face still unmarked by the life she was leading and seemed less anxious to continue her career. Judge Crawford gave her a sentence of thirty days in the matron's department at the city jail. Then he personally wrote to her father, City Prosecutor Daniel wrote to her husband and Matron Gibbons made efforts to find a brother, the information of their whereabouts being gladly furnished by her. The husband has written Daniel that he will be glad to have his young wife back and Matron Gibbons was in sight of success with the brother when she heard the girl's consort was about to ask Dahlgren for a pardon.

Going to the telephone she called up the mayor's office only to learn the pardon already had been granted. She then related the girl's story and Dahlgren told her he would recall the release. While Mrs. Gibbons was out later, however, and a change of officers had been made, the mayor's order was presented and the girl given back to habits of the under world which had been so successful with Dahlgren. The police found the girl in one of the many hiding places of Ninth street and
