Love Blindness.

She said I had defective sight
Upon that summer day;
I could not see her hat was white
Or that her gown was gray.

Think! Gray and white, for lover's eyes—
Why, everything I viewed
Was blushing like the morning skies—
All, all was roseate hued!

Spring in all its glory is here at last and every one seems bent on spending just as much time in the country as possible. Life at the clubs seems to have blossomed out like the trees and a delightful informality is in the very atmosphere. It is a most alluring time with the fields of wild flowers that one finds just outside the city limits and is suggestive of freshness, warmth and a wholesome newness. So it is that society welcomes the jolly hand that slaps the winter formality in chaos and gives spring its inning. The past week socially has been far from dull. The most memorable events were the wedding of Miss Marion Hughes and Mr. George Redick, the buffet luncheon given by Mrs. Harry Burkley on Tuesday and Wednesday and the debutante luncheon given by Mrs. Harry P. Whitmore for Miss Frances Wessels. The arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Jenness and Miss Jenness of Detroit, Mich., to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Yost brought forth dinners, luncheons and theater invitations which will be continued this week. The arrival of Mrs. Jacobs Friday to be the guest of Colonel and Mrs. S. S Curtis for a week will greatly aid in keeping things lively, and then, the clubs with all of their attractions make a dull time impossible.

The Country club was not crowded Saturday evening either at the dinner or the dance that followed. In honor of Captain and Mrs. Leonard Wildman, Mr. A. B. Warren entertained the following at dinner: Captain and Mrs. Wildman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart of Council Bluffs, Miss Daisy Doane, Miss Belle Dewey and Captain Doane.

Smaller dinners were given by Mr. Harry Tukey, Mr. A. McClure, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Guiou and Mr. Hosford.

CHANGE IN LAW OF DESCENT

Provisions of Measure Passed by the Late Nebraska Legislature.

Probably no measure passed by the last legislature is of more interest to the women of Nebraska than the decedent bill, or the woman's property rights bill as it was more generally called. The bill was passed at the instance of the club women, but owing to some amendments in the legislature the provisions of the new law are not generally understood and the following summary has been prepared by D. L. Johnson of Omaha, who drafted the bill, for the benefit of the many women who have made inquiry:

The main purpose of the bill was to give the surviving husband or wife a fee interest in the real estate of the other instead of a life estate as under the old law. Section 1 of Senate File 73, which passed both houses of the legislature and was signed by the governor, provides as follows:

(Descent where husband or wife survive) When any person shall die, leaving a husband or wife surviving, all the real estate of which the deceased was seized of an estate of inheritance at any time during the marriage, or in which the deceased was possessed of an interest either legal or equitable at the time of his or her death, which has not been lawfully conveyed, by the husband and wife while residents of this state, or by the deceased while the husband or wife was a non-resident of this state, which has not been sold under execution or judicial sale, and which has not been lawfully devised, shall descend subject to his or her debts and the rights of homestead, in the manner following:

First. One-fourth part to the husband or wife if the survivor is not the parent of all the children of the deceased and there be one or more children, or the issue of one or more deceased children, surviving.

Second. One-third part to the husband or wife if the survivor is the parent of all the children of the deceased and there be two or more children, or one child and the issue of one or more deceased children, surviving.

Third. One-half to the husband or wife if the survivor is the parent of all the children of the deceased and there be only one child, or the issue of a deceased child, surviving.

Fourth. One-half to the husband or wife if there be no child, nor the issue of any deceased child nor children, surviving.

Fifth. If the deceased leave relatives of his or her blood, the residue of the real estate of which he or she shall die seized, in the cases above named, when not lawfully devised, shall descend subject to the rights of homestead, in the same manner and to the same persons as hereinafter provided for the descent of real estate of deceased persons leaving no husband or wife surviving; and in the event the deceased leave no relatives of his or her blood, the residue of the real estate herein provided for, shall also descend to the surviving husband or wife.

Section 2. Provides for the descent of the real estate where no husband or wife survive and the same is not necessary for the payment of debts and has not been lawfully devised. The provisions of this section are the same as the present law, except that where there is no issue the estate descends to the father and mother equally, or to the survivor of them, and not to the father first and mother afterwards, as under the present law.

Section 3. Provides for the distribution of the personal property and is practically the same as the present law, except that the residue of the personal property after the alluwances and debts have been paid, shall be distributed in the same proportions and to the same persons as take the real estate.

Section 4. Abolishes dower and curtesy.

By section 5 it is provided how a married man or woman may bar his or her interest in the real estate of the other, and is as follows:

(Right to inherit; how barred.) The right of a married man or woman to inherit a part or all of the real estate of which his or her spouse was seized of an estate of inheritance at any time during the marriage, may be barred by a conveyance executed by such husband and wife while residents of this state, and, if either such husband or wife be not a resident of this state, by a deed of conveyance executed either by both of said parties or by the one seized at the time of such conveyance; and such right to inherit may also be barred by the sale of such real estate under execution or other judicial sale during the lifetime of the owner of the title.

Section 6. Provides for ante-nuptial contracts and is practically the same as the present law.

By section 7 the surviving husband or wife is given an election to take under the last will and testament of the deceased, or to take by inheritance, descent and distribution, the interest in the estate the same as if there had been no will.

Section 8. Provides for the time and the manner of making such election, which shall be within one year after the issuance of letters testamentary, and shall be in writing and filed in the office of the county court.

MOROCCAN TRADE IN DEMAND

Germans Said to Violate Algeciras Act in Effort to Secure Contract.

TANGIER, May 11.—(Special.)—Sid Mohammed el Torres has contracted for the drainage works and the construction of a boulevard with the firm of Renschenhaus, whose estimate amounts to $225,000. The diplomatic body had adopted the view that these works could only be undertaken by adjudication. This also is believed to be most clearly indicated in the text of the Algeciras act. In the French-German agreement of September, 1905, it was provided that the contracts given to French and German firms should be of equal value. The increase in the estimate of the Lariche works destroys the balance to the advantage of Germany to the extent of nearly 50 per cent.

It is persistently rumored that the German contractors intend to negotiate directly with the maghzen for the construction at Tangier of a large breakwater, which would be contrary to the Algeciras act. The attitude of Dr. Rosen has caused astonishment and regret is expressed that the Algeciras act has been put in question by German pretensions.

GRAND MEMORIAL TO SUSAN B. ANTHONY

Omaha Club Also Scene of Much Festivity—Visitors, Brides and Debutantes Feted and Dined.

The Susan B. Anthony memorial fund of $60,000 has been completely subscribed. The money is to be used for the promotion of the cause of woman suffrage, to which Miss Anthony gave her life. The movement was started a year ago last February, when the National Suffrage association met in Washington, D. C. At that time it was stated by officers of the association that if $12,000 annually for five years could be placed at their disposal over and above the present income, more could be accomplished for woman suffrage than has been gained in the last twenty years. The establishment of this fund was later determined upon as a memorial to Miss Anthony, Miss Mary Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college, and Miss Garrett being among the most active in raising it.

All subscriptions to the fund were made contingent to the raising of the whole amount, $60,000, on or before May 1, 1907, and with the exception of the subscriptions of members of the committee and two other persons, the entire fund was subscribed during the first two months. The work of the national vigilance committee, organized a few months ago to break up the white slave traffic in this country, is already beginning to be felt, although the organization is still imperfect. Working together in this committee are men and women of national prominence in philanthropic and Christian work. Among them are Miss Grace Dodge of New York, president of the Young Women's Christian Association of the United States; Cardinal Gibbons, Bishop W. N. McVickar of Providence, R. I., Rev. Anna Garlin Spencer and many others equally well known. Details concerning the methods of work to be conducted by the committee will not be made public, but the public is assured that they will be carried out intelligently and energetically as the personnel of the committee suggests. It may be said in general, however, that the endeavor will be to search out the sources of the traffic and ascertain facts, with the hope that when the data is in hand an effective remedy may be found. On the other hand, the work will be largely preventive. The committee has announced the following line of work:

1. To break up the international white slave traffic by attacking its sources.
2. To act as an auxiliary to the United States government, and as an ally to similar associations in foreign countries, thus completing the organization of the civilized world.
3. To stimulate the formation of associations in all our cities to warn and protect girls and women, and to improve local conditions.
4. To co-operate with all associations whose work is in harmony with ours, and constitute for them a center of information, suggestion and assistance.
5. To investigate instances of wrongdoing to girls and women, to care for them and to see that the offenders are punished.

Mrs. Peattie at Oskaloosa.

Among the much anticipated numbers on the program of the Iowa Federation biennial to be held at Oskaloosa this week, will be a talk on "Club Study," by Mrs. Ella W. Peattie, former president of the Omaha Woman's club. Since leaving Omaha Mrs. Peattie has been on the staff of the Chicago Tribune and has also completed several books, chiefly of short stories that have appeared from time to time in various magazines. Mrs. Peattie is an enthusiastic club woman, being a member of the Fortnightly club of Chicago, the Lyceum of London, the Chicago Woman's club and an honorary member of the Omaha Woman's club.

The decision of Mrs. Emma F. Byers to decline the offer of the St. Louis Young Women's Christian association and retain the general secretaryship of the local association is heartily appreciated by all familiar with Mrs. Byers work among the young women of Omaha.

The Mothers' Circle of Lathrop school will meet in the kindergarten room of the school Tuesday afternoon, May 14, at 3 o'clock. Superintendent Davidson will address the women and an invitation has been extended to all mothers interested in the 1611 Howard Street.

Is a thoroughly American Cafe, with a dainty Japanese name pronounced Keeko San—a—as in father and means "Little Chrysanthemum."

It is the home of the exquisite, where tea and coffee of the best brands are properly brewed; where sandwiches, salads, pastries and cakes are specially prepared—all food being home cooked. It is not only a quiet retreat for the matinee patron; a rest room for the weary shopper, but a refuge for the busy business people who want their noon day luncheon as near like "Home" as it can be made. Everything is done under Mrs. Van Brunt's personal supervision—and she's just as anxious as you are that it shall be "just right."
