

The instinct and habit of 4600 years have proved wheat the one absolutely necessary food for man.

Latter day science has proved the soda cracker to be the most nutritious of all wheat foods.

Modern skill has given to the world Uneeda Biscuit, the only perfect soda cracker.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

BRIEF CITY NEWS.

New Store—New goods. Clothing for men and women, hats, shoes, furniture, carpets, draperies, stoves, cash or credit. Union Outfitting Co., 1212-13 Farnam.

Application in Bankruptcy—Ruben H. Kuntz, a painter and paper hanger of Omaha, has filed his voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court. He schedules his liabilities at $2,978.85 and his assets at $90.

A. F. Smith Company on Tour—In addition to the many firms participating in the "Great Northwest" trade extension excursion to the Puget Sound states space on the excursion train has been reserved for a representative of the A. F. Smith company, which was not given in the list recently published.

Mrs. Garloch Sells Realty—Mrs. Edith A. Garloch has sold the large lot and small cottages at the southeast corner of Thirty-third and Seward streets to Anthony Wilkinson for $12,000. The lot was bought some time ago from the D. V. Sholes company and was improved by the construction of several frame houses as an investment.

Boy Bitten by Dog—A little son of Henry Rohlf of Leavenworth street was bitten by a dog Friday afternoon and has been confined to his bed by nervous shock since. On the advice of a physician the dog was sent to the Pasteur institute in Chicago and until a report is received from that institution no action will be taken looking toward sending the boy for treatment.

Licenses for Cows—Owners of cows who have a habit of making noisy pay her way may receive a call from the inspector with a request for a license. Complaints have been received at the office of the inspector that many such owners are selling milk without first securing a license, which is $1 a month for each cow, when sales are made on the premises or milk delivered without using a team.

Child Treatment Alleged—Mrs. Marie Koneasek, in a petition for divorce from Joseph Koneasek, declares he drove her out of Bohemia by his cruel treatment and forced her to take refuge with her children in southern Omaha. They lived in Leado, Bohemia, but she says he got drunk practically every day and beat her. Once she says he knocked several of her teeth out. Then she packed up and came to her children in America.

Raise for Burlington Clerks—A persistent rumor is floating around the Burlington headquarters that office clerks are to be given a raise of 10 per cent in their salaries when they get their pay checks June 1. While nothing definite is given out, it is the general understanding this will be done. The Union Pacific made a similar raise some time ago in several of its departments and it is understood that Mr. Hill is going to follow suit with his men.

Suits Against Street Cars—Lee P. Douglas and Amy Douglas, husband and wife, have begun suits in district court against the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company aggregating $11,000. They were injured while alighting from a car near Sixteenth and Cass August 21, 1906. In their petitions they charge the motorman started the car while they were alighting and threw them to the pavement. Mr. Douglas demands $5,000 for her injuries and her husband asks $5,000.

Day of the Closing of Schools—The days of vacation in the schools are at hand. The high school and grade schools will close June 14. The Creighton institutions will close on the following dates: College, June 10; law school, May 29; dental school, May 30; School of Pharmacy, August 12. The Medical college closed May 14. Brownell hall will close June 4. The Omaha Medical college closed last week. The Presbyterian Theological seminary ended its year three weeks ago. The commercial colleges run right through the summer, stopping only for a two weeks' vacation in August.

Federal of Rowland Williams—The funeral of Rowland Williams, member of the saloon firm of Lentz & Williams, who died Friday evening after a protracted illness at the Omaha Pacific hospital, was held at a 6 o'clock Monday morning, interment being at Forest Lawn cemetery. The fraternal Order of Eagles, of which he had been a member, had charge of the obsequies, and after the ritual service of the lodge Rev. T. J. Mackay of All Saints' church led in the service. The pallbearers were: Fred Busch, Walter Brandes, Jeremiah McMahon, Robert Haaker, Frank Fiza and William Gerke, all members of the lodge.

New Fire Engine House—Bids are now being received for the construction of a fire engine house at Twenty-fifth and Leado streets from plans on file in the office of the chief of the fire department. The plans for the proposed building are somewhat similar to those of the house at Twenty-fourth and Cuming streets and show a complete two-company house, with a number of the latest devices in labor-saving methods. The building is to be of brick and stone, two stories and basement, fitted with living quarters for the men on the second floor, where a gymnasium will also be maintained.

Boys Too Free with Tongues—Walter Distrow, Arthur Green, Ed O'Connor, Ed Swellman, George Douglas, John Cameron, all boys, were arrested Saturday evening by Patrolman E. H. Smith and locked up charged with disorderly conduct and loitering on the street corners. For some time residents in the neighborhood of Twentieth and Grace streets have repeatedly complained to the police of a gang of young men and boys who have persisted in gathering at that corner and making obscene and insulting remarks at passersby. Officer Smith was instructed to break up the gang and keep the corner clear. Smith's efforts, however, were not lasting, the boys returning the moment he departed from sight, so that he decided to catch as many as possible and lock them up, with the result of Saturday night. The boys were all dismissed by Judge Crawford with severe warnings.

KE HASCALL IS MARRIED

Omaha at Seventy-Six Weds Sweet-Heart of His Youth at Buffalo.

Judge Isaac H. Hascall of Omaha was married Monday in Buffalo, N. Y., to the sweetheart whom he knew and loved more than fifty years ago. Judge Hascall is in his seventy-seventh year and his bride is 28. Her maiden name was Miss Portia Hawkins. She was married, but her husband is dead. Back in the '30s Judge Hascall used often to call at the Hawkins home to discuss Shakespeare with the father of Miss Portia. There he saw and fell in love with her.

But Isaac Hascall went away to the west. He carried the first law library to the Pacific coast and he made a name for himself in the early days as a lawyer and a pioneer and fighter. After many adventures he reached Omaha in 1865 and has resided here since that time.

Judge Hascall made and lost several fortunes in real estate here. He took a leading part for a time in politics and was elected a "boss" in city affairs for a number of years. He was known as a man who accomplished things.

In later years, after a separation from his wife, he has lived more the life of a recluse, occupying at one time a house standing east of Riverview park. There, surrounded by his books, he has lived the simple life of a philosopher for a number of years.

Into the loneliness of his old age came a sunbeam which had lingered from the friendships of his youth. A few months ago came a letter from her who had been Miss Portia Hawkins. It was answered immediately and the correspondence was kept up. Then photographs were exchanged. Portia Hawkins had grown older, but she still retained the beauty of her youth.

Judge Hascall had been an original man in thinking all his life. What mattered it that he was six years past the three score years and ten. Love was at the door and he hastened to let him in. His proposal was accepted. He went east a week ago and the wedding has just been announced.

"We don't know whether they will live in Omaha or not," said R. F. Williams, Judge Hascall's son-in-law. "He has kept the matter of his wedding very quiet. We think, though, that they will make this their home."

HUNTLEY PROJECT A WINNER

New Opening of Irrigated Land by Government Promises Great Results.

D. Clem Deaver, general agent of the Burlington's land seekers' information bureau, has returned from the Big Horn Basin country, where he took a large party of land seekers last Tuesday. His party consisted of thirty-five land seekers and all were left in that country very well satisfied with the outlook, according to Mr. Deaver. Besides the personally conducted party, there were three coaches loaded with land seekers who were taking advantage of the low rates.

"That Huntley irrigation project is going to be a winner," said Mr. Deaver, who drove all over the land while on the last trip. "Starting at Valentine, one of the stations of the Burlington, a person can see the entire project and it is a marvel. The government selected the best part of the land and held it out to put into this scheme and the lucky man will have a prize."

"A man who is able to rent land in either Nebraska or Iowa has sufficient resources to handle one of these claims on the Huntley project and he will be fixed for life if he is lucky enough to draw one of the forty or eighty-acre tracts."

NOT MONEY, BUT RELIGION

Husband Objects to Wife's Worship and She to His Alleged Parsimony.

Mrs. Henrietta Fox in a cross-petition, filed in district court in the divorce suit brought against her by Christopher Fox, contends it was not her religion, but lack of money that was the principal cause of their domestic unhappiness. Mr. Fox in his bill filed a couple of weeks ago said his wife was cruel to him and being a Seventh Day Adventist, insisted on cleaning house every Sunday and refused to get the usual meals Saturday.

Mrs. Fox denies all this except that she is a member of the church. She says her husband insisted she ought to be able to pay the expenses of the family with $4 a month and because of his refusal to provide her more than this she says she was forced to do menial labor for means to pay the household expenses. During the last eight years she says she has bought only one dress for her. She says he is earning over $20 a month, but that he spends it elsewhere than with his family. She asks for a divorce and although pending the trial of the case.

NOT A BRASS BAND AFFAIR

Commercial Invasion of Northwest Pacific Trip Not to Be Tinkling Symbol.

QUARTET WILL SUPPLY THE MUSIC

Commissioner Guild is Receiving Letters Daily Telling of Plans to Entertain the Nebraska Trade Evangelists.

Instead of taking a brass band on the trade extension excursion to the northwest states it has been decided to engage a quartet, consisting of J. R. Gerke, W. S. Bigdon, Dr. Claude P. Lewis and Charles S. Haverstock, who will appear at the many receptions to be tendered to the Omaha "boosters." Conservative members of several of the Omaha firms which will participate in the excursion did not favor the idea of taking a brass band, which, it was believed, would detract from the real character of the excursion. The object of the excursion is not to "drum up" trade, but to become acquainted with the representative business men of the great northwestern country and establish closer commercial relations if possible.

The quartet, which contains some of the best musical talent of Omaha, will be used at the receptions, luncheons and other social functions on the excursion and will form an important adjunct to the excursion.

Twenty-five thousand post cards have been prepared by the advertising committee of the Commercial club for use in connection with the trade excursion. The cards bear the picture of the excursion train and will be sent in unlimited quantities by the participating wholesale firms to their customers along the route of the excursion. The principal object of the excursion is printed on the post cards, which is: "Out to meet old friends and to make new ones."

Plans for Entertainment.

John M. Guild, commissioner of the Commercial club, is beginning to receive notices of the plans for the entertainment of the Omaha excursionists at the different cities to be reached. A letter has been received from Mayor Joseph Corby of Butte, who extended a most cordial invitation to the Omaha excursionists on behalf of the Butte Business Men's association and the members of the city council. It is planned to give the Omaha visitors a view of the city over the street car lines, to be followed with a luncheon at the famous Columbia gardens and a reception with the business men of the city in the afternoon.

An informal dinner will be tendered to Omaha "boosters" at Spokane by the Spokane Chamber of Commerce and requests for several addresses by prominent Omahans have been made.

The Seattle Commercial club has notified Commissioner Guild that it is perfecting arrangements for elaborate entertainment of the Omaha excursionists, and the Caldwell Business Men's association of Caldwell, Idaho, have requested more time in the early days as a lawyer and a pioneer and fighter. After many adventures he reached Omaha in 1865 and has resided here since that time.

A committee of citizens of Columbus, Mont., has planned to meet the excursion train at Billings and accompany it to Columbia in order to have more time for becoming acquainted with the Omaha boosters, and the members of the Chamber of Commerce at Sheridan, Wyo., will devote an entire evening to the entertainment of the excursionists.

STREET PAVERS START WORK

Asphalt Laying Begins on Harvey and Howard Streets Early Monday Mornings.

Pavers started work on Harvey and Howard streets Monday. Hugh Murphy, who has the contract for repaving Fourth street from Twentieth to Twenty-fourth, has considerable work in the way of re-adjusting curbs before he can start to lay asphalt, with which the street is to be paved.

The city repair plant started at Tenth and Howard streets and as fast as possible will fill holes on Howard street to Sixteenth.

There is a large amount of paving work to be done this year, but contractors are, as usual, slow in getting started in the spring. After the wheat harvest a number of men employed on farms will be idle and may be available for the work, and the program of fast work after the Fourth of July probably will be followed this year.

PAT CROWE IS NOT PRESENT

Notorious Character Fails to Appear and Police Are Glad of It.

Pat Crowe, who was arrested by Sergeant Samuelson and Detective Donohoe Saturday on a charge of vagrancy, failed to show up when his name was called in police court Monday morning and a glance over the court room showed that he was not among those present. He had been released on bail provided by his brother, John, but should have returned for trial Monday. Far from being displeased at his failure to keep the appointment, the police appeared to take pleasure at the prospect of not seeing him around, and one officer was heard to remark:

"Well, I hope he never does come back."

URE WANTS NONE OF MEXICO

Thinks He Can Afford to Worry Along in Nebraska for a While Longer.

"Mexico is all right for Mexicans, but Americans, as a rule, do not like it down there. I would advise morning and evening at home. He will make just as much out of it. We can produce just as much here in Nebraska per acre as they can down there."

This is the estimate placed on the republic to the south by Commissioner W. G. Urey, who with Carl E. Horning and W. E. Grattan, spent three weeks mainly in the state of Vera Cruz and the City of Mexico. Mr. Urey is interested in some plantation property in Vera Cruz and combined business and pleasure on the trip.

"Mexico City has a very inconvenient climate this time of the year," he said. "It is so cold in the morning you have to put on heavy clothing. By 10 o'clock it is so warm you have to change to lighter garments."

"Between 1 and 2 o'clock it begins raining and turns cold again, so you have to go back to the heavy clothing, which you need until the next morning. In the state of Vera Cruz the climate is very hot and there is very little food an American can eat."

"The Mexicans will work when they need it, but they don't need to work much. They are progressive, and outside the cities there are raising everything over the trails on muleback. They are using the same kinds of plows their forefathers used. In the highlands crops are grown by irrigation and in some places they have built up very fine irrigation works with ditches of cement. At one place was a native irrigating well land by means of an old-fashioned well sweep with one bucket attached. He could attend to about a quarter of an acre. Another one had buckets attached to a belt."

"One of the magnificent things we saw on the trip was an altar of solid silver in a cathedral at Guadalupe. In its construction twenty-seven tons of silver were used. Before it natives, barefooted, half naked and half starved, were worshipping. "It is an interesting country to visit, but I do not care to live there any length of time."

JAMESTOWN NEEDS MONEY

Exposition Buildings Incomplete and Enterprise Suffering for Lack of Means.

"There won't be any exposition for at least two months," said Dr. E. Holmcher, first of the Woodmen of the World officers to return from Jamestown, where the national meeting of the order was held. "I think it is only due the general public to say that the buildings are incomplete and cannot be in shape for much entertainment for two months. Everything is in a state of process just now."

"The trouble is a lack of money. The means have been exhausted and the exposition company is seriously considering the advisability of trying to float $50,000 worth of bonds. I don't know whether that could be done or not. Everyone seems discouraged."

"No crowds have been drawn there as yet except on the day when the feet of fifty-two vessels assembled and was reviewed by so many notables of the various powers. But the exposition has not yet drawn any considerable number of people outside of the conventioners."

"I really believe the people have just awakened to a realization of the importance of this great exposition, to its location and meaning. When the buildings finally are completed they will be striking in beauty, situated as they are on the ocean's edge. If they are maintained permanently, as is the present custom, they will be a great asset to the city."

"The Woodmen had a good convention. Yes, we raised money, but we did not know definitely just how much to raise at all, deeming it better to leave that to future developments."

ADDITION TO ST. JOSEPH'S

Another Wing Will Be Built if Hospital Can Secure Ground.

MAKES OFFER TO STREET CAR COMPANY

Authorities Ask for Lots on Tenth and Dorcas and Directors Will Decide the Matter on Tuesday.

Negotiations are pending between officials at St. Joseph's hospital and the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company for the sale of a part of the lot at the southeast corner of Tenth and Dorcas streets to the hospital. The matter will be taken up at a meeting Tuesday of the board of directors of the street railway company and it is deemed probable the tract will be sold to the hospital.

The lot in question has a frontage of 302 feet on Tenth street, extending 88 feet to Eighth street, and the hospital desires to acquire the south 112 feet, which adjoins the grounds of the hospital on the north. The entire tract of land is known as the Goodman property and a large brick house, which was formerly the Goodman home, is situated on the tract wanted by the hospital.

An attempt was made by the hospital authorities to buy the entire tract when the street railway was negotiating for it, but the railway company needs only 150 feet of the land for its new car barn and probably will accede to the desires of the hospital for the remainder of the lot.

New Wing of Hospital.

If the tract is secured it is planned to erect an additional wing to the present hospital four stories in height and half as long as the present main hospital building. The hospital now owns the large tract with a frontage of 764 1/2 feet on Tenth street, which extends to Eighth street.

The purpose of the hospital officials in attempting to buy the lot from the street railway company is to be as far removed as possible from the new car barn with its incident noise and confusion, which might prove harmful to the patients.

If the south 112 feet of the Dorcas street lot is secured by the hospital, together with the brick residence, the establishment of a consumptive ward in the house is contemplated. The facilities for caring for consumptives at the hospital are now inadequate and not as sanitary as are desired and the acquisition of the Goodman residence would provide for a consumptive ward where the patients could be segregated from the other patients in the hospital.

It is believed that the maintenance of a large car barn for the housing of the Dodge, Harney and Farnam street cars would be inimical to the hospital unless the barn is removed far enough, which fact could be accomplished by buying the south part of the large lot recently acquired by the street railway company.

EQUITY AND CIVIL DOCKETS

Session of Federal Court Held by Judge W. H. Munger at Local Federal Building.

Judge W. H. Munger presided at the call of the equity and civil dockets in the United States district court Monday morning to dispose of cases set for hearing on that date.

Arguments were made in the case of John A. Sparks against the county of Gage in the matter of $12,000 claims for bridges built by the plaintiff in the county and which are contested by the defendants. Judge Alfred Hallett appears for the plaintiff and County Attorney Henry for the county of Gage. The defense argued as some length for a more definite amended petition in order that it may have specific particulars as to the materials and locations of the bridges and repairs to bridges mentioned in the original petition. Mr. Hallett maintained that the petition was sufficiently explicit. Judge Munger has taken the case under advisement.

A motion was also argued in the case of the Bessemer Washed Coal company against the C. W. Hull company of Omaha to require the answer of the defendants to be made under advisement by the court.

The ladies of Kunitze Memorial church will serve you with ice cream in the "Streets of Paris" afternoon and evening. Auditorium. Admission 10 cents.

NEW BIDS FOR Y. W. C. A. HOME

Revised Proposals Necessary Because First Were in Excess of Funds Available.

New plans for the construction of the new building for the Young Men's Christian association on the site at Seventeenth street and St. Mary's avenue were submitted Monday to contractors for bids. Bids were taken some time ago for the building, but the bids received were greatly in excess of the funds at the disposal of the building committee, which necessitated minor changes in the plans. Some few changes with regard to the interior construction of the new building have been made by Thomas R. Kimball, architect, and the modified plans submitted for further bids. It is believed the changes made in the plans will enable contractors to build the structure within the original estimated cost of the building.
