LOOKS LIKE A GOOD CATCH

Man Arrested Who is Thought to Be an Expert Hotel Check Worker.

FITS DESCRIPTION OF WASHINGTON MAN

Insists He is a Government Building Inspector and Expresses Willingness to Go Back to Washington with Officers.

In the person of H. C. Davis, who registered at the Grand hotel, D. C., and who has been at the Grand hotel since May 15, the police, who placed him under arrest yesterday afternoon, are satisfied they have a much-wanted hotel check worker who has passed under the different aliases of Frank J. Harding, H. H. Harding and J. H. Hart. The arrest of Davis yesterday afternoon, it is believed, saved the management of the Grand hotel from being victimized, as Davis had made all arrangements to cash a check before leaving the city, which he said he intended doing last evening.

Yesterday morning Major Richmond, chief of police, received from Major Richard Sylvester, chief of police of Washington, D. C., a circular giving a picture and description of the man who had passed under the aliases of Harding and Hart and who was wanted in Washington for forgery and obtaining money under false pretenses through passing worthless checks. The picture and description contained in the circular fitted Mr. Davis at the Grand hotel in every particular and he was placed under arrest and taken to police headquarters.

At police headquarters on being searched Davis was found to be wearing a handsome Maltese cross, the insignia of the Knights Templar, and other articles, all of which were described in the circular received from Washington. His height and personal appearance corresponded exactly with the Bertillon measurements and description contained in the Washington circular.

Davis, alias Harding, is said to have passed worthless checks at Oklahoma City May 6 and at Fort Collins, Colo., on May 11. The checks for which he is wanted in Washington were passed March 20. Davis, who, according to the Washington circular, has been in the habit of passing himself off as a mining expert or engineer, told those with whom he became acquainted at the Grand hotel that he was a government building inspector. When told by Chief Richmond that he was under arrest Davis asked that he be not taken to the city jail, but that a man be detailed to stay with him at the hotel until the authorities at Washington were heard from. Major Richmond told him he had not a man to spare. At police headquarters Davis said he was willing to go back to Washington, which he said was his home, but beyond this he was noncommittal.

Failed to Work Bank.
A few days ago Davis, as he called himself, appeared at the Commercial National bank, where he produced a bank book showing ostensibly that he had $2,000 on deposit in a bank in Georgia. He wanted the bank to cash a draft for $200 on the bank, placed $100 of the amount in his credit and give him $100 in cash. He stated that he might need the money, as he expected to be in Council Bluffs for a week or two. Cashier Price declined to accommodate him, as he was not acquainted with him.

When taken into custody Davis had but $4 in cash. Indications were that he intended to work off a check on the Grand hotel and leave for other parts. Yesterday morning he was taken to the hotel where he would be leaving in the evening for Creston, Ia., and mentioned that he might have to cash a check to settle his bill. As at the time he settled his first account at the hotel Davis had flashed a goodly sized roll of bills and appeared to be what he claimed, namely, a government official. Mr. Park assured him it was all right and he would be accommodated. Davis' arrest prevented, however, his settling his bill with a check.

Chief Richmond on looking over the files of the Detective discovered Harding's picture and notice of the fact that he had been arrested two years ago in Indianapolis for working off worthless checks on hotels. The picture in the Detective showed that the man had changed nothing in appearance during the last two years.

Chief Richmond received a telegram last night from Major Sylvester, chief of police, Washington, D. C., in which he notified him of Davis' arrest, stating that he would send a man at once for the prisoner.

A recent issue of the Hotel World contains a description of Harding, alias Hart, and an account of the manner he victimized hotels in Oklahoma City and Colorado.

INSURANCE MEN ARE FOR JONES
Sign Paper Which Contradicts Statements of Commission.

Members Sargent and Zurmuehlen of the Fire and Police commission have lost no opportunity to explain that the reason they desired to place Charles F. Jones at the head of the fire department in place of Chief Jones or some present member of the department was because a majority of the insurance agents of the city had persistently requested them to do so. Following the meeting of the commission Monday night both Mr. Zurmuehlen and Mr. Sargent announced their decision of voting again for Nicholson when the proper time arrived.

Yesterday the following petition by the insurance agents whose names appear thereto was presented to Hubert Tinley, chairman of the Fire and Police commission:

We, the undersigned insurance agents of the city of Council Bluffs, Ia., hereby request that you retain H. W. Jones as chief of the fire department and we do further say that we consider him competent to fill said office and that his work as such has been satisfactory to us. The companies we represent and we believe it would be bad policy on your part to make any change in the said office at the present time.

F. P. Everett, J. A. Gorham, N. P. Dodge & Co., Wallace Benjamin, D. W. Otis, Alvin Smith Company, O. P. Richards, E. H. Ohlendorf, F. J. Schorr, William Arnd, L. C. Walker, L. T. Albert, Benjamin Fisher Real Estate Company, P. O. Conroy, Charles F. Paschal, Forest Smith, E. K. Cory, Charles T. O'Brien, Albert Tipton. Chairman Tinley stated yesterday that the commission had decided that it had no jurisdiction over matters contained in the charges which transpired previous to the creation of the commission. He said: "Senator Saunders made it clear to us that we had no jurisdiction over anything that transpired previous to our appointment. We are going over those charges one by one, sifting out the evidence which is proper for us to consider and, then carefully weighing it." According to Mr. Tinley the Union Transfer building fire and attendant charges are not figuring in the final determination by the commission in "Fire Chief Jones' case."

commission had the right to take cognizance of any and all matters which had transpired prior to the creation of the commission. Not only that, but he insisted that the commission had a perfect right to take into consideration such knowledge as it might have on these matters, gained outside of the evidence introduced at the hearing. In substantiation of his claim, Mr. Zurmuehlen said: "If a man was found to have been suffering from smallpox a day before the city physician having such matters in charge was appointed, would a person say that the city physician had no right to take action in such a case of smallpox because he did not happen to be the city health officer at the time the man broke out with the disease."

Matters in District Court.
The district court jury in the libel suit of Miss Nellie Buckley, a former teacher in one of the rural schools in Norwalk township, against F. T. C. Johnson, a wealthy farmer and secretary of the school board of that township, brought in a verdict last night, finding for the plaintiff in the sum of $2,500. Miss Buckley sued for $5,000. The suit arose over an article written by the defendant as secretary of the school board for a newspaper published at Bentley, Ia.

The $2,500 personal injury damage suit of L. P. Nichols against the Milwaukee railway company, assigned for trial yesterday, was transferred to the United States court as against the railroad. It was dismissed as to H. A. Clark, the engineer who has been made party defendant. Nichols was struck by a train on the evening of January 8, 1906, on a crossing of the Milwaukee railroad in Garner township.

The case of the state of Iowa against the Illinois Central railway, charged with obstructing a public highway near Loveland, has been specially assigned by Judge Falseler for trial Monday.

Mark P. Stageman and C. L. Prouty began suit in the district court to restrain the Rock Island railway company from proceeding further with the alterations to its bridge over a public highway in Garner township. It is contended by the plaintiffs that the bridge is not only too high to permit the passage of a loaded wagon under it and that the present plans of the railroad are to lower it more than a foot.
