WORK OF THE CLUB WOMEN

Woman's Suffrage Bobs Up Again in Clubbed with Surprising Result.

LOUISIANA FEDERATION BARS ERA CLUB

The New Orleans Association, Strongly Opposed Woman's Club of South, Excluded from State Federation as Political Organization.

The announcement that the Era club of New Orleans, an association of several hundred progressive women and the largest and foremost woman's club of the south, has been excluded from the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs on the ground that it is a political organization has caused the whole of Louisiana to read its eyes and catch its breath.

Paris is not here, both in the close-fitting tailored style and in looser redemptive effects, but the craze is still popular with Parisians, and some smart trotting suits lately launched have caraco coats in peau de suède matching a plain cloth skirt or skirt of check or stripes.

LOWA'S PROGRAM COMMITTEE

One of the strong departments of the Iowa Federation is its club program committee. Especial stress has been laid upon the single subject of such work that most of the clubs adhere to this plan.

POINTERS ON SUMMER COATS

Enveloping Capes or Burnous Cloaks of Chiffon Cloth for Carriage Wear.

With frocks of sheer voile, marquisette, silk mousseline, etc., intended for visiting, carriage wear, etc., French makers are making enveloping capes or burnous cloaks in the thinnest of chiffon cloth and in exactly the shades of the frocks.

Paris correspondents write that khaki color is the favorite color of the moment, coats being made in khaki colored cloth or silk or in beige check or stripes, with khaki collars and cuffs.

SOME STOMACHS

Are hurt by Coffee.

POSTUM

Can be assimilated by the weakest stomach.

Fuchsia drapery of one form and another is much used, the sheer soft stuffs in vogue lending themselves readily to such treatment, and the fuchsia folds carrying out admirably the long drooping shouder effect so insistently repeated.

Women may there be nothing to equal Kirk's Zap Rose transparent soap for washing the hair. All druggists and grocers sell it.

WHEN COOKS FAIL and SERVANTS FAIL

When cooks fail you and servants fail you and domestic problems come thick and fast there is Shredded Wheat to lean upon in every emergency. Ready-cooked, ready-to-serve, it is delicious for breakfast or for any meal in combination with baked apple, strawberries or other fresh fruits.

Contains more nutriment than meat or eggs and is more easily digested. For breakfast heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness, pour hot or cold milk over it, add a little cream and a little salt; or, sweeten to taste. Shredded Wheat is delicious and wholesome for any meal in combination with fresh or preserved fruits. At your grocers.

NEW BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

June Periodicals Present an Interesting Array of Current Literatures.

SERIES OF BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

History, Biography, Science and Travel Written in a Style to be Both Instructive and Attractive.

The Atlantic Monthly is appealing to more and more readers of all classes and interests. The leader in the June number is a thoughtful article on "The Personal Factor in the Labor Problem," by Hayes Robbins—moderate, sensible and practical in tone.

Pictures are a prominent feature of The World Today for June, and they are particularly notable for their excellence and beauty. Six pages are devoted to illustrations of the Jamestown exposition.

edition in England, where it is also being received with enthusiasm.

An article on "Tropil in Barbary," by Charles Wellington Furlong, is one of the many interesting features of Harper's Magazine for June.

John W. Gates said of the great depression in Wall street recently: "The street reminds me of a poker game at 2 a. m., with all the winners gone home."

The June Magazine takes on the hues of summer with a number of illustrations in color. Eugene Wood contributes an appropriate reminiscence called "Commencement."

Readers won't fall asleep over the stories in June Young's. They're of a kind to make them sit up and rub their eyes—pungent, keen tales that tell of vital things with a crisp, lively touch—less ironical, humorous, tragic, but no draggy problem stories or tiresome moralizing.

Alnlee's for June comprises a complete novel, a serial, short stories, essays and poetry, reviews of plays and news of the latest books, surely broad enough in scope to attract all sorts of readers.

All for all! might be the motto adopted by the editors of the Popular Magazine. In the June issue there would seem to be something for everybody.

"Socialism and Philosophy," by Antonio Labriola, has been translated from the Italian by Ernest Untermyer. It is in the form of familiar personal letters to Borel, the socialist who first introduced Labriola's writings to French readers.

"Social and Philosophical Studies," by Paul Lafargue, contains two studies new to American readers. "Causes of Belief in God," and "The Origin of Abstract Ideas," Charles H. Kerr is the translator.

"Ethics and Materialistic Conception of History," by Karl Kautsky, reviews ancient and Christian ethics, the ethics of the Renaissance, the ethic of Kant and the ethic of Darwinism and devotes the larger half of his small volume to a study of the ethics of Marxism.

"Class Struggles in America," by A. M. Simons, is a brief history of the United States in the light of the socialist principle of historical materialism.

That fascinating writer, Myra Kelly, whose first novel, "The Isle of Dreams," has just been published, will hereafter write her short stories for Appleton's Magazine exclusively. She contributes to the June number "Theodora, Gift of God," a delicious account of a child that received a brother, in spite of the fact that she had prayed for a goat.

"The United States of Base Ball" is the odd title of a discussion in the June Century by Charles D. Stewart, author of "Partners of Providence," of the inner workings of the national game in America—its extent, its major and minor leagues, the nationality, and something of the fundamental nature of the game.

On almost the same day that news came from Paris of the death of Ferdinand Brunetiere, the French critic, announcement was made by the H. B. Appleton Company of the publication of his "Honore de Balzac" in their French Men of Letters Series.

This last work to come from the hands of the dead author has probably had a greater reception than that accorded any book of its class within years, the realization that it was the last work of the greatest literary critic of the time increasing the interest always felt in him by Americans.

The J. B. Lippincott company has brought out an
