

PEACE PARLANS

Conferees at The Hague to Follow the Lines of One in 1899.

NO ARRANGEMENTS EXCEPT FOR OPENING

Probability This Session, Which is Purely Formal, Will Be Public.

LITTLE DOING UNTIL COMMITTEES REPORT

Question of Disarmament May Precipitate a Lively Discussion.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR THE VISITORS

Social Functions Will Not Be Permitted to Distract the Delegates from the Work of the Conference.

THE HAGUE, June 2.—The general plan of the proceedings at the second peace conference probably will follow closely the procedure of the first congress, held in 1899.

Practically nothing has been worked out in advance. The arrangements up to the present time simply cover the opening session, when Mr. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador to France, will call the conference to order and make an address extending his sovereign's greetings to the delegates.

It is safe to assume, however, that the former conference will be duplicated. The first thing in order will be the appointment of committees to consider the various subjects inscribed upon the Russian program. These will hardly number more than five.

The opening session, it is expected, will be the most distinguished guests and press representatives, but the sessions of the conference and of the committees will be secret.

The question of giving out a public statement of the progress made will be decided by the conference itself.

Entertainment of Delegates. The government's official entertainment of the delegates will not be lavish, but rather will be in the same good taste as is its attitude with reference to the program.

GREAT EXCURSION ENROUTE

Am'd Din of Rhonts Commercial Invaders Start for Pacific Northwest.

The great northwest trade excursion of Omaha business men is on its way. It left Omaha, "The Market Town," yesterday.

The big block in the Burlington station marked the hour of 2. "All aboard," shouted half a dozen conductors and porters, striving to make themselves heard above the din of the crowd.

The train really acted just as many ordinary trains have acted. A cheer arose from the great crowd; a thousand handkerchiefs and hats were waved.

Big Crowd of Spectators. Though the hour set for departure was unreasonably close to the hour of Sunday dinner, an immense crowd was at the station to see the big excursion off.

The train was the result either of train wreckers or defective steel, though the positive cause had not been determined up to late tonight.

It was while the train was running at a speed of from thirty-five to forty miles per hour that the derailment occurred. Every car in the train was derailed, two of them turning over.

All dead and wounded were in the chair car, this being one of the cars to turn over. Not until dawn did medical aid reach the injured, who bravely bore their suffering.

Judge Fremont Wood has stated that he is determined a jury shall be secured tomorrow if possible. Forty-eight talemans remain of the venire of sixty-one, summoned last week. Only one more preemptory challenge can be exercised and this lies with the defense, the prosecution having exhausted its last preemptory challenge on Friday.
