BOYS RUN AWAY WITH AUTO

Two Youngsters Steal Millard Machine and Do it Heavy

Damage. Stealing the machine from in front of the home of Frank Martin, 632 South Thirtyseventh street, two young men rode about the ciy in Miss Helen Millard's electric runabout Wednesday night and then left it burning at Seventeenth and Clark streets, calling up the Martin home from a saloon and telling what they had done. The police were notified and when the automobile had been found and taken to the Powell garage on Farnam street, it was found to have been damaged to the extent of about $400. Misses Helen and Carrie Millard, nicces of Sepator Millard, with their brother, Ezra Millard, left their home at the Winona apartments in the automobile to attend a party given by Mrs. Frank Martin and Mrs. George Barker at the Martin home, leaving the machine directly in front. Nothing was known of the theft until someone called up 1,900 on the telephone and confessed to having run away with it and left it almost ruined. So far as has been discovered, no one saw the boys to notice them except the 420 saloon keeper near Seventeenth and Clark streets, whose telephone they used. He 250 heard them tell about the automobile and gave the pelice the only description secured. Detectives were put on the case Thursday

> Herbs," by Allen French, is a practical garden. It gives complete directions for growing all vegetables cultivable in the climate of the northern United States. Besides a description of each plant, its habit, value and use, the book contains detailed cultural directions, covering the soil, plant-ing distances, times for sowing, thinning management of diseases and peets. The directions are in accordance with the latest scientific practice. There is much in the in vain in the ordinary handbooks on gardening, while obscure points of culture, often necessary to success with a particular departure in vegetable-garden literature. It does not generalize. Leaving the description of garden processes to the genera handbook, it considers the vegetables not in classes but individually, according to their importance. > McClure's Magazine for June contains nore important and entertaining reading than one could expect to find in three numbers of any magazine. Ellen Terry contributes her charming and fascinating "Memories of My Childhood" that give stories of her wonderful girlhood, and her debut, and pictures of the actors and the English stage of fifty years ago. Samuel Hopkins Adams presents in "Rochester's Pure Milk System," a graphic account of life saving by a municipal supply of plain, pure milk. In his "Remiscences" Carl Schurz bluntly describes the Defeat of it belongs. "By Airship to The North Pole," by the arctic explorer, Walter Wellman tells about his ariship and the dash he will make in it to the north pole this summer. C. P. Connolly reaches an astounding climax in his "Fight of the Copper Kings" when he narrates the terrible un-

The "outdoor" woman will certainly be interested in the June number of Dress. A special article in that number tells her exactly what to wear on any outing occasion. The newest bathing, yachting and tennis suits are shown, as well, of course, as the new golf suit, hat and sweater. There is a Dennis scene by Drian, in which the master has caught both the spirit of the game and the occasion that it affords for the dis of charming frocks by the onlookers. Interest is by no means limited to the sports woman-for every woman wants some guidance in the choice of a summer wardrobe, and the article on that subject, with its many illustrations, tells just what to wear at seashore, mountain, or for traveling, etc. It is a beautiful number, maintaining the high standard and excellence that the preceding issues have established. McCready-Beals company are the publishers. The cover of the Circle Magazine has a circle of happy brides' faces for its decoration. The contents of the magazine consist of an interesting variety of articles, neluding "A Legend of the Roses," by Mrs. A. S. Hardy: "The Rose in the Drama of Human Life," by Mable Osgood Wright. The editorial uplift and inspiration is Princesses of the Unknown Kingdoms," in which the toiling housewife, the overburdened mother, and the circumscribed, workaday girl, is bidden to take some time from the serious cares of life to enjoy the inexpensive luxuries about her. R. S. Keller nan contributes "The Romantic History of Pennsylvania Oil." which goes back to the discovery by the Indians. There are many other articles and stories of interest to the grown-ups as well as the juveniles, which are pleasingly illustrated.

"The American Lawyer-As He Was-As He Is-As He Can Be," by John R. Dos Passos, the well-known lawyer and writer of New York, is the most original and omplete book on the mission, office and functions of the lawyer ever written. It begins with the genealogy of lawyers. It deals with the various duties of a lawyer to the state, the courts and clients; it treats of the origin and development of the profession, the nature of the lawyer's vocation; his education and training, concluding with a most interesting chapter upon the causes and remedies for existing evils. It is a book for the students, in or out of college; it is a treatise for the lawyers, young and old; but what is as important, it is a book written and adapted for the lay community, equally interested in the profession of the lawyer, as the bar itself. Published by the Banks Law Pub-

"Nature Studies on the Farm." by Charles A. Keffer, professor, of horticulture and forestry. University of Tenessee, presents simple lessons in agriculture. Soils and plants, their relations to one another, and the best way of combining them in economic plant production, form the subject of the twenty-six chapters in the volume. Numerous illustrations from photographs add to the attractiveness and helpfulness of the book. Published by the American Book company.

"Poems" is the title of a volume which will form Alfred Noyes' introduction to the American public. Its contents include some of the pieces which have won the highest praise from English critics in the short time that Noyes has been writing. Particularly striking are such things as "The Forty Singing Seamen," a ballad in which he has achieved an effect which no other living English poet, save Kipling, would dare attempt, and "The Highwayman," another ballad, which is close to the highest mark in recent English poetry for vigor and originality. Mr. Noyes is an Oxford man, and is 26 years old. He has had two or three volumes of poems published in England, and his epic poem, "Drake," appeared in Blackwood's Magazine.
