

LARGEST HIGH SCHOOL CLASS

Two Hundred and Twelve Pupils Complete the Course.

ALL RECEIVE DIPLOMAS FRIDAY

White Class Outnumbers Others, It Maintains as High Standard of Scholarship Achieved by Smaller Ones.

Friday evening the Omaha High school will hold its commencement exercises, the first in its history, and the largest in its state the schools were opened will receive diplomas.

In looking over the records of the office it is found there are none previous to 1911, but this condition, which otherwise might have been deplorable, is in a measure relieved through a general way covers the work of the twelve preceding years.

The contention of the old superintendent seems to have prevailed, and his views are being accepted as to the growth of the attendance at the high school.

This year's class is not only remarkable for its numerical size, but for the good work done by the members, the average being as high as in classes having fewer members.

In the selection of the members of the class who are to appear in the program two tests were provided. The first was that scholarship, the requirements being set unusually high. But twelve pupils qualified for the final competition under this arrangement and of these the six to appear in numbers other than musical were selected on the quality of the papers prepared for the competition.

Miss McHugh Busy for Month. For a month Miss Kate McHugh, who has had personal charge of the preparation for the commencement exercises, has been busy with the details of the affair.

At this time the final form of the program has not been announced, but Superintendent Davidson will deliver an address and President Rice of the Board of Education will present the diplomas.

MAYOR SETTLES THE WAR

Colonel Jim Pacifies All Belligerent Members of His Official Family.

Mayor Dahlman has been successful in the role of peacemaker, for a time at least, although the embers of bitterness between the city prosecutor and heads of other departments still smoulder.

There was a conference at the mayor's office Friday evening and at its close the interested parties demonstrated their ability to keep silence, but it was perhaps the reaction which followed the long and at times loud talk which preceded the terms of agreement said to have been reached at the suggestion of the mayor.

Saturday morning Dr. Connell said: "All is now serene. The city prosecutor will act when we file complaints and we will perhaps have no further occasion to criticize him, but this remains to be demonstrated. We have no occasion to change our course, and if warrants are not issued it will be no doubt be due to some 'misunderstanding.'"

"The boys are all right now," declared the mayor. "There was really no cause for trouble, but they did not understand each other. When they got together and the first bad feeling was wiped out they had little trouble in coming to terms. Mr. Daniel said he had made personal investigation of a number of cases and found parties ready and willing to obey the law, but delayed by inability to get men to do necessary work. I told him no doubt he met a more cordial reception than that accorded inspectors of the health department who served notices, since no man willingly antagonizes the attorney who may prosecute him, while they are inclined to ignore the inspector."

"It was finally agreed that people notified by inspectors should be given a little more time and that when they had willfully neglected to obey orders warrants should be issued."

DENTISTRY

TOOTH TALK NO. 120

THE dental service that you may get in my office is done in such a easy, painless manner, and there is a certain physical satisfaction about it that is indescribable. Your feelings may be surprised and you may even wince once or twice, but the time of least resistance is closely followed; everything goes along smoothly and before you realize it your work is done. I'm not open Sundays.
