HOLDS UP DAVIS' EXAMPLE

Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews to University Seniors.

LESSON FROM BIBLICAL HISTORY

Compares Lives of Saul, Samuel and David, and Urges Young Men to Emulate Life of the Latter.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., June 8.—(Special.)—Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews of Nebraska University this evening delivered the annual baccalaureate discourse to the members of the class of 1907 in Memorial hall.

NEW LIGHT ON THE BIBLE.

Consider the story in this new light. You will find it a most interesting and instructive study.

BISHOP TO YOUNG WOMEN.

Trinity cathedral, where Bishop Worthington preached the baccalaureate sermon for Brownell hall, was filled with the friends of the graduates as well as the usual communicants.

SAUL WAS NOT A FAILURE.

It is a common thought that Saul broke down as a king, both politically and morally. But a study of his life shows that he was a failure in a different sense.

APATHY FOR HIGHER THINGS.

But a more serious reflection for the thoughtful is the apathy of the people for higher things. There is a growing tendency to let life drift.

TO MEMBERS OF SENIOR CLASS.

Ladies and gentlemen of the graduating class: We have had a most instructive and inspiring address by Chancellor Andrews.

BAD DREAMS CAUSED BY COFFEE.

I have been a coffee drinker, more or less, ever since I can remember, until a few months ago, I became more and more nervous and irritable, and finally I could not sleep at nights for I was horribly disturbed by dreams of all sorts and a species of distressing nightmares.

ACCREDITED SCHOOLS.

At a meeting yesterday of the committee on accredited schools of the University of Nebraska the following schools were accredited for the year 1906:
