"I cannot agree with the ones who be-lieve that way, for scientific base ball is the greatest game in all this world. This applies to hitting, base stealing, and, in fact, to every feature of the game. The squeeze play is the result of scientific ball. Base stealing is another. If you are at bat and one of your own team is on base, be doing something to the ball all the time. "If your man gets a chance and starts for second, hit the ball, swing your bat, reach out your arms; in short, help the man to land safely where he has started. Never mind yourself, but remembher that there is a man ahead of you and help him get around the bags and over the home plate. That means a run for your club that you are a part of."
