ing account of it:

In the year 1906 the Society of American Women in London voted to invite the General Federation of Women's Clubs to join them in a plan to parallel for American women the Rhodes scholarships for men. In the following year this society resumed the responsibility of one scholarship to the value of $1,00 for two years, and the General Federation of Women's Clubs voted in May, 1908, to offer a similar scholarship. This action was taken in the hope that these two general scholarships would be the first of many similar scholarships to be founded by state federations until the women in every state in the union would have the same great opportunities as the Rhodes bequest provided for men.

It seems wise to make this initial experiment only in the women's colleges of Oxford and Cambridge (unless otherwise unanimously agreed by the committee of selection for reasons of great weight), and in accordance with the plan adopted by the Rhodes scholarship trustees, who have kindly consented to admit women candidates for the English scholarships to the qualifying examinationes for scholars in the United States under the Rhodes bequest and to submit the papers of such candidates to the Oxford board of examiners for grading and report.

All conditions required from the Rhodes

iners for grading and report.

All conditions required from the Rhodes scholars shall apply to candidates for the English scholarships, except that all clauses relating to personal qualifications and certificates for the same be so modified as to apply to women.

relating to personal qualifications and certificates for the same be so modified as to apply to women.

These scholarships will be of the value of $3.30, may be held for three years, and will become operative in October, 1908, under conditions to be prescribed by the Federation of Women's Clubs.

The examinations will be qualifying, and not competitive, and may be taken in January of each year wherever the Rhodes scholarship examinations are held. The English scholars will be selected only from candidates who have successfully passed this examination. They must be unmarried, must be citizens of the United States, and must not be younger than 19 years of age on October 1 of the year in which they are elected. They must offer credentials as to their good health, their physical, mental and moral qualities, their literary and scholastic attainments, and their promise of distinction. They shall have respected the search of their sophomore or second year work at some recognized degree granting university or college of the United States. They shall signify their intention of taking the regular honor or tripos examination of Oxford or Cambridge. They must forward terminally a certificate from the women's college in which they reside to show that their work and conduct have been satisfactory. Without such a certificate a scholarship lapses. A scholarship which lapses either from failure of a student to secure this college certificate, from resignation, from marriage, or from any other cause, will be filled at the discretion of the committee of selection.

MACHINERY CUT HIM OUT Passing of the Picturesque Pros pector with His Pick and Washing Pan.

The individual miner, the picturesque prospector with pick and washing pan, is being rapidly driven from his last stronghold, the Klondike, owing to the immense area of ground being acquired by dredging companies. One company alone has purchased nearly all the placer ground along the famous Bonanza. Eldorado and Hunker creeks, and this, for various reasons has practically depopulated these regions. Where formerly were the busy camps of hundreds of miners, a few men are now engaged in constructing or operating dredging outfits.
