This is a joyous time of the year. The social summer season has been inaugurated by society, and now they are entering heart and soul into the delightful amusements of the season. "Why" that is so raw as a day in June has been applied misquoting of late, when to the astonishment of believers in the infallibility of the month of roses, rain fell upon the travelers' head. Last week's brides had a narrow escape from showers, the heavy rain coming just at the right time to miss the popular day of weddings. The clubs are fairly monopolizing the fashionable set of late. Every day now, and especially on Wednesday, ladies' day at the clubs, when table d'hôte dinner is served, followed by a dance, and Saturday's society can be seen carefully dozing up in automobile vehicles, winding its way to its favorite resorts. Yards and yards of billowy clouds of chiffon pink, blue, white and brown—every color of the rainbow can be seen floating in the breezes and giving the distinctly feminine a conspicuous place. The visitors continue their popularity, and the social calendar shows many of the most interesting affairs to be given for them this week. Within a few weeks society will respond to the call of the mountains, and many summer homes and cottages will be opened for the season and for the house parties that are to take place.

At the Country Clubs.

Saturday was the warm enough to make the breezy club porches the popular places in the evening. The dinner preceding the dances were very well attended. Social Chit-Chat.

Mr. Henry A. Raapke, a well known Omaha boy who has been studying architecture abroad for a number of years, has had several flattering recognitions of his art. Last year he presented work done in Paris to the "Salon of Artists-Francoise" and was one of the few accepted out of the many thousands presented. This year he handed in two pictures, one consisting of seventeen pencil sketches and the other of seven water colors, some of the work he had done in Italy, and it was also accepted at the salon. The last time he received high honors and congratulations from some of the first artists and architects, and a dinner was given in Paris in his honor. Mr. Raapke will return to Omaha in the fall to locate permanently.

Newton K. Mann read the marriage lines. The rooms were decorated in white green and pink peonies, roses and syringa being used in profusion. The ceremony was performed in the living room under a large wedding bell made of white roses and ferns. WORK OF THE CLUB WOMEN

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe Active at Eighty-Eight.

WOMEN PLAN NUMEROUS OUTINGS

Woman's Club to Picnic at Bellevue and Young Women's Christian Association Goes Boating at Cut-Off Lake.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, frequently called America's foremost woman, celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday June 10. At her pleasant home in Boston Mrs. Howe received her friends all day and also received quantities of flowers and letters and messages of congratulation. Sunday of the previous week Mrs. Howe presided at a vigorous sermon from the pulpit of the Church of the Disciples, of which she was for years a devoted paragon. Several receptions were among her engagements of the week and Saturday she presided at a breakfast arranged in her honor by the New England Woman's club, at the Vendome, in Boston. Two hundred women were present and she was speaking, music and continued sociability, all of which the remarkable woman met with seemingly little fatigue.

In a recent interview Mrs. Howe said: "The world grows better and not worse, but it does not grow better everywhere all the time. Women of fashion seem to me to have lost in dignity of character and mental tone the calmness and the other hand, outside the charmed circle of fashion I find the tone of taste and culture much higher than it was a few years ago. I think my youth. I find women leading nobler and better lives, filling larger and higher places, and doing more for the world where they used to rest upon the very soil of domestic care and detail. So the community grows, although the class does not—but that, remember, is the class that assumes to give standards to the rest."

"As You Like It" "Out-of-Doors." The Clarkson Memorial Hospital association will present "As You Like It" at Hanscom park Monday evening, July 1, for the benefit of the hospital fund. Miss Lillian Fitch of the oratory department of the Woman's club will direct the play and the cast includes some of the best known local talent. Use of the southwest corner of the park has been granted for the occasion and the association hopes to realize a substantial sum. The raising of $30,000 for the hospital at this time when so many other public enterprises are in the field, has made the task undertaken by the women doubly hard, but the response to their effort has been encouraging and they are sanguine as to the result.

Y. W. C. A. Boating Party.
As a result of the past class meetings of the winter term that has adjourned for the summer the Young Women's Christian association has planned a number of picnics and other outings and social affairs for the next three months. The first of these will be a boating party at Cut-Off lake next Tuesday evening. All young women desiring to go are requested to meet at the association rooms in the Paxton block at 6:15 o'clock, or at Larson's landing at 7 o'clock. Each one will have to bring her own luncheon. Saturday evening Mrs. Byers' Bible class held a picnic supper in the association rooms, the occasion proving altogether enjoyable.

Club Picnic at Bellevue.
The last social affair of the Woman's club for the summer will be given by the current topics department next Thursday and all club members desiring to go are invited to attend. It is to be a picnic at Bellevue and the party will leave Twenty-fourth and N streets, South Omaha, on the 10 o'clock car. Dinner will be served the party at Bellevue college at 1 o'clock and all women desiring to attend are requested to telephone Mrs. Ben S. Baker or Mrs. C. S. Hayes by Tuesday evening, that arrangements may be made. Only those so arranging will be served dinner.

Club Notes.
The P. E. O. sisterhood in Nebraska has just completed another successful year of its convention last week at McCook was one of the largest and best it has yet held, being a secret organization its claim to general interest is necessarily limited, but this fact did not restrict the hospitality of the hostess town where club women and church women combined in the entertainment. Among the P. E. O. are many women prominent in the State federation of clubs. Women's Christian Temperance union and other state societies. The National Purty congress will be held October 22 to November 6 at Battle Creek, Mich., and plans are already in progress to make the gathering one of the important ones of the year. The program is not yet complete, but it will include some of the best known purity workers of the United States. Mrs. B. S. Goodell of La Crosse, Wis., who is president of the society.
