DOG KIDNAPER TIPS HAND

Fellow Who Tries to Get Money from Pup's Owner is Arrested. A kidnaping case in which a very small curly white dog was the victim held for ransom, came to light in the police court Friday morning. Mrs. E. B. Flood of 2065 Cuming street has a dog, which she prizes highly and which disappeared from home last week. She offered a reward for its return and it came back. Several days ago it disappeared again and not long afterward James Jones of 235 Chicago street, she alleged, came to her home and asked if she wanted the dog back. She asked how he knew she had lost a dog and how he knew that the dog he had found was the right one. Jones is said to have replied that he had read about her losing the dog in the paper and he was sure he had the right one because the dog had a very peculiar kink in his tail and her's was identified in the same way. Jones then suggested mildly that he thought it was about the proper reward and he would see that the dog was brought back if that was deposited in a handy place. Mrs. Flood called the police and Jones was arrested. In police court Friday morning, the lost canine was produced and, with much wagging of tail, was returned to its rightful owner. Jones was held under a charge of petit larceny.

Tick by tick and dollar by dollar moves the huge clock on the Young Men's Christian association building, which marks the successful efforts of the different committees engaged in the work of raising the funds necessary to make it possible to dedicate the new Young Men's Christian association building without a debt attached to it. The reports for the first three days have been about on a par, but in about $5,000 each day so the total at the end of the third day is $14,128, the amount reported Friday being $14,115.

Two large subscriptions were received Friday, one of $500 from the new Independent Telephone company and another of $500 from a party not desiring publicity. Considerable strife is being worked up between different teams of the boys and young men's committees.

Enthusiasm increases as it becomes more and more apparent that the task of raising the money will be successful and it is indeed an inspiring sight to visit the noonday lunch in the Young Men's Christian association building and see the vim of the young men and to hear the cheers as the reports of each committee are read.

Lot in Idaho Donated.

The Canyon Reclamation company of Caldwell, Idaho, has donated to the Young Men's Christian association, through H. D. Neely of the Equitable Life, a town lot in its new town of Homedale, Idaho, on the Snake river and directly opposite the government reclamation project, where a reservoir is now being built by the United States government. The lot in question will be reserved from the general sale and offered to the highest bidder. September 1, 1907, bids will be opened by a committee consisting of John C. Rice, president Caldwell Banking and Trust company, the mayor of Caldwell and Rev. Mr. Springer. The highest bidder will get the lot and the entire proceeds forwarded to the Young Men's Christian association of Omaha. The lots are listed at from $100 to $400; size, 25x120.

CRISIS IN HEALTH OFFICE

Depleted Funds Necessitate Discharge of Every Sanitary Inspector of the City.

There is a crisis in the affairs of the Board of Health of Omaha and unless taxpayers come to the relief of the city there may be a general suspension of work. Friday morning Dr. Connell, health commissioner, made some calculations and as a result every sanitary inspector will be dismissed Saturday and the veterinarian and meat inspector face enforced vacation for the last two months of the year.

The balance in the hands of the treasurer for the use of the health department, July 1, will be $4,582, and of this amount about $150 will be immediately expended for drugs and hospital work already ordered. After a reduction in salaries of $30 a month has been made by the discharge of the inspectors there will remain a fixed charge on the office of $5,280 for the balance of the year, showing a deficit on the face of the account of $668 for the year and this does not include any expenditure for drugs or hospital attendance, expenses which certainly will come upon the office.

ANOTHER FEE IN QUESTION

Validity of Charging for Continuances Up in the Vinson-Haler Case.

The validity of charging a fee of $5 cents for continuances by the county judge has been raised in the Vinson-Haler case before Judge Sears. From the earliest history of the county these fees have been charged every time a case was continued from month to month. In Judge Vinson-Haler's suit they amount to $700 of the $18,000 charged up against him. The question has been raised as to whether or not Judge Vinson-Haler had a legal right to charge these fees. If he did not the county can have no claim against him for them and he would be released from liability to the amount of $700. The question will be argued when the hearing of the case begins again July 1.

CUPID WINS OUT AT LAST

Couple Remarries After Six Years of Separation by Decree of Divorce.

After being divorced six years, Andrew E. Walkup and Jessie A. Walkup have decided to try life together again and have secured a license to marry. They were married December 12, 1888, when both were very young, and in May, 1901, Mrs. Walkup secured a decree of divorce on grounds of non-support. The court granted her $2,000 alimony and the custody of the 5-year-old daughter, Marie, and in the following year Mr. Walkup began proceedings to have the decree altered so that he could have the care of the child. The case was hotly contested.

A natural law of trade explains our ability TO SAVE YOU MONEY

A rule of trade as old as commerce itself fixes a store's ability to name lower prices according as the quality of merchandise it handles is greater than that of its competitors.

It is a fact acknowledged generally by the Furniture World that the Hartman Institution is the largest buyers of Homefurnishings on earth. Being the largest buyers it naturally follows that we secure lower prices than any other concern in the business.

It's no wonder we undersell—no wonder the people of Omaha look to us as the economical homefurnishing supply center. We want you to profit by our many advantages—step in and let us show you how extremely low our prices are, how great savings will really be.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Packers Have Nothing to Say on the Controversy Over Cattle

WOMEN'S CLUBS ELECT OFFICERS

Robbers Get Hundred Dollars from Saloon Till-Swift and Company Organize Benefit Association for Employees.

The South Omaha packers had nothing to say yesterday of the controversy with the commission men, and indirectly with the shippers of live stock and the breeders. All of them intimated that their arguments had been presented at the first and that their position was too clearly defined to need further comment. All expressed the same determination to maintain the rule as they had originally laid it down. There was no change in the conditions of the South Omaha market in any of its features. There was a light run of cows, as usual, and these were sold in the same way as formerly. The commission men note no change. More telegrams arrived yesterday from the Nebraska bankers in support of the position taken by the commission men, and the sentiment is thought to be practically unanimous.

Federation of Colored Women's Clubs. The state convention of the Federation of Colored Women's Clubs finished its sessions with a large meeting at the Ancient Order of United Workmen temple last night. The election of officers took place in the afternoon at Allan chapel. Mrs. Adah Lewis of South Omaha was re-elected president. Mrs. Sarah McWilliams of Lincoln was elected vice president and Miss Lulu Wheeler of Omaha, second vice president. Secretary, Mabel Gilbrath of Lincoln; assistant, Mrs. Amanda Bingham of Omaha; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lulu Rountree of Omaha; treasurer, Mrs. Anna Bedell of Lincoln; state organizer, Mrs. Francis Starnes of South Omaha; chaplain, Mrs. Amelia Browder of South Omaha.

The installation of officers occupied part of the evening session. The principal feature of the evening was the remarks of Miss Anna Vandervee of Lincoln, a graduate of Booker T. Washington's school at Tuskegee. All her remarks were modest and cultured to a degree. She told of the nature of the work attempted along the various lines by the great organizer in a way which commanded much attention and respect. A recitation by Miss Beala Tribune, "The Vendetta," elicited enthusiastic applause.

During the afternoon session at the chapel several papers of merit were read. Mrs. Elizabeth Jelts of Omaha read one, "What Can I Do?" which was considered so meritorious that it was ordered published.

Benefit Association for Employees. Swift and Company have instituted a Packing House Employees Benefit Association which is to go into effect July 1. They are the first packers in the United States to organize such an institution. There is to be no increase of assessments on account of age, but the premium rate is fixed by the class of benefit entered. There are eight classes, fixed by the average salary of the employe.

The following is quoted from the published articles issued by the company relating to the nature of the project: All contributing employes become members of the association and these are divided into eight classes, according to their weekly earnings. The earnings govern the amount of weekly contributions, and, of course, classes 1 to 8 inclusive, are considered a weekly sick benefit of $4 in case of illness. Their weekly contribution will be 15, 25, 35 and 45 cents, respectively. For each small contribution they will receive in the first class a weekly sick and accident benefit of $1; a death benefit of $50; in case of total loss of sight or limbs an amount of one hand at the wrist, or one foot at the ankle, $40, and double that amount if both eyes, both hands or both feet are destroyed. An employe in the fifth class will receive a weekly benefit of $4 in case of death $100; the same in case of the loss of an eye, hand or foot, and $100 where both eyes, hands or feet are destroyed.

Class 6 includes members earning over $12.50 per week and not over $18; class 7, over $18 and not over $25; and class 8, over $25. An employe earning over $20 per week contributes weekly; he receives a weekly sick benefit of $1; a death benefit of $100, and $100 and $250, respectively, for the loss of sight or limbs or loss of one hand or one foot. Additional death benefits are allowed by the payment of 5 cents each week in each class. The aggregate amount is not greater than three times the death benefit of the class the employe enters.

Using the first class to illustrate, the death benefit of $1 a week will continue fifty-two weeks, and if sickness continues as long, a weekly benefit of $1.50 per week will continue fifty-two weeks longer. The accident benefit of $1 a week will continue for 200 weeks if disability continues that long, and includes in addition a reasonable bill for surgery.

The general affairs of the association are under the control of an advisory committee. Laurence A. Carlton, treasurer of Swift and Company, is ex-officio its chairman. Perry M. D. Wheeler has returned from a visit to Chicago. H. C. Richmond made one of his frequent visits to the metropolis yesterday. The Presbyterian King's Daughters will serve ice cream at Highland Park tonight.
