NOTES ON OMAHA SOCIETY

Numerous Suppers at Country Club Sunday Night.

SOCIETY AT PARK LAST NIGHT

Score of Dinners and Picnic Suppers Precedes Open Air Production of Shakespeare's Play "As You Like It."

Conspicuous above everything else of the day was the open-air production of "As You Like It" given last evening at Hancock park by the Clarkson Memorial hospital association. In addition to the immediate cast a score or more of the younger society women had parts and beside these a bevy of young women assisted. The patronesses included a long list of the women who make things popular, while the Omaha Guards patrolled the ropes that inclosed the ground granted at the southwest corner of the park. A score of picnic and dinner parties preceded the performance, which began at 7 o'clock. Among the largest parties was one given by Mrs. Charles Johannes in compliment to Miss Beulah Meunigh of New York.

At the Country Club.
The largest crowd of the season attended the suppers given at the Country Club Sunday evening. Many of them were given in compliment to the winners. Miss Balcombe entertained in honor of Miss de Cistue. At her table were Miss de Cistue, Miss Dale Hamilton, Miss Flora Webster, Miss Mary Doane, Mr. Frank Hamilton, Mr. Earl Gannett, Mr. A. B. Warren, Mr. H. E. O'Neil and Dr. Roy Crummer.

Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Clapp entertained in honor of the Misses Bell of Nashville, Tenn. Covers were laid for Miss Bell, Miss Marlan Bell, Mr. J. E. George, Mr. Joe Baldrige and Mr. and Mrs. Clapp.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Metz entertained in honor of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Hauck and Miss Eugenie Hauck of St. Louis. In their party were Dr. and Mrs. Hauck, Miss Hauck, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Metz, Miss Gertrude Metz, Miss Harriet Metz, Mr. Charles E. Metz and Mr. Philip Metz.

Miss Margaret Wood had four guests in honor of Miss Cramer of Denver.

With Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Gilbert were Mr. and Mrs. C. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Westbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hunter had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Arthur English, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roy and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Conrad.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Scoble, Mr. and Mrs. John A. McShane and Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Kirksland had supper together.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilkins entertained twelve guests.

Small dinners of four covers were given by Mr. H. T. Lemist, Mr. Raymond Welch, Mr. George E. Fritchett, Mr. George Borch, Mr. Arthur Remington, Mr. C. F. Davis, Mr. David Burns, Mr. Thomas Sobole, Mr. Powell and Mrs. J. B. Pappas.

Kent-Ketcher.
A pretty home wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Clara Engler and Mr. Sidney Stewart Kent were married at the home of the bride's mother. The house had been prettily decorated with quantities of spruce ferns and cut flowers. In the parlors, where the ceremony was performed, a canopy had been formed of asparagus ferns studded with white carnations. Promptly at the appointed hour the best chorus of the Lohengrin wedding march were struck by Miss Kent, and from a side entrance the minister, Rev. Hummon, and the groom and his best man, Mr. George P. Engler, entered the room. The next to enter were two bridesmaids, Miss Sadie Kent and Miss Louise Jones. They were both beamingly garbed in white over green and carried semi-shower bouquets of pink carnations, with wreaths of the same flower in their hair. Miss Mable Engler, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and wore a dainty creation of white and pink silk and also carried a semi-shower bouquet of pink carnations, with a wreath of the same flowers in her hair. The bride came last with her brother, Mr. Frank Engler, and wore an exquisite gown of hand woven French batiste, lined with Irish and valencian lace. She carried a shower bouquet of marigolds. An informal reception followed the ceremony, no additional guests being invited and only the immediate friends and relatives were present. In the dining room, where refreshments were served, red was the color scheme used and the table had for a centerpiece a low bowl of red roses. Punch was served in the library, where pink was the prevailing color used. Her sister, Miss

CHILDREN CLEANING STREETS

Brooklyn School Solves Problem of Ugly Streets—John Graham Brooks Says Chicago University Made Mistake.

The Pierce school of Brooklyn, Mass., according to the Boston Transcript, has solved the problem of littered streets insofar as the school children are concerned. At first an attempt was made at abstract teaching, but it was without effect. Then something practical was devised. Each room held a single week and selected four representatives for the Good Citizens' club, making about fifty in all.

These met and selected officers, divided up the streets of the neighborhood and assigned a portion to each grade, making it absolutely responsible for conditions in its territory. Waste receptacles were placed and the children interviewed the assistant superintendent of streets and got them. To keep up interest the teachers are conducted by the various squads over what they call their "beats." Healthy emulation has produced most desirable results.

Cleanliness and freedom from possible contagion made it satisfactory that the children should not handle dirty papers, skins of fruit and other refuse with their fingers, so the manual training teacher got some volunteers from the club, and collecting sticks, were prepared for the workers.

The results of the experiment are manifest, and many favorable comments have come from citizens and from the officials of the street department. School papers, which may easily be detected, are rarely found on the streets. It is observed, however, that refuse from other sources continues about the same, and it is thought it will probably remain so until acts learned from the children, until the younger generation takes the place of the present careless ones.

The principal of the school says that one thing is certain; the members of the Good Citizens' club of that Pierce school who have bent their backs 2,000 times in the course of the past week to pick up papers can never in the whole course of their lives look upon scattered papers in our streets with indifference.

The plan of interesting the children in keeping the streets clean has been tried with success by various schools and societies in Omaha. Indeed, it has proved most successful in the immediate residential districts, but as an education to the children and all who have watched them work, their enthusiasm is contagious and their appeals irresistible.

Opportunity for Nurses.
The Philadelphia school for nurses is preparing to take a large class of young women for nurses. Training and opportunities are available for young women in every state. Preference however, will be given to young women from the smaller towns and rural districts, where there is an absence of hospital facilities. The school in all departments is well equipped, with the most modern and complete apparatus.

The demand for skilled nurses increases with the years. Thousands of young women who have never had a chance to cultivate their nursing talents, are now being prepared for the profession. This is a new and growing industry. Training and opportunity are available for young women in every state. Preference however, will be given to young women from the smaller towns and rural districts, where there is an absence of hospital facilities.

Mending Silk Petticoats.
Silk petticoats will last longer if, as soon as a crack is indicated, it is stayed with mending tissue. This can be purchased at a notion counter for 10 cents. Place a strip of tissue along the crack on the wrong side of the skirt, cover with a strip of silk and press with a warm iron. This makes the mending adhere to both patch and skirt.

When you trim your new table cloth save the piece you cut off. You then will have the long threads to darn your old table linen.

Have Root print it.

SUIT ON TUBERCULOSIS WARD

Friendly Action Will Be Brought to Determine Status of the Building.

A friendly suit will be brought to determine whether the new tuberculosis ward at the County hospital is a new building or only an addition to the present hospital building. The question is an important one. Deputy County Attorney Magney has given the board an opinion that if it is a new building it cannot be constructed without a vote of the people. If it is an addition the board can authorize its construction. At the meeting of the board Monday a resolution was passed directing the county clerk to advertise for bids for erection of the building. It is the purpose of the board to have someone institute injunction proceedings in order to get a court ruling on the right of the board to proceed.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the question of a lazy liver it is a great mistake to talk of a strong drastic drug. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burden imposed upon it by the deflection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or fickle appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, dependent frequent headache, pain in the back, indigestion, nausea, or any of the "risings" in the throat after eating, and likewise symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will relieve you more speedily than any other medicine known to man. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a simple, pure, and safe preparation of the best natural ingredients, and is endorsed and established by the most eminent medical points to Cornell University and over 500 doctors spent the day at Manawa.

MANAWA PROVES ATTRACTIVE

Sunday Sees One of the Largest Crowds in the History of the Resort.

Manawa's Sunday patronage proved one of the largest in its history, the ideal weather driving thousands to the resort. The Great Western railway ran an excursion from Port Dodge and intermediate points to Council Bluffs and over 500 visitors spent the day at Manawa. Bathing was the most popular feature and despite the fact that 500 new bathing suits were added to the stock last week, the ## run at the Kurasaal was so great that it could not be accommodated.

This feature is becoming more popular with the women, an unusual number of them being noticeable among Sunday bathers. Nordin's bath rendered two musical programs that greatly pleased the large audience and many of the popular selections were applauded for a repetition. The big roller coaster and miniature railroad did a capacity business afternoon and evening. The launch and row boats were in constant use the entire day. Prof. Andrew made his balloon ascension and Miss Pauline Courtney scored a decided hit in her original "moonlight" which was introduced with a moonlight effect. The Manawa management is making elaborate preparations for the Fourth of July celebration. The fireworks, manufactured expressly for Manawa by the Pain company, Chicago, will arrive Tuesday, accompanied by experts in pyrotechny, who will have charge of the display.

Takes Exceptions to Milk Ordinance.

OMAHA, June 25.—To the Editor of the Bee: Pending before the city council, and recommended for passage by the judiciary committee is an ordinance some of the provisions of which are so arbitrary, exacting, unconstititional and unreasonable that it would seem that among twelve men who are expected to guard the welfare of the people that at least a few might be found who were not so blind and insensible by reason of prejudice and zeal, as to at least register their vote against this ordinance until it is so amended as to not rob the poorer class of citizens of an element of food essential to their welfare. One of the special sections referred to reads as follows: Rule 5—Any person, firm or corporation having milk in his or its possession, the temperature of which is higher than 55 degrees Fahrenheit, the milk inspector or other officer of the health department of the city of Omaha who shall be authorized by the health commissioner to inspect the same, may seize and destroy such milk or add aniline to it to change its color, so as to make it unfit for sale.

Whether it is a law, whether it was intended to be applied only to the milkman, or, as it says, "any person, firm or corporation having milk in his or its possession," is indicative of insanity, prejudice and animosity, as well as ignorance and persecution.

Whether it emanated from Health Commissioner Connell, or someone financially interested, it is indicative of the mind of the man who wrote it. It has none of the "milk of human kindness" in it. The rule does not name "cow's milk," but all milk—"human" as well as "goat's" milk, and I doubt not the author would not rob the human babe of its nourishment in order to gratify his desire to "destroy milk" stamped with the approval of the "ice dealer" or one of the big creameries. But suppose it was "only intended" to apply to "milk" vendors. It means then that milk taken from cows cannot be sold or delivered for from eight to twenty-four hours thereafter. It means that those who cannot afford to keep ice at an extravagant price must do without milk or chance having sour

Should Death End All?

This is not a theological question; it is rather a bread and butter question. Should the death of a man end all the comfort of a family; the education of his children; the existence of his home? If such be not the case it is because the average plain man has given this thought, and, at the expense of present enjoyment, has provided for future needs.

THE ART OF SALAD MAKING

Some of the Things that Contribute to the Successful Mixture.

Prejudice should not exist when a salad is at stake. There be weak souls that fear the onion, proud spirits that condemn the cabbage. Each of these must yield. "Salad without onion is like blank verse," says one; "no one can make it save inspired by genius." Perhaps the best answer to the housewife's question, the most sensible rule of choosing would be to use any vegetable that grows in garden or field, and combined with any scraps left over from yesterday's dinner, be that fish, fowl or fowl. Perhaps this list will serve to make the salad an easy thing. Use scraps of chicken, or lobster, ham, lamb, beef, tongue, oyster, shrimps, lettuce, tomato, string beans, potato, onion, green peas, beet root, cabbage, cucumber, orange, apple, grapes, nuts, game, cherries, all sorts of fish, water cress, salady, radish, and if you can think of anything else, add it to the list.

Most delightful of all salads, to the eye at least, is the tomato. Its bright, glowing red, combined with the shaded greens and whites of celery or lettuce, make a picture of still life unsurpassed by paintings of rare old Dutch masters. The golden, glittering mayonnaise crowns the whole, like a pre-Raphaelite halo, and completes a color scheme that would make an artist groan with envy.

Probably the chicken salad is really queen among the common people. This dish is best when made with celery, and the amateur should never attempt it without the assistance of their fair maid among vegetables. The skilled saladist can use celery, salt and well-beached lettuce and make a fairly savory dish, and one by no means despised. Let no one, however, be deluded into using cabbage in a salad, and for it with in a most humble manner, and the results are therefore deplorable and not to be endured. A chicken salad does not of necessity imply or demand the presence of that favorite fowl, for many a dish of left-over veal or cold roast pork has masqueraded under the royal title, and nobody was the wiser. Bits of cold veal or boiled, either of beef or lamb, may reappear in finer form (or taste) as chicken salad and do honor to the name.
