ber of authors. It is a direct reply to the papal allocution delivered by Pius X when nferring the cardinal's hat on those recently promoted to the purple. On that occasion the pope called upon the bishops to co-operate with him in driving out those who were "sowers of tares, apostles of monstrous heresies and robels who dreamed of the renewal of dogma by a return of the church and of theology." The writers of the open letter felt themselves aimed at in this call to arms and have not hesitated to reply with incluive vigor which is regarded as unusual to say the least in members of the church to its spiritual head.

However, they begin by reminding the pope of the burden of his first encyclical, in which he invited the co-operation of all men of good will in the Christian restoration of society. It is because believing in the sincerity and the clear intelligence of that call they set themselves to employ the only means which could give it effect, that fulminations are now launched against them by the authority they thought they were obeying

Program Was Noble One.

"Your program, Holy Father, of restoring all things in Christ was a noble one. But remember that plous wishes and the holiest intentions are not enough to give effect to it, and that the way that you have chosen leads in an opposite direction. You have evinced as it were a horror of science and democracy which we had aimed at leading back into the church. You have closed the gates against them.

"Yet science and democracy are the living forces of the time. They are the forces which the church must understand and not only conciliate but inspire if she would fulfill her mission. And it is because she has not tried to understand them that she is losing her hold upon the people. Not only have men withdrawn from the church, but she herself has come to be regarded as an obscurantist parasite and the gospel and Christianity to be treated as expres-

Some uncasiness on the part of the jurymen, as a result of their long confinement, developed this afternoon. Just before the adjournment of court, Jugor S. F. president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, occupied the witness stand in the United States district court today while Judge Landis plied him with questions regarding the financial strength and the business methods of the corporation of which he is the head.

Mr. Rockefeller was a very willing and an equally unsatisfactory witness. He was ready to tell all that he knew, but he said that he knew practically nothing. The net result of his examination was, that he believed that during the years 1903, 1904 and 1905, the period covered by the indictments on which the Standard Oil company of Indiana was recently convicted, the not profits of the Standard Oll company of New Jersey was approximately forty per cent of an outstanding capitalization of $100, 600,000. The investigation held today by Judge Landis was instituted by him for the express purpose of determining whether or not the Standard Oil company of Indiana which was convicted of violation of the law was really owned by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, whether the Union Tank Line, whose cars were used for the shipments made in violation of the law was similarly owned, and also to obtain an idea of the financial resources of the convicted corporation in order to inflict a fine proportioned to the defense and the assets of the convicted company.

It was stated by officers of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey that it owned the greater part of the stock of both the Union Tank Line and the Standard Oil ompany of Indiana. Specific figures as to the earnings of the parent corporation were given by Charles M. Pratt, its secretary, and they were close to the estimate given by Mr. Rockefeller.

Court Room is Packed.

The prospective appearance in court of the man reputed to be the richest in the world, brought a spectacle the like of which has never been witnessed in the vicinity of the Chicago court room. The hour set for the appearance of Mr. Rocke feller was 10 o'clock and an hour before that time the low-celled hallway outside the court room door was densely packed by a crowd, all of whom were anxious to obtain seats and hear the testimony. A large squad of deputy marshals under the tion of United States Marshal Hoy

And even for the minority which has reis rather the mere cold observance of traditional formulas and precepts than the directing force of their life.

"Some are already announcing the death of Christinanity. Others are bemoaning its miserable condition. The writers are not of their number. They believe that Christianity is passing through one of those crises which an organism has sometimes to endure, in which it purifies itself of elements hetrogeneous and hostile to nature and from which it emerges to a more vigorous life. It was in this belief that in response to the call of the pops they had set themselves to the work of renewal. But such a task was not lightly to be undertaken. There was necessary for its ent a frank recognition of the causes of the crisis. It will not do to adopt the usual clerical explanation that the masses reject religion because of the duties it imposes upon them, or of the rigorous character of its moral code, or even because of the intellectual difficulty of accepting its dogmas.

Reasons Fundamental.

"The real reasons are more fundamenta They are that the church has adopted an attitude towards democracy and science which has made her justly suspected by both these forces. In France the church has obstinately allied itself with the remains of monarchial and artistocratic privflege in order to hamper, and if possible, to methrow the republic. their way to the elevators on the north side. Here a car, devoid of lights, was under the special guard of the police, and entering it Mr. Rockefeller was quickly taken to the sixth floor of the building and to the court room. He was shown a seat to the left of the judge's desk and was well up into the room before his arrival was noticed. There was considerable excitement among the crowd and some confusion resulted from the efforts made by all the spectators to obtain a quick view of him. He looked around with some curiosity for the a moment and then commenced a whispered conversation with one of his attorneys.

Standard Oil Case Calied.

When the Standard Oil investigation was called the attorneys for the company, togother with those of the company, stepped. to the front of Judge Landis' desk. Here Attorneys Miller and Rosenthal, counsel for the company, made an carnest plea that Mr. Rockefeller be excused from the stand, They explained to the judge that he could give no information which could not be better obtained from some other source. conflict between the two nations.
