PUEBLO, July 35.—Hatch was hit hard and opportunely today and Des Moines easily took the last game of the series by a score of 9 to 3. The Indians played list-lessly in the pinches and were beaten all the way through. Pueblo scored two in the opening inning on singles by McGllvray and Meichior and a two-sacker by Belden. McGllvray's three-bagger and an error by Andreas gave them their only other tally in the fifth. The visitors took the lead in the third, when a two-bagger by Edmondson, singles by McLaughlin and Hogriever. the third, when a two-bagger by Edmond-son, singles by McLaughlin and Hogriever, together with a wild pitch, netted three runs. Sloux CITY, July 26.—Johnny Jones, the spit ball purveyor, after pitching superbly for ten innings, weakened in the eleventh and allowed the Sloux to hammer out the winning run of a 3 to 2 score. F'enlon's muff of an easy fly in the first inning was the real cause of victory, as it gave the Sloux a chance to get the hit that scored two runs after the side should have been retired. Bressler, Duncan's new southpaw, pitched six innings and gave way to Jarrott. Score:

Charley Hickman makes no secret of the fact that when he was at college he was there to pitch ball and not for the purpose of causing jewels to work overtime in their efforts to turn out medals fast enough to keep pace with all the prizes that were to be awarded to him on account of knowledge gleaned from books.

Charley went to the University of West Virginia, because he liked that section of the country and because they had a good ball team up there. Hick, of course, was a bona fide student, but he didn't cause any of the spectacled class to grow jealous of him, as he passed up the job of murdering Horatio at the Bridge, Mark Anthony's ornation, and such oratorical efforts.

Charley concentrated his mind principally on base ball, and as a pitcher he had every thing frazzied to a shred up in the mountain section. Hick, in those days, could make the ball do the serpentine movement when it was on its way to the bataman, and they still speak of Charley up there in awed tones.

Bome time ago the players on the Washington team were discussing the cost of a

Ned Hanion's career as a major league manager will close with the ending of the present season, when he will sever his con-nections with the Cincinnati club, and, ac-cording to reports, manage his ball club over in Baltimore.

When Keeler, Jennings, Kelley and Mc-Graw get away from Hanlon his reputation as a manager began to go down grade. His success with the old Baltimore club made him famous the country over, and he was given credit for being the shrewdest man in base ball when it came to handling a ball team. But subsequent events have not proved such to be the case. While he had all the stars he was successful, but he has all the stars he was successful, but he has failed absolutely since he was forced to build up a ball team in both Brooklyn and Clincianati.
