PLACE OF MANY NATIONS

Omaha's juvenile city is growing in population even more rapidly than Greater Omaha. And it is a cosmopolitan community. Monday was registration day and 322 children appeared and took out their buttons of citizenship. These buttons entitle them to the rights of the grounds, to "liberty and the pursuit of happiness," in any way they can get them, upon the various joy-producing contrivances found in the juvenile municipality.

At present the city is without a govern-
