MILLER ROBBER IS IN JAIL

Frank Myers Confesses to Gaining Frank Woman and Looting Store.

Frank Myers of Indianapolis, Indiana, was arrested Wednesday at a store in the robbery of Martha Miller the woman who runs a little store at 15th Webster street and who was tied and gagged by two daylight robbers.

Miller was not believed as the daylight hold up seemed a little too hard to be true. Detectives Mitchell and Butler, who were on the case, looked up and landed one of the men.

Chief Savage extracted a confession from Miller and the other man will probably be caught soon. Myers was sentenced to fifteen years for burglary in Indianapolis and is now out on parole after having served five years.

The Miller store was robbed of $3 in money, a revolver and two watches. The other man who was recovered in his haste the robbers overlooked a cigar box beside the safe containing $75.

JORDAN WANTS BEER OR PAY. A criminal complaint, charging grand larceny, has been filed in county court against William M. Lamont of the steamboat Omaha, which left its moorings at the foot of Douglas street late one night and steamed away. It is alleged, without setting forth some of the particulars, that the complainant, William G. Jordan, who had the command for selling beer on the boat, Jordan says when the boat left it took with it about $60 in money belonging to him and a part of his stock of beer and cigars.

Before leaving the crew rolled several kegs of beer on the bank of the river and left a note with it, saying the rest would be sent back by freight. Mr. Jordan has called patiently for the beer, but it has not come. Lamont and his boat are said to be catering to excursionists between Atchison and St. Joe.
