guilty of the crime, but, as one of the workers expressed it: "We don't think there should be one rule for the white man and another for the negro in Nebraska. Two crimes were committed here, equally atrocious. One man was sentenced to death in each case and accomplices were given less severe punishment. The white man has escaped the gallows by a method unknown to Nebraska law, since nowhere is it written that the supreme court can commute a sentence. We ask for the negro the same clemency extended to the white man."

The application for clemency will be prepared and circulated in the city as soon as possible and it is alleged by the moving spirits that a number of court officials will sign the appeal to the governor.

D. Blumenthal, a Cumming street grocer, and Harry Blumenthal, his younger brother, were fined $5 and costs each in police court Wednesday morning for creating a disturbance on a street car and tying up two street car lines for thirty minutes Saturday night.

Blumenthal and his family were returning from a picnic at Hibbler's park on West Leavenworth street, and, according to the evidence, were more or less intoxicated. Blumenthal pulled down the side curtains of the car several times when other passengers wanted to get on and when the conductor remonstrated such a melee resulted that the motorman thought it unsafe to proceed. Six or seven cars from Hancock park and West Leavenworth were forced to wait for half an hour until the police could be called and the trouble makers taken away. Two other arrests were made in the case, but the defendants were discharged by the court.

The sentence was considered very light by the street car authorities, who were trying to make an example of the case to prevent street car rowdiness in the future, but the defendants appealed their case.

Words of Want Wisdom.
When you want work to do, ask for it, or do you try to hide away from it? Do you go where work is to be had, or where there isn't any? When you advertise for work do you advertise where nobody expects you to, or where the people who want work don't always look for help? The Bee want columns are the recognized go-between of those who want and those who want to fill wants. Whatever you want, let it be known in the columns of the Bee, and the want will be filled.
