a buyer even to make a bid and when bids were made they were away lower even on the very best grades. Just how much lower prices are is a difficult mat-ter to say as ile market was so uneven, bids in many cases being 25c spart. No one, however, will deny that the general mar-ket is 25550c lower than the best time last week.

however, will deny that the general mar-ket is Excession in the best time last work. It will be remembered that week before last the market on cows and helfers was quoted all of 7c lower. Last week they put it back on, now this week they are taking it off again, shaving off big slices every day. The market this morning was in the language of the yards "rotten." prices were not only lower than yesterday with the movement very slow, but sales were at least 30c lower than last week. It is hardly necessary to add that the trade is extremely unsatisfactory from start to finish and that it was late in the day before anything like a clearance was effected. Although there were not very many stockers or feeders among the freeh re-ceipts, the market was slow and generally lower. Speculators had quite a good many cattle on hand and the break in fat cattle seemed to have a depressing effect upon the buying demand from the country. Buyers claimed in many cases that they were able to secure cattle right at 25c lower than last week.

Atlantic Telegraph Suspends.

ATLANTIC, Ia., Aug. 14 .- (Special.)-The Atlantic Daily and Semi-Weekly Telegraph, that has been published here for the last twenty-seven years, suspended pubileation last night, and according to the statement of the publisher, E. L. Anderson, it will be issued in the future as a twelve and sixtsen-page weekly paper, each Thursday, until such time as they may decide again to enter the daily field. This Protestants. It appeared that in the leaves but one daily paper in Atlantic, the Daily Democrat, edited by Charles F. Chase, who is an ardent supporter of Governor Cummins, and leaves only one republican paper in the Ninth district issued oftener than once a week. The editor of the Telegraph was a staunch standpatter. had been defeated in his ambition to become postmaster of Atlantic, and had engaged in other business that required most of his time for the last few months, so the suspension was not unexpected. The Daily Telegraph was established twentyseven years ago by Lafe Young, and according to the obituary notice last night had never made any money for any of its publishers since that time. The present management had been operating the paper for the last eight years and says that it was gradually eating up the profits of a good job and weekly office until its suspension became a business necessity. The plant has been recently equipped with new type and a new linotype machine. County Attorney Will Push Case. The president of the Board of Trade was sending a representative to Belfast today, the trades unionists of Ireland having just notified him of their willingness to submit to arbitration.

War Secretary Haldane read a repor from the officer commanding the troops at Belfast, in which it appeared that one of the objects of the military demonstration was to separate the Catholics and trouble at Belfast, as usually happened, there has developed a cleavage on religious lines. The Protestants have cheered and supported the troops, while the attacking parties apparently have been composed of Catholics.
