EASTERN STAR, TEN STATES

Prince Hall Grand Chapter Holds Meeting in Omaha.

MISS MOORE IS AGAIN MATRON

Two Hundred Colored Women Transact Much Business and Elect Officers for One More Year.

The twenty-fourth annual assembly of Prince Hall grand chapter, Order of the Eastern Star of the jurisdiction of Kansas and Colorado, closed its three days' session at Fraternal Hall, Fourteenth and Dodge streets, at noon Friday. About 200 representatives of the colored Eastern Star lodges of Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, South Dakota, Minnesota and eastern Iowa were present. Forty-five chapters of these states were represented and the gathering was presided over by Miss Jennie N. Moore, grand matron, of Lawrence, Kan. Among the notables present was Grand Patron Dr. W. Jackson and Past Grand Patron S. G. Watkins of Topeka.

The meeting was executive and was concluded with the election of these officers for the year:
Grand matron, Jennie N. Moore, Lawrence, Kan.; grand patron, W. E. Jackson, Topeka, Kan.; assistant grand matron, Lulu Bowen, Atchison, Kan.; assistant grand patron, O. Davis, Kansas City, Kan.; treasurer, Belle Smothers, Arkansas City; secretary, Olivia Porter, Oswego; conductor, E. A. Weeks, Emporia; assistant conductor, Laura Woods, Winfield; grand custodian of the orphan's and widows' fund, Mary E. Langston, Topeka; Adah Lindsey Gregg, Ruth, Ella Chinneth; Esther, M. B. Like; Martha, Mary Dilibert; Electa, Annie Payne; warder, Francis Sexton; sentinel, W. H. Haworth. Chairman of committee on foreign correspondence, Mrs. E. W. Wright; chairman committee on jurisprudence, Eva Smothers; chaplain, Mollie Pace; marshal, S. G. Watkins; lecturer, Lulu Oliver.

The next annual meeting of the grand chapter will be held at Leavenworth.

A reception was given to the grand chapter by Nebraska chapter No. 42 at Fraternal hall, which was largely attended. An interesting musical program, followed by dancing and refreshments, was carried out. The reports of the several grand officers

PSALM OF LIFE, PASSWORD

Mystic Key Given by Pa to a Couple of Rubes.

PAPA SOMETHING OF A HUMORIST

Has Little Fun on the Side While His Boys Are Winning the Long, Slender Bunt.

They were a pair who would have been welcomed by gold brick men as rain in the desert. They wandered into Pa Rourke's ball yard out on Vinton street. Apparently it was their first ball game in the great city. Sherlock Holmes would have noted the mud on their shoes and the short red hats on their clothes and said they had come in from the country with live stock. He would have perceived the peculiar style of "paint brush" whiskers which bloomed on the chin of one and the neglected condition of the other's "soup strainer" moustache and said they were recently from Bingleville. He would have noted the way their eyes took in everything and said they were having the time of their lives. He would have observed the way they chewed their sticking stogies and the way they went out and hurried to the third parlor across the street and said they were "blowing themselves" in a perfectly scandalous manner and in a way it would never do to let the folks at Bingleville hear about.

In all these conjectures Sherlock would have been correct. The facts were clear even to ordinary people without the wisdom of the great detective. Pa Rourke and his gatekeepers observed it. Pa's sense of humor and his love of a joke is too well known to need expatiating upon.

Often Get Thirsty.

During the progress of the game the two men from Bingleville found it necessary to go out and allay their thirst at the third fountain behind the swinging doors across the street.

(Note to the reader: Return checks are not given at the ball park.)

"On we come back in if we go out, mister?" asked he of the paint brush tonorial adornment as they appeared at the gate.

Pa hated to do it. It was like taking candy from a baby. But it was too good to miss. Assuming a judicious and solemn

MONEY TIGHT IN THE EAST

Result of Attempt by Corporations to Force a Panic, Says Will Yetter.

"Money is a little tight in the east and is getting tighter," said Will L. Yetter Friday morning on his return from New York, where he has been buying wall paper and visiting. "It is the general impression there that the corporations are trying to force a panic on Wall street to punish the country for anti-corporation legislation."

Mr. Yetter said the price of wall paper had been advanced because there was not enough water in the streams of northern New York to run the pulp mills. It is very dry in the eastern states and the crops do not look so well as they do west.

FALL FRUITS ON THE MARKET

Home Grown Grapes, Cantaloupes of the Rocky Ford and Other Attractions.

Home-grown grapes and sweet potatoes delighted the hearts of the marketers Friday morning for the first of the season are in this week. The grapes were raised in the immediate vicinity of Omaha and are selling for 50 cents an eight-pound basket. The sweet potatoes are good for the early product and are two pounds for 15 cents. The very first of the genuine Colorado Rocky Ford cantaloupes came in Friday morning. They came in small local shipments by express and the hotels and cafes got most of them. They sold at 20 cents each, but will be more plentiful and cheaper soon. Home-grown cantaloupes are in and sell from 10 to 25 cents, according to size, but their quality is not uniform and cannot be depended upon. Watermelons are much cheaper, selling from 15 to 25 cents each. Potatoes are 20 cents a peck.

Everything in the way of fruit is so expensive that it is not selling readily. All the California fruits are going up in price every day, the peaches selling for 40 cents and the pears for 50 cents a dozen. Huckleberries came in this week and sell for 15 cents a quart box, while the last of the blueberries are bringing 20 cents a quart box and are not plentiful. A few blackberries were to be had Friday morning,
