TALK OF THE POLITICIANS

Sidney W. Smith Selected as Manager for Fontanelles.

OLD WAR HORSES BALK AT JOB

Several of Them Are Asked to Pull the Load, but Prefer to Throw it on the Young Fellow.

After trying out a half dozen old standbys who refused to risk their reputations with the aggregation bearing the Fontanelle label this year, the candidates with price mark endorsements have engaged Sidney W. Smith as campaign manager to look after their interests for the primary.

Democrats are now flurrying upon having a complete ticket in the field when the polls open in November despite the fact that there will be a large number of vacancies on the primary ticket.

dorsed by the democrats receive the republication nomination will the old judicial committee hold over with power to act. If on such republican is nominated and accepts the democratic nomination he alone will be compelled to go into conference with himself and name the men to fill vacancies as opponents of his associates on the republican ticket.

Incidentally the right of the democratic committee to select candidates for justices of the peace and constables is involved. In the matter of the judicial candidates an effort was made to nominate candidates, and for this reason it is held that the committee may fill vacancies.

An effort is being made to oust one election officer in East Omaha precinct. A resident of the precinct complained at the office of the clerk of the district court that one of the members of the official board can neither read nor write English, although this official has served for years because no one could be found to qualify.

"The Elks could never have a more efficient secretary than Frank A. Furry," declares a brother Elk. "He keeps his books and records right up to the mark all the time. I say, too, that as county treasurer he can be depended on to show how that office can be run with systematic precision and prompt accommodation of taxpayers that will be appreciated by people who have business with the office."

"Do you know what ought to be done with the money gathered in from the assessments levied on potential candidates as the price of their endorsement?" "No; what?" "Why, they ought to chuck it in a pot and use it to help Vinsonhaler put it back."

"There is no use holding a primary election at all this year," declared a curious politician. "The Fontanelle bunch claim that their endorsement carries with it 5,000 votes, and the Four's Righters say they are equal to 2,000 votes for any candidate who has their favor. With these two forces united, the candidate with their combined endorsement must have 4,000 votes in his inside pocket, and that is at least twice enough to do the business. I should think all the double endorsed candidates would go home and go to bed and sleep till the day after the primary."

"Somebody tells me that 'Uncle Bill' Christie is plugging for 'Bob' Smith, but I don't believe it," explained a Fifth ward old reliable. "I know I wouldn't be, if anybody ever played me the same scurvy trick 'Bob' played on 'Uncle Bill.' 'Bob' and 'Uncle Bill' were members of the school board at the same time. 'Uncle Bill's' time was up before 'Bob's' and 'Bob' was against 'Uncle Bill' all the time, especially as he was afraid one man from the Fifth ward already on the board might interfere with his own chances the next year. But that didn't make any difference, for when we held a meeting of our club who should jump up but 'Bob' Smith with a resolution praising 'Uncle Bill' way up and saying he is our man and that he should name his own delegates to the convention to renominate him. The resolution went unanimously and then 'Bob' Smith got busy. He spent day and night going from ward to ward, setting up delegations against 'Uncle Bill' and when the convention met he went right in with them, and formed a combine that left 'Uncle Bill' out. 'Uncle Bill' felt pretty bad over that for a long time. He said he wouldn't mind 'Bob' Smith fighting him, but he hadn't pretended to be his friend and got up openly and moved for his endorsement before knifing him in the back."

JUDGE SUTTON'S CANDIDACY

Connell Opens Up and Cleans the Decks for Further Action.

OMAHA, Aug. 23.—To the Editor of The Bee: An invitation has been extended editorially to Judge Sutton to make use of the columns of The Bee in defense of his record, and to me has been accorded the privilege of setting forth the reasons why he should not be re-elected. As stated by The Bee, side issues have been projected into Judge Sutton's campaign for the purpose of influencing voters. As further stated by The Bee, it is Judge Sutton who is seeking reelection, not Tom Dennison. Let us first get rid of these false issues.

The case of Tom Dennison was tried over two years ago at Red Oak, where he received a prompt acquittal and vindication at the hands of an Iowa farmer jury. If any further vindication was necessary, he received it recently at the hands of a Douglas county jury, who gave him a verdict of $7,500 as partial compensation for the wicked libels published against him by the Daily News. Notwithstanding all this I claim, the Daily News as the special champion and supporter of Judge Sutton, for the purpose of diverting attention from his record and creating a false issue, charged Tom Dennison with entering into a conspiracy to defeat Sutton and with fixing up a slate for the democrats.

This charge, as I personally know, was absolutely false. Tom Dennison had nothing to do with making the democratic slate. Neither had he been engaged in any combination or conspiracy to defeat Judge Sutton, but was absent from Omaha in Colorado and Wyoming. The publication in the News, however, accomplished the purpose it had in view, of helping Sutton by fanning the flame of prejudice against Dennison, and the false issue thus created was subsequently carried into a number of the country newspapers. Before these subsequent publications in the country newspapers were made Tom Dennison took to the Daily News a denial of its false interview with him, which it refused to publish. So much for one of the false issues created for the special benefit of Judge

Sutton. I will deal with others later on. When viewed in a proper light, what difference can it make whether Tom Dennison favors or opposes Judge Sutton? As a matter of fact, he is not a candidate for office. Judge Sutton conceded he did not want Dennison's support only when he found out he could not get it. The list of seven judges for whom I expect to vote will include Judge Sutton, Judge Redick and Judge Kennedy. I presume Tom Dennison will also vote for some, if not all, of these judges. For that reason, or for the reason that I will do so, will any person of fairness or intelligence vote against them? If not, why should any one vote for Judge Sutton merely because Tom Dennison happens to oppose him. In fairness, ought not Judge Sutton stand or fall on his own merits and not on the demerits, if any, of Tom Dennison? The Daily News in a recent editorial said that Judge Sutton was going to stand on his record and not make any fight. This is another of the side-track statements of the Daily News.

The fact is, Judge Sutton is making a fight for some, if not all, of these other judges put together. He is attending every meeting to which he can get an invitation and talking about the great things which he has accomplished as judge. In place of standing on his record, he is running on his hope. He has had a big lot of his photographs made of himself, regardless of cost, to be placed in the churches and saloons, so that all classes, the good and the bad, may gaze upon the only good and true judge. That every one so gazing may know a public certificate that such is his belief, etc., etc. The record of Judge Sutton to date, in the churches and saloons, so that all classes, the good and the bad, may gaze upon the only good and true judge. That every one so gazing may know a public certificate that such is his belief, etc., etc. The record of Judge Sutton to date, in the churches and saloons, so that all classes, the good and the bad, may gaze upon the only good and true judge. That every one so gazing may know a public certificate that such is his belief, etc., etc.

SIXTEENTH OLD REGIMENT

Troops Coming to Fort Crook Backed by Great Record.

DATES BACK TO WAR OF 1812

For Ninety-Five Years This Organization Has Done Notable Service in the Army of the United States.

The Sixteenth United States Infantry which now encamps at the Philippines to take station at Fort Crook, is one of the oldest regiments in the American army. It was first organized as the Sixteenth Infantry in 1812 and served during the war of 1812, being engaged in the battles of York, Upper Canada, capture of Fort George, battle of Stony Creek and Wayneburg. Its next fighting was in the Seminole war, at the battle of Bad Axe, in 1832. During the Mexican war the regiment became a part of the Seventh Infantry, and was engaged in all the important battles of that war, but not as the Sixteenth.

At the outbreak of the war of the rebellion it was again reorganized as the Sixteenth and participated in the battles of Shiloh, Corinth, Dry Ridge, Stone River, Hoover's Gap, Chickamauga, Chattanooga, Missionary Ridge, Dalton, Buzzard Roost, Resaca, New Hope Church, Kenesaw Mountain, Dow Station, Jonesboro, Siege of Atlanta and was on the march to the sea.

The regiment was reorganized in 1867 and was assigned to duty in the south during the entire reconstruction period. It was again reorganized in 1869 by the consolidation of the Eleventh and Thirtieth regiments of infantry and has since continued as the Sixteenth.

The regiment was stationed for a short while at Fort Crook, just prior to the Spanish-American war, and was one of the first regiments sent to Cuba. There it participated in the siege of Santiago and in the battle of San Juan.

The regiment was sent to the Philippines in 1898 and participated in twelve engagements during that year, ending in 1900. The regiment returned to the United States in 1891 and again went to the Philippines in 1902, and is now on its second return to the United States.

The headquarters, field staff and band, with two battalions, will be stationed at Fort Crook and one battalion at Fort Logan H. Roots, Ark.

ATTORNEY FITCH NOT GUILTY

Did Not Alter Exhibit in Evidence, Concludes Judge Kennedy of District Court.

In a memorandum opinion by Judge Kennedy F. W. Fitch, attorney has been found not guilty of altering an exhibit introduced in evidence in a trial in the district court. The judge says that after considering the evidence of persons who examined the exhibit under a glass he is of opinion the state has failed to show the alteration was made after the exhibit had been introduced as evidence in the case and that the presumption of innocence follows in such cases as in a case before a jury.

LAND TWO HUNDRED AN ACRE

Nine Acres on Center Street Road Bought for Suburban Home.

John Connelley has just paid $200 an acre for nine acres of ground on the Center street road. He bought the place from Chris A. W. Heintz sold his home at Morton. Having recently sold his home at Forty-second and Jackson streets, he will make his home on his new purchase.

Fritz Kruse has bought from Susan Glenn a 100-acre farm four miles north of Florence for $12,000. It is known as the Forsyth farm and was once owned by Mr. Forsyth, who had a drug store at Sixteenth street and Capitol avenue.

Harrison & Morton have sold to Mrs. Elizabeth Scott a lot on Thirty-eighth street, south of Leavenworth. Two hundred and fifty dollars a front foot is what a piece of ground at Twenty-third and Farnam has just been sold for. Twenty-two feet just west of Estella Pead's shop has been sold by Margaret V. Solomon to J. R. Fuller for $3,500.

ACTION ON COUNTY COAL BIDS

Settlement is Planned for the Meeting of the Commissioners Saturday.

The deferred question of coal bids will be settled by the county commissioners Saturday if the announced program is carried out. The matter came up for consideration several weeks ago, but the bids were unavailability. Coal dealers are now anxious to know what will be done and members of the board have promised to act at their next meeting.

The telephone system proposed for the court house also will be considered and final action may be taken.

Don't get excited if your office boy smokes cigarettes or your housemaid turns your wife out into the street. These little things will happen sometime. And when they do happen you should simply turn a want ad in The Bee and you'll find a good housemaid or office boy. People who always take the right course always obtain the right results. The Bee's want ads are effective.
