Old Methods Obsolete. "It involves a great deal of trouble and me," says Vice President and General Manager Mobier of the Union Pacific road, but railroading has become of such a scientific nature that the old methods are entirely obsolete and unsafe."

The educational opportunities afforded by the railroad are in keeping with the strictness of the requirements made of its "students." The instruction car is a coach fitted with seats and having a raised platform at one end where charts and schanical devices are displayed, together with signals and stereopticon illustrations of interlocking plants, etc. The scenery surrounding the signals, the locomotives, and even the faces of the employes shown on the slides are familiar to the men and naturally attract and hold their interest more than would an ordinary secture. The CURB MARKET A NUISANCE car has also been fitted with a miniature automatic electric block signal section of track, giving practical demonstration of signal operation.

Cash Will Be Given to Stockholders of Company for Ten Years.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.-Payment in cash of dividends on the preferred stock of the Erie Railroad company was deferred for ten years by the action of the board of directors of that company today.

The directors voted to declare a semipreferred stock, and an annual dividend of 4 per cent on the second preferred stock, both dividends to be payable in 1917. They announced that application will be made to the public service commission of New York to issue dividend warrants to stockholders in the meantime. The warrants will bear interest at 4 per cent.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 28.4A Times-Star "The tree was never purposely planted here, but was a part of the pickets of the stockade that surrounded the Mormon corral. The corral was built on this spot some time early in 1847. It occupied a space of about one and a half acres and was used to keep the cattle of the Mormons in at night and as a protection against Indians and wolves. A picket post took root and this tree is the result. Its present circumference is sixteen feet at the widest part and fourteen feet at the main trunk. "About 100 feet west of this correl was the old Mormon ditch and sod fence. The fence, which was four or five feet in height, extended from this point south, following along the base of the bluffs to about where the Baratage schoolhouse on Ames avenue, Omaha, how is. Some few traces of this old sed fence still exists between here and Omaha. From near this tree the sod fence extended to the river. Harry Brisbine is farming some land owned by Jewel Jenson, and the tenant took some threshers to the place to thresh out some feed for his horses. Jenson folwas guited. The fire is believed to have lowed his tenant thither, for the purpose of preventing the threshing. Brisbine asserted his rights in the question of threshing and when he attempted to carry them out by ordering the men to go to work. Jenson then secured his shotgun and commenced firing on his tenant. Brisbine was shot in the leg at the knee, cutting the tendons and tearing off the upper portion of the bone, making an ugly wound. The wounded men was taken at once to the hospital at Chamberlain and his neighbors went out with a subscription paper to raise some money to pay the expenses, and in less than a haif hour they had over $50.
