Packers seemed to want a few beef cattle and, as the supply was very small, they paid prices that were anywhere from strong to 10c higher than yesterday. As high as $7.00 was paid for good corn fed steers.

Cows and helfers were also in good demand and the market more active than it has been any day this week. The few isoads on hand changed owners very quickly. The general market on cow stuff could safely be quoted as strong to 10c higher on the best grades.

The feeder trade was rather alow and weak. The receipts this week have been quite liberal, while the country demand has been any too too large, so that there has been a tendency toward accumulation of supplies in the hands of speculators. This naturally has a weakening effect upon the large attendance of feeder buyers.

As was the case yesterday, a good share of the hogs sold between the figures $6.53 and $5.75. The hogs today sold a shade higher than they did at the close of last week. SHEEP-Receipts of sheep this morning were light, only two cars of lambs and seven cars of yearlings being reported in. The total receipts for the week to date have been very large, showing a heavy gain over the corresponding week of a year ago, in addition to being three times as large as last week.

and the very good demand for both feeder sheep and lambs maintained prices on that kind so that they are very little lower for the week. In extreme cases there has been possibly a decline of 10c, but still the great big bulk of all the feeders received brought steady prices.

Quotations on good to choice killers:
Lambs, $6.7567.15; yearling wethers, $5.756

1. No quotations are given on fair to good killers, as feeder buyers are taking practically everything of that description at better prices than packers will pay.

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Last Business Day of Week Sees Little Doing on Wall Street.

Accounts Open When Market is Not Busy and Trading in Light.

NEW YORK, Aug. 39.—With a three days' holiday interval in the market impending, operators were inclined to reduce their outstanding commitments, or in the case of a smaller class of traders to retire them altogether. The hazards of a closed market for three days was too great to make attractive an open account for that length of time without any medium available in which to act on events as they arise. The movement of the market was a plain indication of the extent to which the short side has been favored by the professional class of operators. The market proved unresponsive to any influence that would have helped the bears in reducing prices. Call money was inoderately affected by the preparation for the monthly settlements and by the fact that loans made at the Stock exchange*today carry over to next Tuesday, by reason of the triple holiday. The slightly higher rates for loans of this class that were charged received slight attention, however. This attitude was partly due to the feeling that the deposit of government funds with the banks to be made from week to week will safeguard the inoney situation.

LAST STRAW HAS FALLEN Diamonds Go Up in Price, Same as his Phyllis a ring right away, for if he waits until spring he will have to sell more sheep to get it. Diamonds will be higher then and may even be advanced this fall.

According to an Omaha diamond merchant, the London mine owners, not content with boosting the price of the stones 50 per cent. in less than three years, are preparing for another advance in the spring. They would make it this fall, but that the big buying season is in February and March. They say the diamonds are scarcer in South Africa and the cost of mining has increased. Omaha dealers think they have enough diamonds to last them until spring, but they must buy then,

HIGGINS' BODY GOES WEST Cornse of Lynched Man Passes Through Omaha to Mother in Denver.

The body of Loris R. Higgins, who was lynched by a mob at Bancroft Monday morning, passed through Omaha Friday on its way to Denver, where Higgin's mother, Mrs. Cora Higgins, is awaiting it. Mrs. Higgins provided the money to pay the undertaking and transportation charges. The body arrived over the Northwestern Friday morning and was transferred in the afternoon to the Burlington.

T. A. Hollister, who had been retained to defend Higgins, received a letter from Mrs. Higgins in which she blames the Thurston county authorities for not taking better precautionary measures for protecting her son. She thinks the lynching ought to have been prevented.
