ROADS RAISE LUMBER RATE

File Notice of Tariff with Interstate Commerce Commission.

GOES IN EFFECT NOVEMBER 1

Increases Rate from Pacific Coast to Mississippi River One-Fourth and Manufacturers Fear Business Will Be Ruined.

The blow has fallen. The railroads have formally announced the expected increase in lumber rates.

Local lumbermen have received news from Washington that the transcontinental freight bureau has notified the interstate Commerce commission of a new tariff schedule which will increase the rates on shipments of lumber from the Pacific coast to the Mississippi valley. It will go into effect November 1.

The present rate from the Pacific coast to Chicago is 40 cents per 100 pounds and the railroads will increase the rate to 50 cents. Just what the increase in the rate to Omaha will be the dealers have not learned as yet, but they expect to hear in a few days.

An advance of 10 cents per 100 pounds means $3 per 1,000 feet and consumers will have to pay it if they get Pacific coast lumber. That they will not take it at the advance, but will buy southern lumber instead, is the fear that is driving the western lumbermen to distraction. The lumber manufacturers say the increase in rates will take away every cent of profit in their business, as the cost of production is $2.50 per 1,000 feet more than it was two years ago, and in the last year no manufacturer has had a profit of more than $3.50 per 1,000 feet and few more than $5. They declare that unless the rates on lumber from the south also are raised 70 per

REAL BASE BALL EXCITEMENT

Fan Figures Out an Ending to Season that Would Be a Sure Thriller.

The two fans were eating their lunch in a local restaurant. Of course, base ball was the topic of conversation. Finally after an interval of silence one spoke.

"Know what I'd like to see?"

"What?" asked the other.

"I'd like to see Lincoln win enough and Omaha lose enough to make 'em just about even, and then have the last game here in Omaha on a Sunday."

"Say, that'd be goin' some, all right, all right," said the other.

"Then I'd like to see the score a tie in the ninth inning, with Omaha to bat."

"Gee, I'd die."

"And two of our men out."

"Oh, stop stop."

"And two strikes called on the batter—'Oh-h-h-h.'"

"And then see our batter lam the ball clear over the fence on the next strike and make a home run."

The two gazed at each other for a while lost in contemplation of such an ecstatic moment of excitement.

"Say, waiter, you needn't bring me the rest of my order," said the one who had done the listening. "I ain't got no more appetite."

And they went out.

REFUSES NINETY PER ACRE

Jvner Would Have More Than This for Unimproved Douglas County Farm.

Ninety dollars an acre has been refused for the unimproved Stiefel farm, four miles southwest of Bonnington and three miles northeast of Elkhorn. The owner does not wish to sell it at that, but will rent it at $2.50 cash an acre.

Five years ago an Omaha man had a chance to buy this farm for $45 an acre. He was disposed to quibble about some details of the transaction and Mr. Stiefel put an end to negotiations, soon afterwards deciding not to sell at all.

Fred Schroeder, formerly of Millard, Neb., now of Wyoming, has sold his 16-acre farm of three and one-half miles southwest of Millard to Joseph Flambeck, jr., of Millard, for $12,000.

WOMAN'S FLOAT PARADE

The woman's float parade, which is an innovation, will be given Thursday afternoon, October 3. It will consist of decorated floats, each to represent some organization or group of women to the number of not less than six and at least that number shall ride upon each float.

Any woman's fraternal organization, society or club is eligible to enter or any group of women to the number of six or more are at liberty to make any parade. No man will be allowed to occupy any position on the float proper, not even as driver. All horses will be led or guided by a postilion rider.

Prizes have been offered by the Board of Governors. The most beautiful float, first prize, $100; second prize, $75; third prize, $50; fourth prize, $25.

The most original design, first prize, $100; second prize, $75; third prize, $50; fourth prize, $25.

Could Dietz say:

"Entries should be made with the committee in a reasonable time to enable it to assign positions in parade. Place for housing floats during process of decorating will be provided or if those entering prefer, they may have some location central to themselves to enable them to do their decorating more readily."

"Horses and trucks will be provided by the committee."

"The judges will be disinterested parties to be selected hereafter."

"Any further information may be obtained by calling up Samson, telephone Douglas 23, H. J. Penfold, secretary, 1408 Farnam street, or Mr. Gould Dietz, chairman of committee in charge of the parade."

cent of them, the majority of those who ship by rail, will be forced out of business.

A local dealer says the manufacturers of Washington have raised a fund of $250,000 to fight the advance and will engage the ablest lawyers in the country. Several weeks ago their organization requested the Interstate Commission to inform them of the filing of increased lumber rates, so they could make formal protest with the commission.

Some of the most radical anti-railroad enthusiasts see in the advance of rates a move on the part of the Hill and Harriman to drive the manufacturers out of business and then secure for themselves the control of the mills and lumber lands.

palace something on the order of the "Katz-enjammer Twins" show. "The Laundry" is a sort of mystic maze which does all sorts of strange things to those who enter and abounds in surprises, the last of which is the precipitation from the building by way of a short shoot the chutes or toboggan slide. "Hales' Tours" is a show in which scenes are exhibited of famous places in all parts of the world.

The merry-go-round, the Ferris wheel and the big circle swing will be a part of the carnival.

Balloon races are to occur every day, the gigantic balloons which have been in course of manufacture here in the city for several weeks for this special occasion being in charge of Henry Latona and his crew of famous aeronauts.

Among the other acts in the "thriller" class will be a 125-foot dive by Charles A. Bigney, champion high diver of the world. Mademoiselle La Blanche will execute the "peerless ride for life" daily.

College Educated Horse.
"King Pharaoh," the horse with a college education is to be one of the star attractions. "Doc" Breede, who has been and writing powers. He says it can read and write and do everything but fancy embroidery.

Then there is Charles Bigney, the human fish. This gentleman is not a masculine mermaid, but just a plain man, who exhibits the remarkable amphibian qualities, which make him unique. He is advertised to eat, drink, smoke and play the cornet under the water. The notes of the cornet, when thus played are said to have a peculiarly beautiful and rippling sound.

"The Girl in Red" is a mystery. In the great Turkish theater there will be dancing and singing of the type supposed to be common in the harem and in the palaces of the Turks. "Salome" is a show in which there is a grand display of illusion and fire dancing.

There is to be the time-honored glass palace where the beauties and wonders of the glass blowers are exhibited and where souvenirs are made.

The bid for resetting the boilers at the court house was let to Robert Houghton for $120.

County Treasurer Fink was allowed not to exceed five extra clerks to get up a list of the delinquent taxes since the organization of the county to the present time. The salary of the clerks was limited to $80 a month.

NALLY SAYS STRIKE IS OVER
General Manager of the Postal Makes This Announcement to Local Manager.

E. F. Williams, local manager of the Postal, is in receipt of a letter from the general manager of the company, E. J. Nally, who announces the strike of the telegraph operators is over and denies recurring reports that negotiations are in progress looking to a compromise settlement. His letter is:

The statements which are being made by strike leaders that there are negotiations pending or influences at work or pressure being brought to bear on the telegraph companies to bring about a settlement from day to day in one shape or another, is simply for the purpose of misleading the men and buoying them up with false hopes which are never to be realized. We consider the strike is over; hence what is the need for further negotiations? I only repeat what I have reiterated before, that we will deal with such of our old men who are adding to our force by the employment of outsiders every day, the longer our former employees delay putting in their applications the less show they will have of getting back their old positions. I say this sorrowfully, too, because there are many of the old men whom we highly prize, but we cannot, with justice to the men who have stood by us, discharge any of them in order to make a place for a striker.

LAST OF OLD FORT WASHAKIE
Troops Leave and Army Station Finally Abandoned by the United States.

Troop M, Eighth cavalry and the detachment of the Hospital corps which has been on duty during the summer at the camp on Wind River reservation near old Fort Washakie, Wyo., have been ordered to abandon the camp and return to Fort Robinson. With the departure of these detachments from Fort Washakie, the old fort has completely passed out of existence. The fort proper was abandoned about a year ago with the departure of the Tenth cavalry, but a temporary camp was maintained there until all the government property could be removed or disposed of, which is now accomplished.

Fort Washakie was established in 1857 in the heart of what was then the Shoshone Indian country. It was one of the most remote posts from railway facilities of any in the country, being eighty miles from Wooten, Wyo., on the Wyoming and North-western railway. Prior to the establishment of the post, Camp Washakie had been for many years a military cantonment and was the headquarters as base of supplies for many important expeditions against the Indians in the late '60s and all through the '70s. Many stirring and historic scenes have been enacted in the vicinity of the old camp, which has now relapsed into but a memory.
