Democratic Platform He Condemns as Revival of States Rights, Supposed to Have Died with John C. Calhoun.

"The republican convention has brought the state of Nebraska into acute prominence in the domain of public discussion by its endorsement of Secretary Taft for the next president of the United States, says John L. Webster.

Mr. Taft has had a remarkable career. Taking his age into consideration, it has only been equalled by Alexander Hamilton No man has held so many official positions so early in life and been so eminently successful in all of them as Secretary Taft. He was solicitor general of the United States at an age when most men are classed as boys; he was comparatively a youth when a United States circuit judge, but there won for himself a reputation of high judicial character and learning. As governor of the Philippine islands he undertook a new and untried experiment. He accomplished great results for that Tar eastern people and opened the eyes of all America to the yet undeveloped possibilities of Pacific ocean commerce. He elefrom a mere clerical function, as it formerly was, to a position of statecraft. He assumed the burden of the government in the insular provinces. He is making American history in his efforts to establish safe, staple and popular governments in the pendent Cuba. He is the prominent factor in the construction of the Isthmusian anal, which, when completed, will be the past at the conclusion of the Civil war. Republicans Bring Results.

"Whatever has been accomplished by my of increasing strength and growth and development of the United States, from that day to the present, has been accomplished by the republican party through its recognition that the general government was big enough and wise enough to look after the general interests of the people. It may be confessedly true that trusts and unlawful combinations of capital have taken advantage of their strength and opportunities to exact unjust contributions and to oppress localities and to discriminate octween peoples and interests, but it is equally true that the present administration, through the instrumentalities of the republican party, has done more to ourb, regulate and control such trusts, monopolies and combinations of capital than has been accomplished by all the states during the whole history of the life of the government. "For the democratic party to undertake vated the position of secretary of war at this late day to insist that the states shall be placed in opposition to the general government in the regulation and control of these questions, will result in political conflicts and unwarranted contentions that will tend to embarrass and hamper the good work rather than lead our domain, including inde- to any beneficial results.
