Mills fied after the scrape and was later arrested at Crescent. Before Judge Snyder in police court yesterday afternoon he was arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder and his preliminary hearing continued to Monday, Mills pleaded self-defense.

Woodfalk, who is said to be a hard working man, has been employed at the Wickham brickyards. Mills, who is a recent arrival in the city, worked at the brickyard one day. The trouble between the two men, it is said, arose over Woodfalk's refusal to lend Mills money. Woodfalk managed to walk to police headquarters, where he was given temporary attention by City Physician Rice, and then removed to the hospital. He was suffering from a deep cut on the right cheek and several cuts on the left cheek, while the right arm had been cut to the bone near the shoulder.

When word was received that a negro answering Mills' description had been seen heading for Crescent Sergeant O'Neill and Detective Richardson were sent by train to Crescent to head the fugitive off, while Officers Lorenzen and Peterson drove north on the Crescent City road. The latter two officers intercepted Mills as he was walking along the Northwestern tracks just west of Crescent. A blood stained knife was found on Mills and he admitted cutting Woodfalk, but claimed he did so in selfdefense, after Woodfalk had drawn a razor on him. Mills displayed a badly cut finger, which he claimed was caused by Wood-

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—Henry Kaiser, who, while violently insane, armed himself with a shotgun, butcher knife and razor and then disappeared from his home in Eden township. this county, has not yet been found. The same fear and apprehension that Kaiser, while mad, will attack some of the homes of the neighborhood still prevails and excitement is still running high. Farmers who are not engaged in searching for the madman are remaining at home, where they can protect their families. For two days the search has continue without ceasing, until the country for miles in every direction has been gone over but without result. The opinion is gaining credence that Kaiser has killed himself and that his body will still be found. This morning a man supposed to Kaiser was seen in the woods four miles from his home, but after the searchers got on the trail rain began to fall and blotted it out.

ATLANTIC, Is., Sept. 29.-(Special.)-A case that has a county-wide interest has been started in this term of the district court by County Attorney Goodspeed, asking for the removal from office of Super visor H.
