

BRANDEIS BOSTON STORE & SONS

Most Complete Assemblage of FURS Ever Shown by a House in the West

We are prepared to show the women of the west the best stock of Furs that was ever seen west of Chicago.

We show not only the richest, most elegant effects in Furs, but we also display the simpler, practical Furs that are most in demand.

Jap Mink Fur Scarfs in small Zaza shapes, 9 1/2-12 1/2 $35

Black Lynx Sets—With large square muffs and four-in-hand satin-lined scarf, worth $25, Monday special at 17.50

Persian Paw Set—Large muff and four-in-hand satin lined tie, worth $12.50, a Monday special at 7.50

Ostrich and Marabout Feather Boas—In single and double, four and five strands, white, black, brown, blue and pink—3.50 to $35

The Long Loose Broadcloth Coats New arrivals in these fine and serviceable Coats are handsomer than ever—all satin-lined, some plain tailored and others smartly trimmed with fancy braids, new sleeves, correct in every detail, at 24.50

Special Showing of the Long Tight Fitting Coats These Coats are high in favor for this winter—they are splendidly tailored and extremely dressy, lined with very good quality of satin, at 14.85-17.50 to 22.50

"Fashioneal" Suits for Women We have received from the "Fashioneal" makers the most charming models in Suits for autumn and winter that have yet been shown.

Stunning New Tailored Suits at $39 Here are the extreme examples of correct tailoring—many of these suits are those plain tailored effects so much in demand by the very smartest dressers—

The New Lace Waists Also the stunning effects in net over silk and those dainty Silk Waists, with trimmings and medallions of real lace—the most fetching effects ever shown by an Omaha house—at 7.50-9.98 up to $25

Special Demonstration All Week The Famous Lyra Corsets Every Woman Should See the New Models

Brandeis is perfectly equipped in our newly enlarged Shoe Dept. to show Omaha's best stock of Fashionable Footwear for Women, Men and Children

BRANDEIS MILLINERY

Brandeis' Millinery is so well known by Omaha women of good taste and discrimination as the most stunning and fashionably correct millinery in the west, that it is only necessary to say that our latest mid-season models from abroad, from Fifth Avenue and from our own workrooms are fully equal and really superior to the elegant effects that have led the style in Omaha at the season's opening.

A New Importation of Brilliant New Creations from Paris Milliners.

These Hats show the later trend of fashion is toward the very large Hat with elaborate trimming—in this line we are showing many absolutely new effects, charmingly trimmed with long ostrich plumes, feathers, ornaments, etc.; every one a gem of beauty, at $25

A Splendid Showing Monday Smart $10 Hats

These Hats in this group are those practical effects that are demanded for the street, for every-day wear, for evening, for every occasion that calls for a dressy, up-to-date Hat—the price is moderate. $10

We bought from Bailey, Green & Elger, Broadway, New York, their Entire Stock of Women's

IMPORTED BELTS At About 1-4 Their Actual Value

Beautiful buckles, wide elastic with fine steel studding, fancy braided and tinsel belts, etc.—all new importations.

BELTS WORTH UP TO $2 at 50c BELTS WORTH UP TO $4 at 75c

Brandeis is Sole Agent in Omaha for the Famous

PERRIN'S GLOVES

Known everywhere as the highest quality Kid Gloves that are made.

All the newest fall shades for street and evening in Perrin's Gloves, 12 and 16 button length, at 2.75-3.98

Elbow-length Gloves of suede, high grade, at 2.49

Short 2-clasp Gloves at, per pair 98c

POLICE DO NOT WANT DOGS

Consider Bloodhounds Unreliable as Defenders of the Law.

PRONE TO GRAFT AND TAFFY

Captain Moystyn Points Out Several Defects in Canine Character that Make Them Undesirable Officials.

Offers of kennel owners to furnish the Omaha police department with bonded dog cops, are ridiculed by officers of the force, and should kennel owners press the matter before the police and fire commission, every captain and patrolman on the force will get out a hammer and knock the bow-wow bureau proposition.

"Never had any use for bloodhound testimony," declared Captain Moystyn, chief of police during the absence of Chief Donahue. "Bloodhounds are perjurers, many times," continued the captain, "now and then they have done good work, but in my own experience they are no good. They would take graft, too, if they had a chance. A porterhouse steak would buy a whole force of dog cops."

Detectives are also opposed to the offer of bloodhounds. They are the most jealous class of people in the world, but some believe there is glory enough in the police department to go around and jealousy should not be allowed to keep the canines off the force.

"If there are to be dogs on the police force they should be Omaha dogs," said a detective, speaking of the bow-wow bureau. It would never do to accept the dogs from kennels of the east. Every dog in town would be down on the fire and police commission because of alighting the prominent dog families of Omaha.

"I have another kick coming. I am afraid, the pups would want in on a pension fund if we ever have a big one and that would make the force furious."

Would Not be Congenial.

"Dogs keep too close a watch on other members of the force and would not get along well in Omaha," declared Casey, the policeman at the bridge. "Then there is all the expense of educating them. They would have to go to night school or spend their time in company of the police reporters on the yellow newspapers to learn the language. How would a bloodhound from the Kalamazoo know that 'swag' means 'the goods' and 'leather' a man's pocket-book? Then there are 'molls' 'dips,' 'eggmen,' and a long list of technical names and expressions which members of the canine bureau would have to master."

Captain Moystyn said down in Kansas he followed some canine sleuths that were looking for the man who blew the safe in the county treasurer's office and the dogs went by the home of the county treasurer and straight to the home of an old bachelor. Two men were caught there who had nothing to do with the safe blowing, but they were arrested and within a few days the sheriff of Brown county, Nebraska, arrived to get them for stealing sixty head of horses. The dogs evidently remembered the Bertillon smell of the horse thieves and insisted that the men be arrested on suspicion.

It is thought that patient training would enable the dogs to be of some service to patrolmen and a system of signals might be arranged, one bark being for a boy caught working under seventeen years of age; two barks for a masher making eyes at women and a series of short, sharp barks when the lid slips up.

NEWS IN THE ARMY CIRCLES

General Merton Comes to Assume Oversight of the Ute Case.

Brigadier General Charles Morton, commanding the Department of the Missouri, arrived in Omaha Saturday to remain several days. While here he will look after the disposition of whatever troops may be necessary to quiet the fears of the settlers in the vicinity of the Cheyenne reservation, who apprehend trouble from the marauding band of Indians.

General orders from the War department regulating the hours of duty for the garrison schools at Forts Riley and Leavenworth have been received at Department of the Missouri headquarters.

Major J. G. Galbraith, United States army, has reported at Department of the Missouri headquarters, to enter upon his new duties as inspector general of the department.

Second Lieutenant Troup Miller of the Second cavalry, the newly appointed aide-de-camp for Department of the Missouri headquarters, reported for duty Saturday morning.

Captain Claude R. Sweeney has been relieved from duty as paymaster at Department of the Missouri headquarters, and departed Friday for San Francisco, whence he will sail early next week for his new post in the Philippine pay department.

Orders have been issued for the payment of troops in the Department of the Missouri for the month of September, as follows: Major B. D. Slaughter to make payment at Forts Crook and Des Moines.

Captain H. G. Lyon to make payment at Jefferson Barracks; Captain W. F. Clark to make payment at Forts Meade, Washakie, Mackenzie, Robinson and Omaha; Captain S. F. Dallam to make payment at Forts Riley and Leavenworth.

Leaves of absence have been granted these officers of this department: Veterinarian Joseph R. Jeffers, Seventh cavalry, Fort Riley, for four months from December 1; First Lieutenant Duncan Elliott of the Eighth cavalry, Fort Robinson, for two months from December 15.

General court-martials have been convened during the past week at Fort Riley, with the following details for the court: Captain Selah R. Tompkins, Matthew C. Butler, R. B. Powers, Seventh cavalry, H. R. Richmond Tenth cavalry; First Lieutenants Charles H. Boice, C. A. Baoh; Second Lieutenants H. C. Tatum, O. G. Palmer, W. C. F. Nicholson, and First Lieutenant C. M. Lee, judge advocate, all of the Seventh cavalry; J. Fort Leavenworth, with the following detail: Major E. A. Miller, Captain J. E. Stephens, Fifth field artillery; Paul Stanley Bond, corps of engineers; First Lieutenant H. F. Reed, Fifth field artillery; Second Lieutenants H. A. Finch, corps of engineers; Harry Pfiel, Fifth field artillery; Melvin G. Paris, Tenth infantry, and First Lieutenant Joseph H. Earle, corps of engineers, judge advocate.

POTATO PEDDLERS CHEAT

Short Measure Woman Three Bushels and Pay Twenty Dollars for It.

Frank St. Clair and Frank Houch were fined $10 and costs each in police court Saturday morning for using a short measure in selling Mrs. A. B. Tarbox, 2315 Locust street, ten bushels of potatoes. After the men had delivered the potatoes Mrs. Tarbox went to the cellar and sized up the pile. It didn't look like the biggest ten bushels of potatoes she had ever seen and she called in some neighbors to view the heap and it looked exceeding small to them. Then she telephoned John Grant Pegg, city inspector of weights and measures, who dispelled all doubts in the matter by measuring them with his legal standard measure. He found that instead of ten bushels there were just seven bushels.

In police court Mr. St. Clair testified that he was in a hurry at the time and measured the potatoes in a peck measure and possibly might have made a little mistake. "Do you consider a shortage of three bushels out of ten a little mistake?" asked Judge Crawford as he announced the fine.

NEW SORT OF HOUSE TO RENT

Small Apartments Will Be Built and Let for Twenty-Five Experiment.

C. S. Sheppard is planning the construction of a building on Twenty-seventh street, between Dodge street and Capitol avenue, which is an innovation in Omaha and its reception by tenants will determine whether others of the kind will be built. The plan is for a double house with four rooms and a small kitchen on both sides. It will be brick construction and modern in every respect. It is the intention of the owner to rent the apartments for $5 a month. He says he has noted a desire on the part of many people for small houses, where all of the conveniences of larger ones could be secured and this is his attempt to meet the demand.

Advertisement for Kirkendall's Electric Welt Shoes, featuring a shoe illustration and text describing the product's quality and availability.

Large advertisement for Autumn Leaves, featuring a decorative border, the title 'Autumn Leaves', and text describing the collection of autumn leaves and their availability at Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway Co.