Authorities to Make a Determined Effort to Discover and Punish Parties Guilty of Acts of Vandalism.

The theft and mutilation by some vandal of a number of valuable books recently purchased and placed on the shelves in the hildren's room at the public library has determined the authorities to make every effort to discover the offenders.

The volumes were taken from the library without the consent or potice of the librarian in charge of the room. The evening the books were missed one volume was found on the walk leading to the north entrance of the building. All of the illustrations had been carefully removed from the book, which had been discarded by the thief, evidently because it had been marked in a number of places with the stamp of the library. Some of the other volumes of the set, which had been taken from the library and mutilated in a similar manner, were picked up on the street by some boys. who yesterday returned them to the librarian. The librarians have lately discovered a number of cases of mutilation of expensive pooks and a determined effort will be made to put a step to this vandalism. The city ordinance prouldes a fine up to $35 for wilful defacement of a book belonging to the free public library. The mutilation of the books belonging to the children's room is believed by Mrs. Datley, the librarian, to have been the work of some young person.

Decision Affects Webber Case. The remanding by the Iowa supreme court of the case against Erich von Kutzleben, convicted of murder in the first degree as having caused the wreck of the Rock Island passenger train at Homestead on March 21, 1905, may have an important bearing on the $20,000 personal injury damage suit of L. A. Webber, the railway mail olerk of this city, who was seriously injured in that wreck, against the Rock Island raffroad. The suit is now pending in the district court here. In seeking to recover damages for his injuries. Webber based his suit on the grounds that the accident resulted from se-fective track and roadbed. The railroad, on the other hand, disclaimed any responsibility, relying upon the confession of Kutzleben that he caused the wreck of the train, and his subsequent conviction for the

Shortly after his arrest, Kutzleben con fessed to wrecking the train, but later declared the confession had been obtained from him through duress and was not true. He was tried and convicted of murder in the first degree. Friends came to his assistance and his case was taken to the supreme court, which has ordered a new trial. THOMAS STAYS IN PRISON

Supreme Court Denies New Trial to Man Convicted of Murder.

VALID BUT IMPOTENT

Soldiers' Preference Statute Unheld. but Court Refuses to Interfere with Discretion of Appointing Officers.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Oct. 26 .- (Special.)-The supreme court closed its sitting for the second period of the September term late. last evening and acted on a large number thirty-seventh annual convention of the of cases. The court overruled a motion for a rehearing in the case of the state against Charles Thomas, convicted of the murder of Mabel Scofield. Nothing but a possible pardon now stands in the way of Thomas serving a life sentence for the crime Phomas after the death of Mabel Scoffeld at the home of Thomas' parents in this city left for Nebraska and was engaged in farmng there when he was indicted here.

The court also overruled the petition for rehearing in the case of Mrs. Jennie Huegle, the county superintendent of this ounty. This case involved Mrs. Huegle's empetency and legal qualifications to fill the position of county superintendent of schools. In a way it also savolved the constitutionality of the new state teachers' certificate law. The action of the court, results in Mrs. Huegle being but out of the office and in upholding the constitutionality of the law.

The soldier's preference law was again upheld by the supreme court in two cases, one appealed from Creston and the other from Sioux City, but the court in its opinions held that the courts cannot interfere with the discretion of the public officials engaging or employing old soldiers and that an old soldier in addition to being of good meral character and qualified must have equal qualifications with other applicants. One case was that of L. M. Boyer of Creston, who applied to be street commissioner. On being refused he asked for a writ of mandamus, which was denied by the court, and this action the supreme court affirms. In the Sloux City case G. J. Ross applied for the position of health officer and on being refused asked for a writ of mandamus, which the court issued. This the supreme court reverses.

The supreme court acted on a total of forty-nine cases before concluding the period last night.

Pass Case Before Judge Church. In conformity with the order of the mupreme court Attorney Thomas O. THEATER CASE GOES OVER Temporary Order Against Eansas City Officials Continued by Federal Judge Pollock.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 26 .- United States District Judge John C. Pollock today made a severe criticism of the methods of Judge William H. Woodlane of the criminal court for Jackson county, Missouri, who is endeavoring to close the Kansas City theaters on Sunday.

Judge Pellock said: "This is a remarkable case. It is charged that a judge of one of your courts has not conducted himself in a fair, just and impartial manner. He has empaneled his own jury and has done so with the intention that they carry out his own personal ideas. He has entered the grand jury room while the jury was deliberating, thus violating deliberately the precedent that such deliberations should be secret and sacred. "I cannot understand how a judge of a court could consider for a moment such a persecution as has been threatened in this case. I shall investigate this matter, and if I find that I have the power to stop these prosecutions I shall do so."
