

CORNHUSKERS A SORE BUNCH

Many Bruises Are Left from the Game with Colorado.

MINOR AND COLLINS ARE OUT

Cole Proposes Stiff Work in Preparation for Ames, Paying Particular Attention to the Ends and Tackles.

LINCOLN, Oct. 29.—(Special.)—A stiff and sore bunch of Cornhuskers assembled on Nebraska field this afternoon for the first practice of the final preparation for the Ames game next Saturday. Collins and Minor did not report at all, being advised to take part in the work. Frum, Matters, Chaloupka and Cooke were also in bad shape, but stuck to their task. The practice was light, strenuous work being impossible. Birker was stationed at Minor's place, while Perrin took Collins'.

Coch Cole was far from satisfied with the work of the team Saturday and will insist on the hardest sort of work as soon as the men get over their soreness. The result of the game is generally regarded among the students as the luckiest score that Nebraska ever drew the long end of. The fact that the Cornhuskers were able only once during the first half to make distance in three downs, yet scored twelve points, is considered one of the most remarkable happenings that ever occurred on Nebraska field.

With a favorable fortune as guided Nebraska's play against the Mountaineers. Ames would have considerable trouble in beating the Cornhuskers, but Coach Cole doesn't like to trust to luck, and a repetition of Saturday's experience is regarded as hardly to be expected. The Cornhuskers' offense showed a serious slump since previous games, while the defense was badly demoralized, the opposing tackles breaking through the line with hardly any trouble and breaking up Nebraska's formations time after time. The Nebraska tackles and ends will be given special attention this week to prevent a recurrence of Saturday's troubles.

Mike Denalow made his appearance on the campus again today, after having been out of the university for a month on account of illness at his home. He has not decided whether or not he will again don the midnight, fearing that the necessity of making up four weeks of back work would hardly permit it. Pressure is being brought, however, to induce him to join the squad once more.

BASE BALL ASSOCIATION MEETING

Formation of Another Class of Clubs Said to Be Proposed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The National Association of Professional Base Ball Leagues will hold its annual meeting at the Fifth Avenue hotel today and some interesting developments are likely to be announced at the end of the meeting, involving relations between major and minor leagues. The American association representatives are expected to be present and it is understood that the eastern league delegates will back a new class be formed in the National association for their benefit to be known as class "AA." It is also understood that they will seek equality with the National and American leagues in drafting players from minor leagues. The Pacific coast delegates will ask the association to demand that the players be drafted from players belonging to national agreement clubs operating base ball in the winter with the California league, which is outside the pale of organized base ball. Some of the smaller leagues in the middle states think that redistributing their players with regard to several towns would benefit them.

Red Cloud Loses a Close One.

RED CLOUD, Neb., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—The Red Cloud business college football team of this city met the Concordian Normal college football team Saturday afternoon, and went down in defeat at the hands of the visiting team before one of the largest crowds of the season at the ball park. Score: 6 to 8. Although the home team was the heavier they were outclassed in teamwork. The fifty-yard run through three men made by Burrows of the home team was the feature of the day. Johnson also of the home team, made a wonderful run of forty yards after Captain Chaloupka on a clear field, getting his man on the ten-yard line. It was a pretty game with clear team work on both sides.

OMAHA MAN DIES SUDDENLY

Charles Yancey Found Dead in Bed in Hotel at Fort Worth, Texas.

PORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—Froppoed up by pillows, with his head as erect as in life and his eyes wide open, a man who registered at the Selbold hotel as "Charles Bradshaw, Little Rock, Ark.," was found dead at 2:30 p. m. The coroner's verdict was death from tuberculosis. A postal card directed to Charles Bradshaw was found among his effects, signed as C. B. Lawless, Dallas. Three men, among them C. B. Lawless, have identified the dead man as Charles Yancey of Omaha, Neb., and say he is well connected in that state and Iowa. Lawless says he wrote the postal card, but declined to say why he directed it to Bradshaw. He says he knows the man well as Yancey, that his father and mother live in Council Bluffs, and has sister living at Fourteenth and Capitol avenue. Omaha. The man was well dressed and had some money and a well filled suit case. He had been at the hotel one night. The body was held for directions from relatives.

The troops go with orders to disarm the Utes and such action may bring on a fight.

PARENTS

When you stop to think about it, you, of course, realize the grave danger that menaces your children when they play in the streets on which there are street car tracks, but do you think about it often enough!

And do you caution your children about it often enough?

Are you sure that YOUR children are not daily exposing themselves to the danger of being struck by a car—in fact, jeopardizing their lives.

Remember that when children are playing, their minds are engrossed with their play and they are utterly unheeded of approaching cars and frequently dart directly in front of them.
