Good Number at Night School.—When night schools opened Monday night Kelom and Comenius schools found an equal number of pupils ready for admission—155. This total enrollment of 310 is sixty-one in excess of the first night's enrollment last year.

Winter Wheat Average Largest.—Planting of winter grain is practically completed over the Burlington and it is estimated that the acreage will be larger for winter wheat than ever. The wheat which was sown late is in a healthy condition and doing well. The fall has been most favorable for putting up rough feed and an abundance has been put up all over the district. Pasture is good, conditions are good.

Forced to Sleep on Floor.—Alleging the furniture in her room had been removed and she and her three children were forced to sleep on the bare floor, Mrs. Pearl Rockwell has begun suit in county court against Harry Weiner for $125 damages. The suit is in the sequel to an attempt to get Mrs. Rockwell out of the room by legal process. She says two of the children contracted bad colds and she has had to pay out money for their care and for doctor's bills.

Ninety Per Cent of Taxes Collected.—Tax collections in Omaha for 1907 have passed the 90 per cent mark and from now until the end of the year the various funds of the city will be swelled by the amounts collected beyond the point where money was available until the collections had equalled 90 per cent of the total assessment. This condition will add about $2,000 to the unexpended portion of the general fund, which is now practically exhausted, and corresponding amounts to the other regular funds.

Efforts to Force Bankruptcy.—Omaha creditors of the Stotts-Legsdon Signal & Equipment company have filed a petition in the United States district court asking that the firm be declared bankrupt. The petitioning creditors, with the amount of their claims, are: Nebraska Electric Co., $258.50; Sunderland Roofing & Supply Co., $36.18; Baum Iron Co., $54.89; Crane Co., $53.93; Wearne Bros., $59.62; and the Dunning Hardware Co., $33.56. The petition alleges that the Stotts-Legsdon company has already committed the act of bankruptcy through giving preference to the Wilson Steam Boiler company in permitting a judgment to be filed against it for $30 and upon which an execution was had upon the property of the concern. The petitioners ask that the judgment be set aside and vacated.

Board of Appraisers' Bill Rejected.—The Board of Appraisers held a lively session Tuesday morning. The principal talk was over the proposed Northwest boulevard. Representatives of Orchard Hill and Fontanelle improvement clubs were present to offer suggestions and these suggestions occupied the greater time of the board. The bill of appraisers of the proposed Northwest boulevard was formally rejected, the board complaining of the amount of the charge, over $500, and intimating that the bill should be reduced two-thirds. The bill will now go to the city council, which may pay it out of the general fund. J. P. Cornely was given the concession at Riverview park for three years upon his agreement to pay the board $150 a year and to have music on Sundays during May, June, July and August.

Annexationists to Hold a Rally Tonight at Kosciusko Hall.

SOME ANTI FIGURES PUNCTURED

Council Meets and Disposes of West Q Street Paving Bonds at Par to a Cleveland, Ohio, Firm.

The annexation forces will hold a grand rally at Kosciusko hall tonight. All are invited to come. Several good speakers will be present from Omaha and a number of local speakers will be there. The anti's have held several meetings, and in every one of them have made statements which will be effectually controverted this evening. It was asserted that the representative speakers from Omaha at the recent monster mass meeting in favor of consolidation had misrepresented the bonded indebtedness of Omaha and the ridiculous statement was issued that the bonded indebtedness of Omaha was nearly $20,000,000. It was also claimed that the figures quoted by G. W. Watties did not include the special bonds for street improvements. Mr. Watties told the exact truth and his statement included the special bonds also. This is the attested statement of C. O. Lobock, the city comptroller of Omaha, on the bonded indebtedness of Omaha.

To Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that the bonded indebtedness of the city of Omaha, Nebraska, as of October 30, 1907, at this day and date is $5,953,590, being composed of: Bonds $5,516,000 Special assessment bonds 437,590 Total $5,953,590

I am also pleased to state that the city is in business on a cash basis. There are no overlaps in any fund, and there is ample money on hand in every fund for the payment of all legitimate expenses, as provided by law. Respectfully submitted, City Comptroller.

Compared to this excellent showing, South Omaha has a bonded indebtedness of $1,285,000. The valuation of Omaha is $104,000,000, of South Omaha, $21,000,000, almost exactly five times as much. To be on an equality with Omaha, South Omaha would have $1,165,700 in bonds, but South Omaha has exceeded that limit and has almost exactly $100,000 more in bonds comparatively than Omaha. The South Omaha levy for all purposes, including the public schools, is larger than Omaha for all purposes by 1/2 of a mill. The running expenses of the city are higher in proportion to the capitalization than South Omaha. In Omaha the expenditures last year, including schools, were $1,618,000; in South Omaha, $216,000, when to be on an equality South Omaha was only entitled to spend $277,650. South Omaha then has spent an excess of at least $18,000.

H. M. Christie has just returned from Chicago, where he personally enlisted the aid of the Commercial clubs to find exactly how the process of annexation worked in Lake and Englewood and all the suburbs of Chicago which were finally brought under one government. In every one of them property values doubled and the population increased at an phenomenal rate. "He will later give a detailed account of his observations."

W. J. Hayes & Sons of Toledo, O., advised the city council last night that it would be necessary to raise the rate of interest on South Omaha bonds to 6 per cent before they could expect to command a premium market. The city accepted a par bid offer of five minutes' consideration for $48,000 worth of bonds for West Q street paving. These bonds draw 6 per cent interest. The city still has $80,000 in general bonds on which no bids have been received. They are still being advertised.

Mr. Christie said last evening that of all the cheap and trashy arguments that the anti's use the one directed to the intelligent school teachers was the worst. The teachers are being told that they will immediately be thrown out of school when the cities are annexed. The fact is that Omaha has a hard time to keep its schools supplied with teachers now. Teachers will retain their places. The Omaha board, when they have taught two years they are placed on the accredited list and become candidates for the permanent list in five years. If they have taught five years in South Omaha already they will be on the permanent list at once. If they have taught two years already they will be on the accredited list at once. If they are beginners in South Omaha they will be subject to the same conditions they now enjoy.

Par for Paving Bonds.
The city council held a brief session last night and concerned itself chiefly with accepting the bid of Emery Anderson of Cleveland for the $48,000 paving bonds of West Q street. These bonds draw 6 per cent semi-annual interest. The company bid par for the issue. It was considered a good proposition by the council, which took a recess of ten minutes and then reported favorably on the bid and awarded the issue to this company. This is its first appearance in this market.

The second partial estimate for the paving of Missouri avenue was allowed, amounting to $14,540.75. The fifth partial estimate for the grading of S street was allowed to Dan Hannon, the contractor. Bills and salaries were allowed for all departments of the city government. The cost of the primary election and the registration items were allowed last night. The bill was $288.

The city engineer submitted an estimate of the cost of grading Nineteenth street. The estimate is $1,800. The city engineer was allowed to increase the thickness of the concrete base at Twenty-first and Missouri avenue to strengthen the street against storm water at that point.

Advertisement for bids was ordered for the grading of Nineteenth street and for the grading of Twenty-first and Missouri street. The city clerk was ordered to advertise the ordinance providing for the paving of Twenty-fifth street from L to the city limits.

Dan Hannon bid par on the $1,650 of paving bonds for the paving of G street from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-fifth.

Registration at City.
The total registration was officially announced last evening by the city clerk. The results show that 1,894 democrats, 1,880 republicans and 106 socialists and scattering votes were registered in the three days. This makes a total of 4,779 in all. Last Saturday, 699 republicans registered to 25 democrats. There were sixty-nine socialists and scattering. In the totals the democrats have a lead of four votes. In 1906 the general registration showed a total of 3,685. Of these 1,676 were republicans and 1,847 were democrat. There were 166 socialist and scattering. This shows a decrease in the registration this year of 216. But it shows a relative gain for the republicans of 167. Last year the democratic lead was 171. This year it is but four. The socialist vote has declined by sixty registrations. The following table shows the complete registration for all three days:

GALLAGHER'S THREE IN ONE

Triune Capacity of the Democratic Candidate for Court Clerk.

BUYS WARRANTS AND JUDGMENTS

One Case in Which He Purchased All Claims and Drew His Salary in Advance from County at Same Time.

"Andrew M. Gallagher, Democratic Candidate for Clerk of the District Court," is the inscription of the obverse side of the medal; on the reverse side it reads, "Andy Gallagher, Deputy Clerk of the District Court." If the medal had a third side another inscription might easily be put on it, for Gallagher has a third string to his fiddle, all right. "A. M. Gallagher, Warrant Broker; Witness Fees and Judgments Discounted with Neatness and Dispatch," would be the third inscription to complete the triune of capacities in which the general and thrifty Andrew appears. Only he isn't making quite so much fuss about the latter activity as he is over the former two. It is on the quiet with him, and to some extent it is on the county's money.

Here's a sample case from the records in the office presided over by Andy Gallagher whenever Frank Broadwell is not at his desk:

On July 15, 1902, Judgment for plaintiff for $1,000 was entered in the case of John W. Taylor against the city of South Omaha, a personal injury suit. Costs of the suit were also entered against defendant. The case was appealed to the supreme court, and on November 12, 1903, a mandate from the supreme court was returned, affirming the judgment of the lower court in favor of plaintiff and against defendant.

Gallagher Buys Claims.
On November 11, one day before the mandate was sent down—is it possible Andrew had a tip in advance from the office of the clerk from the supreme court?—Gallagher bought from Martin Langdon, attorney for defendant, one-fifth of two-thirds of the amount of $200, which was the lawyer's share of the judgment against the city. This, with interest and a $15 lien held against Attorney J. A. Beck's interest in the case and $30 commission (whatever that is) totalled $116.23.

On the same day, one day prior to the rendering of final decision in the case, John W. Taylor, plaintiff in the case, "for a valuable consideration," made assignment to A. M. Gallagher of his interest in the judgment, amounting to $500, subject to a lien of $15 in favor of Dr. W. J. McCrann, who happens to be Gallagher's brother-in-law, and an attorney's fee of $5 in favor of Haldrige & Dehorst.

On November 17 of the same year, J. A. Beck made an assignment to Gallagher of his interest in one-third of $500 with interest, less the $15 paid to Langdon. This made the amount of the Beck claim at the time of its assignment $167.50.

On November 23 H. C. Woodward made assignments of four-fifths of two-thirds of $500, his share of the attorney's half of the judgment, to Martin Langdon. Two days later Langdon assigned the same claim to Gallagher. On November 30, 1903, Dr. McCrann assigned his claim of $15 against Taylor to Gallagher.

Broadwell Settles with Deputy.
On September 28, 1904, Clerk Broadwell received from the city of South Omaha $1,852.28 to pay the judgment with interest and costs. The next day A. M. Gallagher receipted to Clerk Broadwell for $1,177.50 for the judgment, and on November 23 he received a "refund of costs" to the amount of $23.

Only Mr. Gallagher himself can tell how much he netted in this series of transactions. That he was grossed for money at the time he began his deal in connection with the Taylor judgment is shown by the fact that on October 23, 1903, he drew an advance on his salary due November 1, 1903; on November 7, he drew another $50 in advance of the payment due on November 15, and on November 30 he drew $50 in advance of his December salary. Of course, with his money tied up in a judgment that was only worth 100 cents on the dollar, Gallagher felt the need of a little ready cash, and it was but the kindly consideration of an appreciative employer for a valued assistant that induced Mr. Broadwell to let his deputy have the county's cash in advance.

Gallagher's transactions in the matter of purchasing witness fees extend over a considerable period, and involve various amounts.

In most cases consumption results from a neglected or improperly treated cold. Foley's Honey and Tar cures the most obstinate coughs and prevents serious results. It costs you no more than the unknown preparations and you should insist upon having the genuine in the yellow packages. For sale by all druggists.

YOUNG MAN HAS NEW THEORY

Human Life Seems Centered in Stomach. All Else Is Secondary.

The immense success which has followed L. T. Cooper during the past year with his new preparation has exceeded anything of the kind ever before witnessed in most of the leading cities where the young man has introduced his medicine. Cooper has a novel theory. He believes that the human stomach is directly responsible for most disease. To quote his own words from an interview upon his arrival in an eastern city: "The average man or woman cannot be sick if the stomach is working properly. To be sure, there are diseases of a virulent nature, such as cancer, tuberculosis, diabetes, etc., which are organic, and are not traceable to the stomach, but most disease, in its nine cases out of ten, can be traced to something taken into the stomach. All of this half-sick, nervous exhaustion that is now so common is caused by the stomachic conditions and it is because my remedy will land dose regulates the stomach that I am meeting with such success."

"To sum the matter up—a sound digestive apparatus that is doing its full duty, getting every particle of vitality out of all food by transferring it to the bowels in a perfectly digested state—this above all else brings health."

Mr. A. C. Brock, chief of the Brock Restaurant, Market District, Boston, Mass., who is a staunch believer in Mr. Cooper's theory and medicine, has this to say: "I had chronic indigestion for over three years. I suffered terribly, and lost about thirty pounds. I was a physical wreck when I started this Cooper medicine, a month or so ago. Today I am as well as ever I was in my life. I am no longer nervous, my food does not distress me in the least, and I have a splendid appetite. I am gaining flesh very rapidly—in fact, at the rate of a pound a day. I would not believe any medicine on earth could have done for me what this has done. It is a remarkable preparation and Mr. Cooper deserves all his success."

We recommend the Cooper preparations as being remarkable medicines.—Beaton Drug Co.
