PROSPECTS FOR A WET FIELD

Cornhuskers Take Advantage of Friday's Sunshine to Indulge in Stiff Practice for First Time This Week.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Nov. 1 - (Special.) - Clear weather at last came to the relief of the Cornhuskers teday, permitting the last practice before the Ames game to be held mder more auspicious circumstances than has been the case at any previous time this week. The work was stiffer than would have been the case had better weather prevailed early in the week, the men being sadly in need of brushing up in the formations that will be presented to the husky farmers tomorrow

The latter arrived in Lincoln this afternoon. The Aggies include several of the men who proved able to take the measure of the Cornhuskers last year, and from their appearance look like they will give Nebraska all it cares to attend to this time. As usual, the coaches are reticent about making prophesies as to the outcome, but the general impression prevails among the students that the fight will be

From present indications the field willbe very wet. Today's sunshine has not proved sufficient to dry the rain that has been soaking the gridiron for several days past, and it is feared that the conditions under which the game will be played will not be of the best, whatever the weather may be. Unless the field is much drier than seems possible today the Cornhukers' suweight may stand them in good tead, although from the appearance the Aggles presented this afternoon the difference in weight is to be a slender one. One thing is certain, however, Nebraska will not have to fear more of those forward passes which created such consternation last Saturday. Forward passes and end runs will be rarities on Nebraska field tomorrow. ;

Trip to Lincoln.

AMES, Is., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Ames is loyally preparing to meet the Cornhuskers, and the indications are that the game on November 2 will be one of the best of the November 2 will be one of the best of the season. Using the Minnesota game as the only possible means to draw a line for comparison, it looks as if the two teams are very nearly matched. Minnesota defeated Ames by a score of 8 to 0 and Nebraska 8 to 5. While comparative scores mean nothing it still looks as if a battle royal will be pulled off in Lincoln.

The betting fraternity is not applied to the control of the control royal will be pulled off in Lincoln. The betting fraternity is not saying much at this point, only doing a lot of close figuring on the individual men of the two teams. Ames defeated the Cornhuskers on their own grounds last year, but it was their first taste of victory in Nebraska, and though winning tasted good, there is still a big scare behind the Cornell game as it was a complete surprise the way that bunch held the Aggies here on the homegrounds.

as it was a complete surprise the way that bunch held the Aggies here on the home grounds.

Only a few bruises mar the condition of the Aggies as a result of the Cornell game. Clyde Williams is using every means to strengthen his line where it was shown weak in that game. He is very well satisfied with the speed the men are showing and has several unexploded plays of a fake nature up his sleve to spring next Saturday. Drawn canvas is the order here until the team pulls out for-Lincoln. Graham has been shifted to end in support of Stouffer. Nelson, who got a sore knee from Cornell, is back into the game, and so is Hubbard, who has been out on account of about the temperature last year in the Nebrasku game and that he did some great kicking and running punts back. Jaensen has been supplanted by Hubbard this year, which is the surprise of the year. The rivalry between these two has been very ken for several seasons, but Hubbard has worked like a man for his place. He is speeder than Jaensen and is an especially valuable runner with the ball. The Real Value

If you have headache or neuralgia you want relief; want it quick. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills stop the pain in just a few minutes. and place in the quarter-mile event at The Nebraska game is the last one for The last state meet.

The Nebraska sgame is the last one for Stouffer, as he has played the limit under the conference rules. Many suppose this is why Graham was shifted to end today, as Williams is looking for a strong man to take Stouffer's place in the Iowa game. Stouffer was sub-full in 1963-4 and captain, and full in 1965. He is a strong man this year at left end, heady and reliable, but not so fast. He and Captain McElhenney make a good pair.

A crowd 100 strong will accompany the team to Lincoln. The only fare obtainable from the railroads is the straight rate of $4.15 one way. This will cut the attendance somewhat from the usual large crowds, but the one's who are planning to go are an organized bunch of rooters, loyal to the Aggles in every respect.

tial defeat of the Badgers by Illinois is the chain of circumstances which has put pool a crimp in Wisconsin stock by Iowa representatives who saw the Illinois-Chicago and Illinois-Wisconsin games, who declare that the strength of Wisconsin is seriously underestimated. They state that Illinois went to pieces before the fierce attack of the Maroons, lost their nerve and failed to play the game they were capable of. They add that the recovery shown by Illinois in one week was marvelous and the men made an attack on Wisconsin unthought of in the Chicago game.

Teams Evenly Matched. Wisconsin, one the other hand, played the same kind of a game against Illinois that Illinois played against Chicago, and us a result lost to the Champagne squad. On this basis of reasoning they argue that Wisconsin will improve during the last week in the same way that Illinois did, that the team will come down here with the same spirit that Illinois went to Madison, and that if Iowa wants to win from the Badgers it will have to play a tremendously hard game. In the meantime Iowa has been making its showing against comparatively weak teams-teams that do not run in the same class with Illinois and Wisconsin. And while the paper scores seem to give lowa the best change the teams are in reality very evenly matched. Both Wisconsin and Iowa have devoted their entire attention thus far to the oldfashioned game of foot ball. This is the game that was played by the larger number of teams last season, the first under the new rules. It is not believed that Wisconsin knew any other kind of foot ball last week, or the team would certainly have used the plays in order to stem the Badger tide of defeat. But it is also believed that during the last five days the Badger coaches have been breaking their backs introducing new plays into the repertoire of the Wisconsin team. Iowa has plays which have not been shown this year.

and double passes. The plays have gained ground against the scrubs, but they never have been tried against a strong team, and of course such new plays as Wisconsin will work up this week also will be in the nature of experiments. With both teams using new and unexpected formations it is predicted that the game Saturday will be one of the most sensational ever played in Iowa. Both teams will be forced to resort to forward passes, and when it succeeds this play is undoubtedly one of the most hair-raising on the checkered field. When it rails it offers equally sensational opportunities. Thus far there has not been much betting on the consumption of heavy, rich foods, sub- outcome. Followers of the Iowa team are waiting for offers of 5 to 3 on Wisconsin. or even mney that Wisconsin does not de-

The feature of the automobile show at Grand Central Palace, New York, seems by unanimous opinion to be the low prices at which fine, handsome cars are shown, as never before. It is a mistake to imagine that this is due to a general reduction in the prices of motor cars, for it is the result of new methods of design, which carry with them a much lower original cost. S.S. KILLS THE GERMS

When the germs of Malaria get into the blood they destroy the rich, nutritive qualities of this vital 'fluid and reduce it to such a weak, watery condition that it is unable to furnish the system with the nourishment and strength necessary to keep it robust and healthy. The complexion grows pale and sailow, the appetite fails, digestion is deranged, a bilions condition of the system is set up, and often chills and fever make life miserable for the person in whose blood this insidious poison has taken root. There is but one way to rid the system of Malaria and that is to purify the blood of the germs of the disease, and S. S. S. is the remedy to accomplish this. It goes down into the circulation, destroys the germs, purifies and strengthens the weak, watery blood, making it a rich health-giving and health-sustaining stream, and makes a lasting cure of Malaria. Malarial persons will find S. S. S. not only a prompt remedy but a pleasant acting one, as well as certain cure for this debililitating disease. Besides removing the cause of Malaria S. S.
