SOCIETY READY FOR WINTER

This Week's Calendar Well Filled With Variety of Promising Affairs.

MORE FORMAL THINGS IN ORDER

Absence of Debutantes and Many Daughters of Prominent Families Promises Fun for the Older Matrons.

The Pacific.
No more his clung-up car at night spins down the Great White Way. And sad the chorus lady's plight whose Julia is used to be. No more the funny, crazy wife who goes on the ice to soak. And here is the new winter sign. That the brokers' going broke.

The Social Calendar.
SUNDAY—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rosenthal, at home for Miss Becker of Philadelphia.

MONDAY—Omaha Guards' medal drill and informal hop at armory, Temple Israel, 12th and Broadway, 8 p. m.; Arthur C. Stora, treasurer party at Boyd's, followed by supper at Rume hotel in honor of the Phi Lambda fraternity; Mrs. John A. McShane, Monday Bridge club.

TUESDAY—Lawson-Davis wedding; Mrs. J. B. Blanchard and Mrs. E. E. Bryson, reception at home of Mrs. Bryson; Mrs. Alice Jones, winter dress club; Mrs. C. W. Hayes entertains Kensington of current topics department of Young Men's Association; Mrs. E. L. Lawler, Degues club; Mrs. Frank Power, La Veta club; Northrup-Cooper wedding; Mrs. J. B. Blanchard and Mrs. E. E. Bryson, card party at home of Mrs. Bryson; Mrs. J. B. Barr, Round Dose club.

THURSDAY—George E. Townsend, Comis club; Mrs. D. McArthur, Old Time club; Mrs. John N. Baldwin, dinner; Original Cooking club, Mrs. Lutner Kountze.

FRIDAY—Mrs. J. D. Foster, Friday club; Mrs. Martin, Swastika club; Mrs. Sam Burns, Jr., Original Bridge club; Miss Helen Davis, evening at home; Mrs. J. B. Barr, luncheon club, opening party of season at Chambers.

SATURDAY—Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Baker, Harmon club.

The social calendar is beginning to fill with the larger, more formal affairs that proclaim the setting in of the winter season. The closing of Happy Hollow and the Country club last week put an end for a time at least to the luncheon parties that have satisfied society so long and from now on the dancing club, the card club, the cocktail and the tea will serve as substitutes. Indications are that this winter will see more of formal functions than for several seasons past. And there is good reason for it. To begin with, there are to be no debutantes and in addition to this a number of the young women who would have contributed much have gone off for the winter, several of them to Europe to study. As for the "younger set," that has been so depleted by cupid that it is practically broken up. In consequence, the older hostesses will have abundant opportunity for the more sedate functions that have practically been crowded out of the calendar of late.

But the holidays are not far off and with the home-coming of the school set will begin a round of gaiety that leaves little room for monotony.

Pleasures Past.
The Sigma Delta Theta sorority gave a Halloween cotillon Saturday evening at the home of Tom Harding. There were many new and unique figures introduced and the favors were in keeping with Halloween. About twenty guests were present.

The P. E. O. society Saturday afternoon met at the home of Mrs. Phillips, 1003 South Thirtieth avenue, and indulged in a carpet rag sewing bee after the fashion of yesteryear. It was to assist the Teachers' Annuity and Aid association in an effort to increase its emergency fund that this departure from the regular program was undertaken, and resulted in a goodly number of balls being placed in the hands of the weaver. Several Kensingtons in different parts of the city are being planned to assist in this undertaking of the teachers, and their weaver will no longer need to cease his work on account of lack of material.

Mrs. M. Shirley gave a delightful dinner party Thursday evening in celebration of the 12th birthday of her son, Master Paul Shirley. The table was prettily lighted by jack-o'-lanterns. Four large lanterns ornamented the center of the table, while miniature pumpkins were at each guest's place. The plate cards were in red and yellow and the various designs were suggestive of Halloween. Those present were: Miss Helen Chastain, Miss Katherine Corey, Miss Helen Mithen, Miss Helen Sturgess, Miss Julia Geoghegan and Masters Porter, Paul and James Durkee.

Miss Helen Chastain, Miss Katherine Corey, Miss Helen Mithen, Miss Helen Sturgess, Miss Julia Geoghegan and Masters Porter, Paul and James Durkee, Harry Austin, Edwin Smythe, Connie Smythe, Clarence Darlow, Bobbie Austin, Nash Carlton, Henry Carlton, Joe Schmidt, Arthur Mahoney, Clarence Gunther, Edmund Chastain, John Utt and Billy Bullard.

A Halloween party was given Thursday evening at the home of Miss Anna Hannigan, 2414 South Eighteenth street. The Halloween spirit prevailed during the entire evening. Ghostly gauds conducted the guests from the reception room to the parlor, where many enjoyable games were played. Miss Grace Sheller, assisted by Claude Delaney, were the fortune tellers of the evening. Those present were: Miss Grace Sheller, Mayme Golden, Johanna Howe, Margaret Reid, Bertha Karel, Florence Holden, Tillie Bonde, Bertha Weeninghoff, Emma Wenninghoff, Maude Rowe, Edna Beck, Eva Mulvihill, Marie Rowe and Bertha Montgomery and Messrs. Claude Delaney, John Carlson, Harry Michaelson, Edward Larsen, Frank Brewington, William Starr, Henry Larsen, Albert Steffe, John Golden, John Knudsen, Henry Sommer, Don Marietta, William Ratliff, George Hammon and Charles Hannigan.

One of the enjoyable parties of last week was given by Miss Alberta Field Friday at her home, 242 North Twenty-second street. The evening was devoted to a variety of games in keeping with Halloween. A ghost contest, in which all of the young women appeared in sheets and pillow cases and the men were given pencil and paper and attempted to guess the identity of each one as they appeared, afforded much fun. The prizes were awarded to Mr. Vaughn Bacon, who received a high school pillow. A consolation prize was given to Mr. Harry Carpenter. Then there was a pumpkin hunt, when small pumpkins were scattered over the house and the guests attempted to find them. Mr. David O'Beirg succeeded in finding the most and received a box of bon-bons. Miss Ruth Marie Teschke received a colored picture of pumpkins as a consolation prize. A fishing contest also afforded considerable amusement. Witches were made by dressing broomstick handles with small jack-o'-lanterns for heads on the back of fun. The prizes were written the names of the men present, and the young women with hook and line fished for their partner for supper. The table where refreshments were served was unique. A long mirror extended the full length and on it was placed pumpkins and with comical faces. Red peppers filled with sausage forms resembling small potted plants added to the decoration, and at each guest's plate were small basket-shaped pumpkins filled with candies. Following supper the evening was devoted to fortune telling. The guests present were Miss Lillie Krell, Miss Onie Krell, Miss Alice Field, Miss Helen Sorenson, Miss Marie Dodge, Miss Marie Hollinger, Miss Gretchen McConnell, Miss Claire Jones, Miss Uarda Scott, Miss Blanche Marshall, Miss Helena Trimble, Miss Ruth Mrs. Tansick, Mrs. Mary Goodrich, Miss Lily Karall, Miss Ruth Gould, Miss Edith Harle, Miss Beulah Hunter, Miss Pansy Williams, Miss Alberta Field, Mr. Will Randall, Mr. Leo Mitchell, Mr. Vaughn Bacon, Mr. Crosby Wyman, Mr. Fred Meyer, Mr. David Oberg, Mr. Will Ross, Mr. Sam Carrier, Mr. Harry Carpenter, Mr. Herbert Ryan, Mr. Frederick McConnell, Mr. Earl Haney, Mr. Lowell Gregg, Mrs. Willigan Waples and Mrs. Allen B. Whipple.

Town Topics of October 31 makes the following interesting announcement: "Eddie Cudahy, son of Omaha's millionaire packer, E. A. Cudahy, whose kidnaping seven years ago set the country agog, is engaged. At least his family do not deny it and appearances justify that assumption, says Miss Brownie Bea Baum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baum, intimate friends of the Cudahy family and members of Omaha's millionaire set, is the young woman. She is a charming girl, scarcely more than 19, and not yet through school. She will not return east to continue her studies this fall, however, as the young Cudahy's devoted attention to her is believed to be the reason. She is an intimate friend of Miss Jean Cudahy, Eddie's sister, and was a guest of the Cudahy's this summer at their summer place at Mackinac. The announcement would not surprise anyone, although Miss Baum has never made a formal debut.
