A very liberal portion of the vast industry of Omaha is devoted to the manufacture of food products, and that industry, prosperous and growing as it is, will assuredly be greatly increased and developed as capital takes advantage of the opportunities for investment in that line. In the very heart of the food producing area of the country, and the consuming public learns that national pure food laws are not needed to give Omaha food products the fame they are earning on the tables of the world.

Compared with statistics showing the value of the food products handled in Omaha each year, the figures of stock losses or gains on the exchanges of the country dwindle to the proportions of pin money. The packing houses alone last year turned out food products valued at $120,000,000, or 20 per cent more than the capital stock of the Standard Oil company which is alleged to dominate many of the industrial affairs of the nation. The packers killed at the Omaha plants 774,849 head of cattle, 2,411,922 hogs and 1,024,357 sheep. These products were shipped to every part of the civilized world.

In addition to furnishing the meat for a liberal portion of the world, Omaha shipped more than $1,000 -000 worth of flour and, incidently, handled more than 45,000,000 bushels of wheat, corn, oats and other cereal products of the Nebraska and western farms, The growth of the milling industry, due to the development of the Omaha grain market, promises to make it one of the leading activities of industrial Omaha. Omaha bakers manufactured more than $750,000 worth of products during the year, including the staple bread, the luscious pie, cakes and other essentials in this line of product. This industry is showing a steady and healthy increase in not only the manufacture, but in the market of its products. In connection with baking there is a kindred food product, that of baking and yeast powders, of which the Omaha factories last year produced an output valued at $60,000.

In supplying butter, to go along with the bread and meat, Omaha has made a progress which places it in rank as the leading butter market of the country. The production last year was 12,000,000 pounds, or 1,000,-000 pounds a month, with a total value in excess of $2,560,000. The production this year will approximate 20,000,000 pounds.

The public palate demands a little sweet and sour to go along with the neutral staples and Omaha supplies these by the production of more than $1,000,000 worth of candy annually, of syrups valued at $300,000, and of vinegar and pickles valued at $150,000. For the proper seasoning of the other food products, Omaha factories manufacture spices, flavoring extracts and other table luxuries valued at $350,000.

Local dealers handled poultry and eggs last year valued at $1,250,000 and this branch of the business is growng so rapidly that an increase of about 40 per cent is already assured in the present year's business. In the matter of ruits and vegetables Omaha dealers handled $1,850,000 worth last year.

None of these figures deal with the local marketing of products by farmers and gardners, but only indicate Omaha's prominent and growing part in supplying the material for satisfying the hunger of the world.

Food products play an important part in marking Omaha's supremacy as the Market Town.
