WHEN OUT OF TOWN. Subscribers leaving the city temporarily should have the Bee mailed to them.

Vote early. Today is the day.

The "Success League" was a hoodoo and Candidate Cosgrove was its prophet.

With Emmet Q. Robinson as county comptroller, the new office will start out right.

Wall street's securities are showing strength, now that the insecurities have been removed.

"Senator Foraker is dead game," says an Ohio paper. Then he should be put in cold storage.

That demand for $1,000 made by blackmailers upon Editor Maupin is the biggest compulsion yet paid him.

Mr. Bryan's sympathy will naturally be extended to people of Bokhara, who have just suffered their second landslide.

"Our gracious king has as keen a sense of humor as any man living," says a London newspaper. And he wears a green hat.

Secretary Root insists the peace conference at The Hague accomplished more than he expected it would. What could he have expected?

Careful reading of the Washington news leaves the inference that Wall Street forgot to send the president a present on his birthday.

Remember that the polls open at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 6 o'clock in the evening. Don't put off voting until it is too late.

The members of the house committee on the isthmian canal have sailed for Panama for an inspection of the work. The junket dies hard.

The winter's base ball war has broken out earlier than usual. Of course, the Washington team will act as rear guard during the fight.

Every man who knows Frank A. Faray is going to vote for him for treasurer and every man who does not know him will be safe in voting the same way.

William Jennings Bryan insists on making a few speeches in the Nebraska campaign just to keep his record straight for assisting again in losing his own state.

The Navajo Indians have refused to make any more blankets. The loss will not be seriously felt, as most of the Navajo blankets are made in New Jersey, anyway.

Mr. Carnegie says he predicted a financial crisis and it came. He now predicts a return to prosperous conditions and the country will hope he makes good as a prophet.

If the democrats thought they had a chance in Douglas county they would not drop all their candidates but two or three in the hope of saving a few pieces out of the smash-up.

The election of "Andy" Gallagher means four more years of the slipshod methods that now prevail in the district court clerk's office.

EMERGENCY CURRENCY PLANS.

Events of the last two weeks have awakened a new interest in the question of reform in banking methods and the issue of emergency currency.

Out of the mass of propositions offered for improvement of the currency system, promising a safeguard against the recurrence of panic conditions, that proposed by Secretary Cortelyou and Comptroller of the Currency Ridgeley is meeting with most marked favor.

It is taken for granted that every one in Omaha is in favor of consolidation and that the only opposition to merger is that worked up by the officeholders in South Omaha.

The question of merger is "Question," occupying the first space at the top of the voting machine. This question should not be overlooked by anyone voting in either Omaha or South Omaha.

The democrats are insisting that this is an "off" year, they are playing the "nonpartisanship" dodge, they are trying to inflame personal and factional jealousies among republicans.

The democrats have shrewdly chosen to go after those offices which are most important in point of influence and patronage. Having gotten a taste of the loaves and fishes in the city hall, they would like to extend their dominion into the court house in order to accumulate the sinews of war for the presidential campaign next year.

Nebraska will, without doubt, be fighting around in the presidential campaign and Douglas county republicans should get ready now to do their full share in holding Nebraska in the republican column.

What an unwarranted assumption Candidate Loomis has made to the effect that Elmer E. Thomas as a member of the populist state committee should be fully apprised of all that is doing in the interest of the fusion campaign.

We congratulate our amiable democratic contemporary on the skill it has displayed in playing both ends to the middle on the question of consolidating Omaha and South Omaha.

There have been no bitter personal attacks made against candidates on the republican county ticket this year, but it is not because the local democratic organ is above making personal attacks.

once more the prohibition speech made by Editor McCalla at the Fremont banquet, which was said to have been vigorously applauded by every one of the 200 democratic leaders present.

Governor Blanchard of Louisiana left the Jamestown exposition in disgust because the officials failed to show him any attention after he had paid his formal call upon them.

A theater manager in New York is rejecting applicants for the chorus because they cannot sing. When did they get a notion that it was necessary for a chorus girl to be able to sing?

An Illinois man has gone into court to prove that foot ball can be suppressed under the law prohibiting pugilism. There's a difference. Frequently persons are injured in a foot ball game.

Editor Watterson says he does not believe that the vice president knows the difference between a Martini and a Manhattan. Editor Watterson has the advantage. The vice president is not in position to argue the point.

Be sure to vote for or against every proposition submitted for popular ratification or rejection at the election. Let the result on each question, whatever it may be, represent the real wishes of the voters.

Bralley for sheriff towers high above his competitor physically, mentally and in every other way. His election will give us a bigger man in the sheriff's office, not a smaller one.

"John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Studies Crime," is a heading in a New York newspaper. Yes, we read some time ago that he was going to take an active interest in Standard Oil affairs.

An Untimely Demand. Chicago Record-Herald. This is really the wrong time for the heirs of George Washington to put in an appearance. At the most they would have to be contented with a clearing house certificate.

Variations in Civilization. Washington Herald. We hardly know what to think of the progress of civilization; one state is considering the question of abolishing capital punishment, while another is talking about installing phonographs in its jails.

Nebraska Press Comment. Osoola Record: Never before in the history of the state was the republican party so thoroughly entitled to praise from the standpoint of the integrity of its platform and its candidates as it is this year.

Blair Pilot: When the party lash cracked Judge Loomis feigned sickness in order not to have his votes recorded on the referendum bill which he himself helped to draft during the 1904 legislative session.

Neigh Leader: The bank fury in the east while about subsided at the present, had at any time but little effect upon the west. In Neigh business has been going on about as usual, and all legitimate demands of business for currency have been supplied.

Grand Island Independent: While, as a matter of course, the present financial situation may have some important results and quite far reaching effects on the minds of those who are not well equipped to follow the jangling in done over it that is being done by the bankers of the west have been embarrassed—a better word might be humiliated—but outside of that the ordinary citizen seems to be moving along in the even tenor of his way and while his sympathy and respect is with the local banker, he knows, or is positively convinced, that there isn't a bit of reason for any local worry.

Ord Journal: Everyone says that this is the quietest campaign ever known in Valley county. It appears to be true all over the state. Political lines are not drawn as tightly as they once were. What the effect will be no one can say. It may result in a great many of the voters staying away from the polls. If a man values his citizenship he should exercise his right to vote. He should carefully weigh the merits of the candidates and vote for the one that represents his principles and the one who will discharge his public duty in the most acceptable manner.

Looking Over the Trail. Baltimore American. The most consoling measure of old age, looking out of the windows of hope, is the sweet sense of the heart and soul that you have spread the flowers of life along the rugged road of humanity instead of the nettles of contention.

Beards for the Peerless. New York Sun. The Hon. Champ Clark of Pike county, Missouri, pretends to exult his horns and that of his state because he has discovered a Missouriian with a beard nine feet long and more. The "dickcovey" is no anxiety production calling on the nation to pause while November 23 to thank God for past blessings and to pray for a continuance of His merciful regard.

Good Reason for Thankfulness. Philadelphia Record. In serene disregard of the eruption in Wall street the president sends out his annual proclamation calling on the nation to pause while November 23 to thank God for past blessings and to pray for a continuance of His merciful regard.

LEGITIMATE BANKING. Principles to be Observed to Prevent Panics. New York Outlook. In our judgment, banking panics cannot be prevented unless the following principles are observed: First, All business rests on credit—that is, confidence in the common honesty of the average man.

PERSONAL NOTES. One of the New York City judges has recently held that a wife has no right to throw dishes at her husband.

ARMY GOSSIP IN WASHINGTON. Current Events Gleaned from the Army and Navy Register. The uprising of the Utes on the Cheyenne river recalls the old days when there was much of that sort of thing in that part of the country known as the frontier.

THE CONSUMER IN COMMAND. Brooklyn Eagle: There is comfort for housekeepers who have been complaining of the high price of meats. The Cudahy Packing company of Omaha announced the other day that it will make a cut of 10 per cent in the price of all meats.

St. Paul Dispatch: The hope of the salaried man is that the law of supply and demand will begin to operate, as far as the trusts will let it, and call a halt to advancing prices.

SUNNY GEMS. "Don't be serious, Jack. Let's change the subject. What is that bright star?" "That's Sirius, too, bright," Chicago Tribune.

THE SOCIAL FIRE. Edwin Markham. Voices are crying from the dust of Tyre, From Phœnix and the stones of Babylon— "We raised our pillars upon Self-Destruction, And perished from the large gaze of the sun."

OUR WORD FOR IT. UR appeal is to the good sense of the men who are thinking of new suits and overcoats. We have nothing to offer that is half its value.
