UTES SHOW SIGN OF PEACE

Red Cap Indicates Willingness to Send Children to School.

OTHERS WILL FOLLOW THE CHIEF

Milwaukee Railroad Offers to Employ Bucks, Which Would Solve Problem of Food for the Winter.

Advice received at army headquarters indicate a promising prospect that the trouble with the runaway Ute Indians at Thunder Buttes in northern South Dakota will be amicably adjusted after all. Word came to army headquarters Friday morning from Major Sibley giving a hopeful view of the situation. Major Sibley is at Thunder Buttes with the first detachment of four companies of the Second cavalry. He writes that Red Cap, one of the most aggressive of the Ute chiefs, has agreed to have his children taken to the Indian school at the Cheyenne Agency school on the Missouri river and that other Indians have agreed to the same proposition, as well as to other conditions laid down by Agent Downs. As Red Cap has considerable influence with the tribe it is thought probable the whole tribe may soon agree to the proposition to send their children to the Agency school on the Missouri, eighty miles distant from Thunder Buttes. Chief Bone of Contentment. This question of being separated from their children was the chief bone of contention. The rules of the Indian department require that children of school age over 7 years and up to 16 or 18 years of age, must attend school, and it appears that there are not many children of those ages with the Utes. The Utes received their monthly allowance of rations November 3, derived from the rental and lease money of their Utah reservation holdings, but with the usual improvidence of the Indians it is thought the supply will not last longer than the middle of the present month, and there is a fair prospect of the Indians going hungry until they receive their next allowance. This is a problem to confront the Indian department, as the army cannot supply the Indians with rations so long as they remain under the control of the Indian bureau. It is further claimed there is no available appropriation at the command of the Indian bureau to supply any quantity of rations to the Utes and there is a prospect the Indians will suffer severely until their next drawing of rations.

Railroad Offers Solution.
The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company is building its Pacific extension westward from Evans and has now reached a point nearly north of Thunder Buttes. This line runs through Standing Rock Indian reservation north of Grand River, about ninety miles north of the Thunder Buttes subagency. This road has offered to employ any number of Utes to work on the line near there, and that matter is now under contemplation by the Utes. Should they accept this employment it will act as a solution of the present troubles.

The army department is continuing its preparations for a winter campaign and supplies are being hurried to the district as rapidly as possible. Rations for the troops now in the field have been ordered up to December 21. This will embrace about 15,000 rations of commissary supplies alone. In addition to the commissary supplies a vast amount of forage for the animals of the command is being shipped into the district, as there are very few natural resources in that section of the country.

Change Base of Supplies.
Owing to the difficulty of transferring the supplies across the Missouri river at Forest City, opposite the Cheyenne Agency, and in addition to the long team haul of eighteen or twenty miles to the river from Gettysburg, the present base of supplies, it is now contemplated to change the base of supplies to the point on the Milwaukee road north of Thunder Buttes. The railroad has a bridge across the Missouri at Evans, and by doing this the difficulty of ferrying across the Missouri at Forest City would be obviated. The ferry here is a small affair and the boat can only take ten heavily laden wagons at a time. Cattlemen living in that section north of Thunder Buttes state that there is a fairly good road southward from the present terminal of the Milwaukee railway on the Standing Rock reservation to Thunder Buttes, and the crossing of Grand River is easy, as the stream is merely a succession of water holes, that are dry during the fall and winter seasons. On the other hand, the road from the Cheyenne Agency to Thunder Buttes is extremely rough. Colonel West, with the eight companies of the Second cavalry, had not arrived at Thunder Buttes when Major Sibley wrote the command was due there, however, Friday night.

Lieutenant Colonel R. H. Wilson is in command of the two companies of the Sixteenth infantry now guarding the temporary base of supplies at Gettysburg.

YEAR AND A HALF AND NO END

Eighteen Months of Litigation Leaves - Crow Divorce Suit Just Where It Started.

After a year and a half of divorce litigation Alvin Crow and William H. Crow found themselves exactly where they were when they started Friday morning, when Judge Kennedy refused to grant either of them a divorce and refused to make any order respecting alimony or the division of their property. The case has been fought bitterly and depositions have been taken at various points all over the west. Mrs. Crow applied for the divorce and Mr. Crow filed a cross-petition making charges of a serious nature against her. At the hearing it disclosed that they were married in Iowa less than a month after Crow was divorced from his first wife, the present Mrs. Crow, being involved in the charges made by Mrs. Crow. No. 1. Mrs. Crow No. 2 had been divorced from husband shortly before her second marriage. Letters from Crow advising witnesses to get out of the jurisdiction of the court and telling them if they were called on to testify to answer, "I don't know," to important questions were introduced. Owing to the nature of the evidence Judge Kennedy declared neither of them was entitled to any relief from the court and he denied both petitions.

COIN CRISIS OVER—WATTLES

Money Will Be Coming West Soon, He Writes from New York City.

"Eastern bankers will begin shipping currency to the west in moderate amounts within a very short time, says Vice President G. W. Wattles, of the United States National bank, who is in New York to keep close watch on the financial situation for the Omaha bankers. In a letter to the United States National bank Mr. Wattles says the crisis is over so far as New York is concerned and the financial world there has reached a bright spot for once in the last past two or three weeks. Every banker with whom Mr. Wattles has talked since he has been in New York is confident and believes that things will right themselves within a very short time. With gold arriving from Europe almost every day, the system of clearing house certificates will soon be abolished, and with that move in New York, the western banks will follow. Mr. Wattles does not venture, a guess as to how soon the atmosphere will clear up at Missouri river points, but predicts that it will not be long before a golden stream flows westward from the financial center of the country. ### TAGGART SENDS FOR OUR JIM

National Democratic Chairman Wants to Consult Bryanites.

DESIRES RIGHT HUNCH AT FIRST

Mayor Jim, However, is Devoting His Spare Time Now to Plans for Big Announcement Dinner in Omaha.

Preliminary plans for the meeting of the democratic national committee to arrange time and place for holding the next national convention of the democratic party will be arranged at a meeting of a number of the committeemen at French Lick Springs, Ind., December 22. To this meeting Mayor Dahlman has been invited and will attend if his business affairs will permit. It is understood Chairman Thomas Taggart desires to consult those committeemen who are known to be the personal and political friends of Mr. Bryan before taking up the questions of time and place of the convention with the entire committee.

At present the mayor is devoting that part of his time set aside for political work to the Bryan dinner, which will be held in Omaha December 7. Progress has been rapid in the work, but so far the speaker from the south has not been determined upon. This is considered one of the most important phases of the work, since the Dahlman club does not desire to make the mistake once made by the Jacksonians of inviting a southern speaker who, while lauding Bryan publicly, told certain Nebraska democrats that he would never do for a candidate in 1908, and who four years before the event forecast practically the action of the St. Louis convention of that year. Invitations and tickets to the banquet are in course of preparation and will be issued in a few days. In addition to Omaha democrats, invitations will be extended to a large number of the faithful in the state, and it is expected that Association Directors Propose to Lay Firm Financial Foundation for Their Work.

The board of directors of the Associated Charities met at the office of President Barton yesterday and adopted a plan of campaign for the raising of sufficient money to provide for the running expenses of the association. It is the plan of the board to place the association on a sound financial basis before the beginning of the season when the greatest demand is made upon it for relief. The money pledged in this campaign will be used as far as necessary for paying the expenses of the office, such as the salary of the secretary and his assistant, so that all funds raised by other contribu-

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

If Old Sores were due to outside influences, or if the cause was confined strictly to the diseased flesh around the ulcer, then external treatment and simple cleanliness would cure them. But the trouble is in the blood, which becomes unhealthy and diseased, and keeps the sore open by continually discharging into it the impurities and poisons with which the circulation is filled. This poisonous condition of the blood may be the remains of some constitutional trouble; the effect of a long spell of sickness, or because the natural refuse of the body, which should pass off through the proper avenues, has been left in the system and absorbed into the blood. Again, the cause may be hereditary; but it does not matter how the poison becomes entrenched in the blood, the fact that the sore will not heal is evidence of a deep underlying cause. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may cause the place to scab over temporarily, but the blood is not made any purer by such treatment, and soon the old inflammation and discharge will return and there be as bad or worse than before. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, cleanses and purifies the blood, and makes a permanent cure. S. S. S. enriches and freshens the circulation so that instead of discharging unhealthy matter into the place, it carries rich, tissue-building, flesh-healing blood to the dis-
