CORN DROPS ON HEAVY SALES

Wheat and Oats in Sympathy Slide Down Ensity-Fair Undertone Brings Responses to Buying.

OMAHA, Nov. 9, 1907. Thene was a general weakness all along the line this morning. Corn had a heavy stump caused by heavy selling induced by the last government reports.

Wheat and onto acted in sympathy and solid down selling. Wheat and oats acted in sympathy and sold down easily.

Wheat was strong on the start but worked down later with the slump in corn and the decline in the northwest. The market had a undertone and responded to buy-ed at $45c.

orn made a slide today and went off in made. Seiling was extremely heavy and was no support to check the decline, ember corn opened at $65c and closed of the service of the at 50%c.

Oars started safe with corn and followed weak all morning. They have had heavy liquidation by long interest and the market begins to feel congested. December oats opened at 44%c and closed at 48c.

CHICAGO. Nov. 9.—After a nervous session the local wheat market closed strong on buying by shorts, the December delivery showing a net gain of 19-2013c. Corn was off $20. Oats were $10 lower. Provisions were $20. to 74c higher.

The demand for wheat which caused the strong tone late in the day was based chiefly on the weekly statement of the New York banks, which showed a more satisfactory condition than had been generally expected. An improved export demand and liberal shipments from here the past week helped to strengthen the market. There was an active trade during the last half of the sension, but the volume of business early in the day was very light. Lower cables and a sharp break in corn were bearish influences that caused weakness the first part of the day. The market closed strong. December opened $125c lower to $65c, and closed at $10.00 at 10.00 at 10.0

Fair and Cooler for the Sabbath

Day. OMAHA. Nov. 9, 1997.

While the temperature has risen in the upper Mississippi and Misouri valleys since the preceding report, the weather continues cool in the upper valleys and throughout the west and northwest. The weather is cooler in the middle Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys and is warmer in the southern states; elsewhere changes in temperature have been unimportant. The weather is cloudy east of the Mississippi river and clear west of the river, and it will probably continue fair, with cooler, in this vicinity tonight and Sunday.

Si In prices the first two days of the week cut off receipts almost entirely, so that on Thursday and Friday there were hardly enough cattle here to make a market. As there was a demand for a few the market advanced even more rapidly than it declined the first of the week, closing 159,25c higher than the first of the week.

The market on cows and heifers broke the first of the week the same as beef steers, the trade on that kind being badly demoralized. During the latter part of the week it advanced still more rapidly, closing 25c higher than the close of the previous week.

given up all idea of shipping this season. There is little to be said regarding the market this week that has not already been reported in these columns from day to day. The fact is conditions have remained practically analtered throughout the whole week. Owing to a sharp falling off in the consuming demand for mutton and to a desire on the part of packers not to anticipate their wants in the slightest degree the demand for killers has been small throughout the week. For this reason and in spite of the light receipts prices have gradually sagged until at the close of the week they are generally all of light light receipts prices have fract, the market has been very unseven and while some safes might not show that much off, others show a still heavier decline.

Prices on feeders have fallen off in about Prices on feeders have fallen off in about the same proportion as have killers, but the market on that kind has been still more uneven, it being a good deal of a "catch as catch can" market. Prices are so low that there are plenty of people who would like to feed a bunch of sheep or lambs, but many of them are prevented from so doing by their inability to secure the money with which to pay for the stuff. It will be readily understood from this that the buying demand for feeders is limited and is likely to continue that way while the present financial stringency continues. tinues.

dealers, but cooler weather is needed to make a demand and force duplicate orders to drop in as they usually do at this time of the year. As it is, there are a few reading that they placed very light orders for fall and winter. The recent steady decline orders and retailers are beginning to realize that they placed very light orders for fall and winter. The recent steady decline in the price of raw material has raised the hope in the minds of wholesalers and retailers alike that there would be a decline in prices to the consumer, but this seems unlikely. Other lines of goods made from cotton have advanced considerably more in proportion than the prices of knit goods and the prices are much lower than can be expected to continue. The first line to begin to show a scracity is women's low-priced vests. Many of the buyers are complaining of the quality delivered and it seems that a higher price will have to be paid to receive anything at all satisfactory. The 30-cent graments are in such demand that the present orders cannot slways be supplied.

Muslins for Christmas.

Muslins in all varieties are being sold for the holiday trade, and a good demand exists. The muslin underwear always proves a ready seller during the holidays, seconding to dry goods men, as it makes useful and acceptable Christmas gifts. Those made of allover embroidery are attract attention at this time.

Embroidery is in demand this season in all lines. The rage for fine embroidery seems likely to revive and there is considerable interest shown in the future of prices. Considerable attention is being given to embroidered waist patterns, put up one in a box and Omaha dealers are having a hard time to fill all orders complete.
