NOTES ON OMAHA SOCIETY

Week Opens with Numerous Additional Announcements.

CLUB MEETINGS MOST NUMEROUS

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hadra held large reception in honor of the engagement of Miss Etta Hadra.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hadra gave a large reception Sunday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock in honor of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Etta Hadra, to Mr. Maurice H. Bronner of Syracuse, N. Y. The room was very prettily decorated with a variety of flowers. The parlor, where Mr. and Mrs. Hadra, Miss Etta Hadra, Mr. and Mrs. Seligson and Mr. Bronner received, was beautiful with bouquets of American beauties. Mrs. Hadra wore a handsome gown of light gray crepe de chine, with trimmings of duchess lace. Miss Hadra wore a dainty costume of canary colored marquisette over yellow silk, and Mrs. Seligson wore an exquisite creation of black lace over white silk. The library was decorated with white chrysanthemums and palms. The dining room was especially attractive with a low mound of white chrysanthemums for a table centerpiece and extending from the center chandelier to the four corners of the table were ropes of smilax intermingled with white chrysanthemums. Silver candelabra held white-shaded candles. Those assisting the hosts were Mrs. Sol Degan, Mrs. William Harris, Mrs. Juliet Levy and Miss Blanche Grotto. About 225 guests were present during the evening.

BEDE AN APOSTLE OF PEACE

J. Adam Bede, representative in congress from the Eighth Minnesota district, who addressed the Men's Modern Movement club at First Methodist church Sunday night and spoke at the Missouri river transportation banquet last night, is an apostle of peace whose record might turn green with envy the eminent men who meet periodically at The Hague. For Mr. Bede has brought results out of his preaching.

"Jadam" Bede, as he is called in Minnesota by his fellow editors, used to edit the Pine Knot at his home in Pine City on the way from St. Paul to Duluth. One time several of the big and little papers of the state became involved in one of the most bitter of newspaper controversies. Finally the war simmered down between two papers in the same city and for a while life in that town was a burden to the people. These editors did all but kill each other; they exchanged the foulest vocabulary in their attempts to apply the vilest of printable epithets. One day, just as the war was at its worst, the Pine Knot came off the press. "Jadam" Bede had written a column editorial for the special benefit of those two editors; he bristled with humor and concluded with this simple injunction, "Brethren, let us love one another."

From that day to this every newspaper controversy in the North Star state brings into print that shibboleth of peace, once spoken by the humorist-editor-politician.

REFERENDUM ON SCHOOLS

Such Policy Considered by Board Owing to Present Condition of Money Market.

The Board of Education, which met in special session last night to canvass the vote at the recent election, has a problem before it which may result in a referendum being submitted to the people next fall, if not sooner. The question relates to the manner of the expenditure of the proceeds of the bonds. A majority of the members desire to delay the sale of the bonds until such time as the condition of the money market is easier than at present, and this course probably will be adopted, but on the other phase of the question the board is not united.

This question is as to the location of new school houses, more particularly additional high school room. Some of the members think Omaha is scattered over too large territory to maintain one central high school and these members hope to introduce the idea of high schools in three or more parts of town. Other members, who hold to the idea of a central high school for the entire city, have suggested that nothing be done in the matter until the people have had an opportunity to pass upon the question.

Some of the champions of the separate high school system have gone so far as to indicate where, in their opinion, the additional schools should be built, one in the northwestern part of town, in the southwestern part of town.

MEN INDICTED WITH BORAH

Land Cases Argued by Assistant Attorney General Rush in Milwaukee.

Assistant Attorney General S. R. Rush has returned from Milwaukee, where he went last week to argue against the application for writs of habeas corpus in the cases of James T. Barber and S. G. Moon. Mr. Barber, who is under indictment in Idaho for timber land frauds. They are members of the Barber Lumber company and were jointly indicted with United States Senator W. E. Borah.

The argument was had before Judge Quarles of the eastern Wisconsin district. The application is based on the ground that the indictment was faulty and that the United States commissioner at Madison had no right to remand the accused for extradition to Idaho to answer the indictments against them. Judge Quarles has taken the matter under advisement.

Judge Sanborn of St. Paul was in Milwaukee at the same time and heard the arguments against extraditing a number of prominent Wisconsin men to Colorado to answer to indictments for participation in the coal land frauds. This matter was also taken under advisement by Judge Sanborn.

J. O. MOORE LEAVES SERVICE

Deputy United States Marshal Resigns and Will Look After Private Business.

Deputy United States Marshal J. O. Moore has tendered his resignation to take effect November 15. Mr. Moore has held the office for eight years. He handed in his resignation October 28 and the retirement from the public service is wholly voluntary. He will return to his home at Palmira, Neb., to look after his business interests.

Mr. Moore has been regarded as one of the most efficient officers in the public service and his retirement is sincerely regretted by his associates and by United States Marshal Warner. Marshal Warner desires the announcement made that no successor will be appointed to the vacancy created by Mr. Moore's resignation, as the present force is sufficient for all needs of the Omaha division of the federal courts.

TOO MUCH WORK AT NIGHT

Telephone Company Seeks to Divert This Business.

CHARGE FOR LOCATING DRUMMERS

Representatives of the Nebraska Company Make Request of Railroad Commission—Official Figures.

(From A Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—Patrons of the toll lines of the Nebraska Telephone company use the lines so often at night to secure the advantage of the cheaper rates that the company has applied to the railroad commission for permission to shorten the night hours and give the day staff something to do. The condition was set forth to the board today by Vice-President Vance Lane and Attorney W. W. Morison for the company. They said that so many business men waited with their long distance calls until night that the work of the night force was rapidly increasing and business was becoming so congested that it was impossible to handle it to the best advantage. The proposition was made to reduce the number of hours when night rates are in effect.

At present reduced charges are made on telephone connections between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. in Nebraska. There are no night rates for points in Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

The Railroad commission has received a complaint from a number of business firms that the telephone company is making an unreasonable charge for locating their traveling representatives on the road. This matter was taken up with the officials of the company today. They explain that it was not uncommon for a wholesaler to submit a list of ten or a dozen or even as many as thirty towns to the telephone company at which its representatives might be found. The operators would then be obliged to call up the different places in turn until the person was located. It is frequently necessary to use a messenger and the custom has prevailed of charging 10 cents for each town called whether anyone is found there or not. The commission discussed the service with the telephone officials, and while not making any ruling, was inclined to believe the charge just.

Official figures are now obtainable in the Sixth and Ninth judicial districts, as follows:

Sixth District—G. H. Thomas (ful.), 6,681; C. E. Abbott (rep.), 5,555; J. C. Martin (rep.), 5,523; H. H. Hellenbeck (rep.), 5,139.

Ninth District—A. Welch (rep.), candidate to fill vacancy, 7,028. For the full term Judge Welch received 3,260 votes, having no opposition in the district.

Brief in Oil Rate Case.

Railroads of the state today filed a brief with the State Railway commission in reply to the application for a reduction in oil rates made by the Marshall Oil company, the National Petroleum association, and the National Refining company. By way of argument, it is claimed that if the oil rates were cut down in Nebraska the result would be to discriminate against other commodities on which rates will remain the same. Then the brief asserts that the effect of the reduction asked for, or any reduction, would not be for the benefit of consumers, but only for the benefit of particular shippers.

One of the complaints of the oil companies is that under the present rates they cannot compete with the Standard Oil company.

EXPERIMENT MAY COST EYESIGHT

Utica Man Throws Lighted Match Into Powder Can.

UTICA, Neb., Nov. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—Jerry Barber, who lives in the south part of town, tried to see how quick a can of powder would explode. He lighted a match and threw it into the can, which contains about six tablespoonful of powder. The can was thrown into the air and struck the face of Barber, burning it and very nearly putting out both of his eyes. He was taken to a doctor, who dressed his wounds, but who could do nothing for his eyes. He was taken to Seward to an oculist, who will look after his eyes. It is very doubtful whether they can be saved.

Lee Smith Has Prize Ear of Corn.

PORT CALHOUN, Neb., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Lee Smith of De Soto has proven to the agricultural world that he can raise corn that no man need ever be ashamed of. In a world-wide contest, Mr. Smith took second prize for largest ear of corn. Recently Mr. Smith picked an ear of corn from his field that made his prize ear look small. This ear had twenty-eight rows of kernels, with sixty kernels in each row. This is the largest ear of corn known to have been picked from Nebraska fields.

Mr. Smith is one of the foremost corn breeders in the nation and devotes more of his time each year to better corn and more of it. He has been a corn breeder for many years, inheriting the occupation from his father, who, before his death, was known for miles around as "Corn" Smith.

Stolen Property and Man Found.

HARRISON, Neb., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—B. L. Von returned today from Hot Springs, S. D., having in custody the horse belonging to John J. Davis of this place. Besides taking the horse the fellow is said to have burglarized the harness shop of Francis Deuel and stolen a revolver, some ammunition and other articles. He was arrested at Hot Springs with the horse and other stolen goods in his possession. He will give no information as to himself, his name or home, and has the appearance of being an experienced crook.

NEBRASKA NEWS NOTES.

UTICA—Snow fell here yesterday and today and it has been raining since.

PLATTSMOUTH—H. N. Dorey, cashier of the First National bank here, stated today that in the employees of the Burlington in the shops here would be paid tomorrow with checks issued by the banks in Omaha.

FREMONT—The Fremont banks are continuing to cash checks from the banks in the present financial disturbance. Their cash deposits are running about the same as before and the financial stringency is not seriously affecting them.

LINCOLN—The first real cold snap of the winter, which began last night, has continued cold, with a northwest wind. The temperature registered below zero this morning. Farmers are nearly all done husking corn.

PLATTSMOUTH—The report that 30 men had been laid off in the local brick shops this morning proved upon investigation to be a constant ringing in the ears, a thin, watery discharge from the nostrils, a slight fever often accompanies the disease, and gradually the entire health becomes affected and the system upset and deranged. In its earlier stages, when Catarrh is confined to the nose and throat, sprays, washes, inhalations, etc., are soothing and in a way beneficial, because they are cleanly and usually antiseptic, but such treatment has no curative effect, because it does not reach the blood.

To cure Catarrh the blood must be purified, and this is just what S. S. S. does. It goes down into the circulation and attacks the disease at its foundation; it removes the cause and makes the blood pure and healthy. Then the blood vessels are filled with fresh, reinvigorated blood, which is carried to all the mucous surfaces and linings, the inflammation and Catarrh is permanently cured. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write.

FREMONT—Corra Smith, a 19-year-old girl of Blair, and Dan Cameron, a married man of 23 from the same town, were arrested at Hooper yesterday by Village Marshal W. W. Witte, on the complaint of Mrs. Cameron. The girl left Blair about two months ago and went to Hooper, where she secured a place in a hotel. Cameron left his wife and followed soon after. Mrs. Cameron went to Hooper yesterday to look after her

Andy is a Warm Member—Two minnmoth carrots and a bunch of radishes as big as our wrist—not the bunns but the radishes—were deposited on our table Friday by Andy Baird with the remark that "these were raised on Poverty Ridge." They were just as good as they looked, too. We verily believe that Andy could raise prize-winning vegetables on a cement floor.—Central City Nonpareil.

Race Suicide—A Kansas City newspaper bemoans evidence of race suicide in the Missouri executive mansion, where the show-me theory does not appear to have become popular. Governor Folk has no children and several of his predecessors were minus such incumbences. Here in Nebraska it is different. Governor Sheldon has four little ones to put their feet under or upon his table and Governor Mickey, just ahead of him, had seven. There have been occasional unproductive spots in Nebraska gubernatorial history, but never anything alarming nor worthy of comment.—Fremont Tribune.

Mell's Chicken Industry—Mel Schmied, who on most occasions can handle trouble with as little worry as any one of them, has branched into a new industry, i. e., raising chickens. If our experience is any criterion to judge from, he is now up against a proposition wherein the shortest way out of the trouble is via the frying pan route. There are several hundred different kinds of feed and people enough to advocate the use of every one of them, certain ways to build your roosts, nests, how to prevent and cure diseases, and ways without number to make them lay. Mell says the one advantage he had foremost in mind when he bought said chickens was that when a customer came in and demanded fresh eggs he could take them to the front door and let them listen to his hens cackle, thus driving away all doubt as to the freshness of the eggs.—North Nebraska Eagle.

WOMAN SURPRISES THE MEN

Jumps Off Moving Car Backward and Does Not Even Stumble.

"Wait till the car stops, lady," yelled a conductor on a Benson car at Eighteenth and Cumings streets Monday morning. "You're too slow for me," replied the women, and with that she jumped off backward, of course. Several men passengers and the conductor grabbed for her when they saw she was really going to jump. Others turned their heads to be spared the sight. The conductor says three quick bells as she jumped and the car was brought to a standstill with a jerk, but all to no avail. She had jumped off backward. Before the conductor and passengers could recover their senses she was tripping lightly across the street.

NO TIME TO FIND INNOCENCE

Jury in Prof. Seaton Case Returns Verdict on the First Bellet.

"The jury did not wait twelve hours to hand in a verdict because it required that length of time for deliberation, but only because of a question of legality as to returning the verdict on Sunday," said Prof. A. H. Waterhouse, principal of the Omaha high school, who attended the trial of Prof. J. W. Seaton of the Peru Normal school at Auburn. The fact is, as was generally understood, the jury lost no time in arriving at a verdict; it found Mr. Seaton not guilty on Monday morning. However, through the usual routine process, the verdict was reached, and as there was a question in the minds of some about returning the verdict on Sunday it was finally decided after this question had been settled, as it was late, not to report the finding until during the day. The jurors retired and gave in their verdict about 11 o'clock Sunday morning. It is only fair to Mr. Seaton to bring out clearly this fact, that the jury did not spend time in deliberating on the verdict, but it was to any other fair-minded man or men proved conclusively the utter lack of foundation for the malicious charge.

"We, who are friends of Mr. Seaton, who know him to be a strong and clean man and an able educator, of course, are gratified at this verdict though we knew."

Of course, no other verdict was possible in the light of the facts. "It is too bad such a charge can be trumped up against an innocent man, but Mr. Seaton has come out of this with his reputation unscathed. It will not hurt him a particle and he will go on with his work as before. The board of directors of the board attended the trial, determined that its verdict would be sufficient for them."

handicap of a new schedule a hard wind swept the entire route, blowing about as it did in Omaha, which made fast time almost out of the question.

Some of those who went to work in the freight department of the Burlington headquarters Monday morning, all because of a late twenty-five-mile walk which they engaged in Saturday afternoon, when the members of the Marathon club walked from Meadville, a station on the Burlington line, to the mouth of the Platte river, to Omaha. Some have sore feet and John Leary has such a sore arm he can't hold a pen. When the distance will be cut to fifteen miles, and it is now thought more members of the club will enter the contest.

ELECTION BOARDS CARELESS

Imperfect Work Delays the Task of Canvassing Returns of Last Tuesday.

Carelessness on the part of judges and clerks in making election returns is delaying the count by the canvassing board. The election boards of two precincts, the Third precinct of the Third ward and the Third precinct of the Fifth ward forgot to make any returns at all on the annexation and bonds questions and those of the First precinct of the Fifth ward, is the victim of the Fifth ward. The Second precinct of the Fifth ward and the Second precinct of the Eighth ward made obvious mistakes in transferring the figures from the machine to the books. The canvassing board have sent notices to the judges to bring the duplicate returns and unless the errors are corrected from them it will be necessary to open the machines in the defaulting precincts and get the figures direct. The count will require two or three more days at least.

FIRST VICTIM OF FORGER

Clothing Store Reports Dealings with Suspect Taken in by the Police.

The Nebraska Clothing company, Fifteenth and Farnam streets, the first to report the Fifth ward, is the victim of a check artist, who was arrested Sunday morning at a leading hotel and gave his name as E. H. Ford. He passed checks on that company to the aggregate of $90. The checks were signed "J. B. Farwell & Co.," and were made payable to E. P. Rosa. The checks appear to be genuine and the police are of opinion Ford got hold of some of Rosa's mail and procured the checks in that manner. The Nebraska Clothing company has attached Ford's belongings at the police station in order to get even on the checks. Ford bought a fair sized bill of goods from that concern and tendered the checks in payment, receiving the difference back in cash. The police are busy looking up Ford's record in other cities.

Miss Mary E. Orr, who has just been elected a member of the board of directors of the Relington Typewriter company, is a woman of more than one distinction. She is the first woman who has ever been elected to the directorate of a great corporation and she is also the speediest operator who ever wrote on a writing machine. She entered the Relington's employ as a stenographer and subsequently became their expert in speed contests, winning every event in which she entered up to the international championship, with a speed record which has never since been equaled in public competition.
