

$25.00 REWARD

Will be paid for the arrest and conviction of any person greasing the track, placing obstructions on the track or throwing stones or other missiles through the windows of cars.

Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway Co.

The above offer of reward is prompted by the lawless acts committed by boys in various sections of the city during the past few weeks.

On Saturday, October 26th, a car of this company ran into a moving freight train at the Belt Line crossing on Dodge street because boys had greased the track; the car was wrecked, the motorman and one passenger injured, and twenty-five other passengers had a very narrow escape. Since then the same act has been repeated in different parts of the city and boys have also thrown stones, ears of corn and other missiles through the windows of cars, injuring passengers by flying glass.

United States District Attorney Goss began suit in the United States District court Tuesday morning against the Northwestern railway for four instances of the violation of the 28-hour law in the transportation of live stock. The law provides for a penalty of $50 for any railway company failing to unload live stock while in transit at least once in every twenty-eight hours for feed and water. The aggregate suits against the Northwestern will reach $2,000.
Under instruction from the Department of Justice suit will shortly be brought against the Union Pacific Railway company by the United States for damages sustained to government property by flooding the quartermaster depot grounds and buildings last summer as a result of the railroad company building a retaining wall and adequate culvert adjacent to the quartermaster depot. During the heavy rains the water backed up into the government grounds seriously damaging some of the buildings and stores contained therein. The damages were fixed by a board of survey at about $150 at the time, but since then it is found that the damage is nearly double that amount.

WATER COMPANY WINS CASE
Decision in Hydrant Rental Suit Reversed on Appeal.
REMANDED FOR A NEW TRIAL
Total Sum of Money Involved is About Quarter of Million Dollars—Water Board Attorney Silent.
The Omaha Water company has won its case against the city of Omaha, or the Water board, for hydrant rentals. World was received Tuesday by Attorney Hall & Stout for the Omaha Water company that Judge Hood of the United States court of appeals had reversed the decision of Judge Munger of the United States circuit court, with costs, and the cases had been remanded for a new trial. The cases immediately in issue are for hydrant rentals for the year 1906 and involve about $150,000, although the same principle is involved in subsequent cases brought by the Omaha Water company for each half year since that time, the total sum being about $250,000.
Since the city of Omaha, that is, the Water board, claiming it was without authority to levy taxes to pay hydrant rentals, has compelled the Omaha Water company to sue in the federal court for each half year's rental. The two cases for the year 1906 were united into one case and a jury in the federal court. Both sides asked Judge W. H. Munger to instruct the jury to bring in a verdict for them. The city claimed that the water company had not fulfilled its contract by putting in a sufficient number of new hydrants when required and also that it had furnished an insufficient water power. Judge Munger ordered a verdict for the city on the ground that the Omaha Water company could not recover the contract price, but must sue for the amount of service rendered.
Appeal from Munger Ruling.
Judge Munger's decision was appealed from by the Omaha Water company to the United States circuit court of appeals January 12, this year, and was argued at St. Louis, Mo., by Hall and Mansfield representing the water company and Carl C. Wright and John L. Webster representing the Water board.
The grounds for the reversal are not as yet known in Omaha, as the telegram to Hall & Stout simply said that November 8, at St. Paul, Judge Hook of the United States circuit court of appeals filed the opinion in the case, reversing the case with costs and remanding the cause with orders to grant a new trial.
The amount involved for the last half of 1906 was $47,772.97 and for the first half of 1907 was $47,222.51.
Mr. Hall was out of the city, and Attorney Wright for the Water board said he had no word concerning the case and did not know what the grounds for reversal were. A telegram, however, was sent to St. Louis asking the clerk of the court to forward at once a copy of the opinion.

Starvation Sits At Loaded Tables
You Can Lead a Dyspeptic to the Table, but You Cannot Make Him Eat.
There comes a time in the lives of a great many men and women when even a sizzling steak ceases to be poetry. It becomes a protest. The appetite becomes stiff and fretful. Nothing on the bill of fare can coax it.
The appetite is there and yet it isn't. This makes eating a mere matter of will and muscle. It doesn't water. The stomach has been worked overtime, and the body and the brain are paying the penalty.
There are thousands of people in every station of life who are walking on earth who are suffering from dyspepsia.
What if a Man Gains the Whole World—and Loses His Appetite?
today with dyspeptic stomach. They wear a dejected, forlorn appearance, their energy is at zero, nothing interests them, and they find it hard to get up in the morning. Their nerves are wilted and their shoulders sag.
Everything on the table may look delicious, but nothing will be tempting. That's one sure sign of dyspepsia.
If you have ever felt bloated after eating and imagine it was your food that filled you; if you have felt your food "like a lump of lead" on your stomach; if you have had a bad, sour breath, difficulty in breathing after a meal, suffered from eructations, burning sensations, heartburn, brass, or gas on the stomach, make up your mind you have dyspepsia. And the chances are you have had it a long time.
Your stomach is overworked, abused, fagged out. The gastric and digestive juices are weak, the muscles of the stomach are jaded, and the whole business needs new life. It needs something that will take hold of your food as it comes in and do the digesting, and let your stomach take a rest.
Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do that very thing. They contain a most powerful ingredient which helps the stomach in the process of digestion, cures dyspepsia, sour stomach, indigestion, heartburn, eructations, acidity or fermentation. They invigorate the stomach, increase the flow of gastric juice, and do two-thirds of what the stomach would have to do without them. That gives the stomach some rest, and a chance to get right again.
You will feel the change first in your mind, heart and nerves. Then your whole body. You'll feel rosy and sweet. That's the object. You can get these effective little tablets almost anywhere on earth for 50c a package.
Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

REMANNED FOR A NEW TRIAL
Like Riding a Rough Sea, Protests George E. Payne to County Board.
While riding the wavelets on the Dodge street road George E. Payne of the Payne Investment company broke the axle of his automobile Tuesday morning and he immediately made a vigorous protest to the county board over the condition of the macadam paving on Dodge street.
"It is an outrage," he declared, "that the paving should be allowed to become as it is. This morning, coming in to town in my car, it felt like I was riding on a choppy sea. The rough pavement was responsible for the breaking of an axle on my machine and it will cost me $40 to repair it. The contractors who are grading in and about Dundee have been hauling the dirt from the road in large wagons and scattering it over the top of the pavements. If this continues the road will be almost impassable when winter comes."
The commissioners admitted that the road was in a bad condition and laid the blame on the contractors. The clay and dirt deposited on the road in large quantities is picked up by the wheels of wagons passing over the road and it carries parts of the macadam with it. This, according to some of the commissioners, leaves small holes in the road, which make it very rough. Mr. Payne was directed to lay his complaint before Commissioner Ure of the road committee.
POLICE AFTER LEAF BURNERS
Officers Sent to Residence Districts to Suppress This Injury to Asphalt Streets.
The basis of Omaha policemen are wider at this time of the year than in any other season. Staid householders have been surprised to see blue-clad men on streets where their visits are as intrusive as the provincial visit of angels and some have asked explanations. The answer is always the same. "Some one has been burning weeds and leaves on the pavements."
One of the officers who has been detailed to exercise supervision of a district during the high school declares the habit of burning dead leaves on the pavements is growing and that it does more than any other one thing to destroy asphalt, while stone pavement is often severely damaged by such fires.
"If all pavements were of brick and the fires could be kept from the gutters there would be little trouble over the matter," said he, "but the greater number of pavements are asphalt or stone and these are damaged by even small fires."
It has been suggested that the attention of householders be called to the ordinances governing this matter before orders are issued or strict enforcement of the law.
Fellow with Pockets Full of Paper Representing Money Held for Trial.
Ed Ross, one of the many aliases used by the man arrested in the Paxton hotel Sunday morning with a pocket full of checks, was arraigned before Judge Crawford of police court Tuesday morning on the charge of forgery. He waived examination Monday morning over to the district court in the sum of $100.
Although he had checks on numerous banks in his pocket and they are filled out in various amounts and signed with various names, so far as known to the Nebraska Check company, they are all forgeries. That company will lose nothing, however, as it has attached property belonging to the check artist sufficient in value to compensate for their loss. Ross has not as yet furnished a bond and is confined in the city jail.
Cured of Bright's Disease.
Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmore, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." For sale by all druggists.

Souza is incomparable as a program holder, a master of concert giving, and goes through his musical library, one of the most complete and extensive in existence, compiles a half score or more programs that balance perfectly, harmonize like mosaics in the finest gem of art coloring and design, and they will, all in all, precisely conform to every region visited and be confirmed with ardor. But Souza will tell you that it is not child's play to compile a dozen or score of programs that the public as a whole will fully approve. A right program is half the battle. Souza and his band will give a concert at the Auditorium, Sunday afternoon and night, November 17.
Railway Notes and Personal.
F. A. Nash, general western agent of the Milwaukee, has returned from Chicago. Superintendent Nichols of the Omaha road has gone to St. Paul and Chicago for a short trip.
L. M. Shipley, superintendent of the Chicago Great Western at Clarion, was in Omaha Tuesday.
F. W. Hanno has been appointed resident engineer of the Utah division of the Union Pacific, with headquarters at Ogden.
Hal Buckingham, chief clerk of the freight department of the Burlington, has gone to Kansas City to attend a rate check meeting.
The new freight headquarters office of the Northwestern was opened for business at Fremont Monday morning. The old depot will be converted into a yard office.
The Northwestern moved another trainload of army goods this morning. The train consisted of a car of ammunition, two cars of canned goods, one car of clothing and one car of supplies from Fort Leavenworth to Gettysburg.
The report is made that since Harriman secured 47 per cent of the stock of the Southern Pacific that road has spent $16,000,000 in improvements. In one year the total income of the road was $20,000,000, or 6 per cent of the total of the year before.
A meeting of the field men of the passenger department of the Burlington to the number of 101 was held in Chicago Monday evening and the topics of discussion were in connection with their work. Among other things considered was the best method of advertising.
Kentucky, with a population of fifty-five to each square mile, has but 21 miles of railway line for each 100 square miles and but 14.5 miles for each 10,000 inhabitants. Indiana, just across the river, with a population of seventy-five to each square mile, has 19.2 miles of railway line for each 100 square miles.
Since the railroads in this section have been shutting down on outdoor construction work for the summer the city ticket offices are crowded with laborers, going in search of work. Many of these laborers are bringing with them their pocketfuls of money. Many sons of sunny Indiana, returning home to spend the winter and many others are moving south where the winter will be less severe.

To contradict certain talk and to put the consuming public in possession of the truth, we say in plain words that no one in this town can sell as good coffee as Arbuckles' Ariosa for as little money.

Misbranded and make-believe Mocha and Java, or coffee sold loose out of a bag or a bin, is not as good value for the money, nor can it be sold at as narrow profit, nor reach the consumer under as favorable conditions.

When you buy Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee you get more than 16 net ozs. of straight, wholesome Brazilian coffee from the largest coffee firm in the world, with that firm's direct assurance that they are giving you the best coffee in the world for the money.

OLD HICKORY DAY SUPREME

Jacksonians Restore Annual Feast to the Democratic Calendar.

BRYAN AND JOHNSON TO MEET

Man from South to Start Fireworks at the Announcement Banquet is Slow in Coming to the Front.

The memory of "Old Hickory" must give place to modern exigencies and the annual banquet of the Jacksonian club of Nebraska is to be held January 4 in place of St. Jackson's day, because William Jennings Bryan and Governor Johnson of Minnesota have accepted invitations to be at some other place on the real anniversary of the day when General Pakenham found more than he expected behind the cotton bales at New Orleans.

The annual banquet of the Jacksonians is to be restored to its former place as the event of Nebraska Democracy if the plans now in the making are perfected. For a year or two, since the disastrous days of 1904, the banquet has been more of a home affair than it was before that time, but this year, with the example of the Dahman Democracy club's dinner to cheer them on, the Jacksonians feel they must make their banquet assume its former character. Mr. Bryan may announce his campaign plans at the Dahman dinner, but he must meet the man who may be his running mate at the Jacksonian banquet in Omaha. This is the idea of the committee in charge of the dinner.

That there is to be no rivalry between the clubs in their prandial efforts is demonstrated by the fact that the date of the banquet had been settled but a few hours when an envoy from the Jacksonians called upon Mayor Dahlman with a request for co-operation in securing speakers and in making other arrangements for the annual event.
