BARNEY COMMITS SUICIDE

President of Knickerbocker Trust Company Ends His Life.

SENDS BULLET INTO HEAD

New York Banker Dies Almost Instantly of Wound—In Pitiable Condition Since Recent Failure.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Charles T. Barney, president of the Knickerbocker Trust company, which recently closed its doors, committed suicide at his home this afternoon.

Mr. Barney was president of the Knickerbocker Trust company, which closed its doors at the beginning of the recent financial crisis. The institution was one of the largest trust companies in the city and had liabilities estimated at from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000.

Mr. Barney was 56 years old, a native of Cleveland, O., and for many years had occupied a prominent place in financial and social circles in this city. Aside from his connection with the Knickerbocker Trust company, he had been interested at various times in many other financial institutions and business enterprises.

It became known within the last few days that Mr. Barney was in a state of physical and mental collapse. His offices of the trust company, it was known this morning that his physical condition was very serious, and some of those who had known him intimately for years spoke of the pitiable condition he was in.

BONAPARTE WILL PRESIDE

Attorney General Will Be Chair at National Municipal League Meeting.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Attorney General Bonaparte will preside over the three days' convention of the National Municipal League in Providence, R. I., beginning November 19 and, in addition to other prominent men, there will be present the mayors of many cities and governors of half a dozen states.

Various reform plans of municipal government tried in Galveston, Des Moines and other cities will be discussed. Electoral forms will be set forth by men identified with the various movements for ballot reform and honest elections.

In his yearly report Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia, secretary of the National League, will review the municipal progress of the year, his subject being "Batting for Reform."

ASK NATIONAL MINING LAWS

Congress at Joplin Also Endorses Association of State Mining Schools.

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 14.—The American Mining Congress in session here today, unanimously adopted a resolution favoring national legislation governing mining and a resolution endorsing the National Association of State Mining Schools.

The resolution relating to mineral lands urges the enactment of laws for the protection of the rights of the people against the speculative acquisition of large areas of the national domain.

Dr. Victor C. Alderson, president of the Colorado School of Mines, made an address on the theme "What the Profession May Reasonably Expect from the Mining School Graduate."

THE RESULT WOULD WORK MUCH INCONVENIENCE.

As soon as the Creston banks learned of this notice they wrote the railroad company they would prefer to pay the checks in the usual way, provided the company could ship them a part of the money. The company agreed to do this, so it is certain that on pay day (November 21) here the employees will be paid in cash.

DEATH THE RESULT OF CRIME

Coroner Unable to Determine Who is Responsible for It, However.

"Death was caused by a criminal operation performed by someone unknown to this jury." That was the verdict of the coroner's jury that sat upon the inquest to determine the cause of the death of Daisy Belle Neligh, who died Monday in the house where she had been rooming with a man as his wife at 1815 Cass street.

The dead woman and her consort arrived at the man's rooming at the above address since October 20, and during the last two weeks she had been confined to her room. Monday her companion notified a local undertaker to come and get her body, and when the undertaker arrived the man was not to be found.

Suspicion was aroused and an investigation revealed that the two were not legally wedded. An autopsy was held Tuesday morning by Dr. Lavender, which revealed that her death was caused by a criminal operation.

At the coroner's inquest Wednesday afternoon the man who had been living with her put in an appearance. His name is Theodore Eorn. He is an old man, past 70. He testified that he had met the woman about three weeks ago and that he had lived with her as a servant to wait on her.

He said he took her to Dr. W. C. Upjohn twice, but did not know the nature of the doctor's treatment. Dr. Upjohn was put on the witness stand and testified that the woman had called on him twice and requested that he perform a dangerous surgical operation, but that he had refused to do so.

He did not remember her name, but from the description thought it was the woman in question. A brother of the dead woman from West Point was present at the inquest. He had the body sent to his home for burial Wednesday night.

FRANCE WANTS AGREEMENT

Will Send Over Twenty Millions in Gold for Tariff Pact.

J. P. MORGAN & CO WORKING DEAL. Collateral Will Doubtless Be Furnished and Metal Sent Over Anyway—Its Political Bearing.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—For several days reports have been in circulation that certain banking interests in this city are engaged in negotiations for the purpose of securing a large amount of gold direct from the Bank of France.

These reports also have intimated that certain political questions were involved in the negotiations, particularly with reference to some preferential tariff agreement. From authoritative sources it is learned that the effort to secure French gold direct was made by the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co.

At the first intimation of impending financial trouble a representative of the Morgan house went to Paris for this purpose. The Bank of France intimated its willingness to send to this country $20,000,000 gold, but desired some form of commitment from this government in so large a transaction.

Communication with Washington was at once begun and still continues in the effort to find some method by which the transaction can be completed. It is probable, however, that even in event the Washington officials cannot see their way to participate in the matter the gold will be brought over.

Collateral doubts can be given until the experts to France cover the amount, when the advance would be met by bills of exchange on Paris. It is stated that no profit whatever will result to the importers of the gold, but that on the contrary the transaction will mean a loss and that it is undertaken solely as a public spirited measure of relief for the existing currency situation.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The negotiations which J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. have been conducting with the bank of France to obtain between twenty and forty millions of gold for direct shipment to New York were broken off today. They had been in progress since last week and for a time seemed on the point of being successful, but the final demand that the United States government furnish a guarantee could not be complied with.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The United States today purchased $450,000 in bar gold and $272,000 in American eagles from the bank of Baltimore.

ROAD DENIES ALL BLAME. Burlington Official Says Somerset Shortage is Not Fault of Railroad.

"The report made to the Nebraska State Railway commission that there was a shortage of coal in some Nebraska towns, due to the negligence of the Burlington, is not founded on fact," said C. L. Dickson, superintendent of transportation of the Burlington. "The fact is there are over 100 cars of coal at the Denver yard waiting for re-shipment, which you are able to deliver to any town which might be short of coal."

In reference to an article appearing in The Omaha Bee on the evening of November 12 and morning of November 13, to the effect that the Burlington was delaying coal and that the supply for the town of Somerset, Nebraska, was exhausted, and the people were suffering as a result, I will state that the information furnished the newspapers in this instance is not in accordance with conditions, insofar as this company is concerned.

In the instance referred to I received a notice from the State Railway commission on the morning of November 13 that a citizen of Somerset had complained of delay to one car of coal, viz., Denver & Rio Grande 6294, alleged to have been shipped from the mines south of Denver during the latter part of October.

The car has not been turned over to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and we had received no previous request from anyone, as far as I am able to ascertain at this time, to look the shipment up. The general situation at the present time as far as coal supply on the Burlington is concerned.

We have been, throughout the summer and fall months, delivering a good supply of equipment to western connections for return commercial coal loading, and since the first of November have been offering to all lines all of the cars required for loading, and have been unable to arrange for acceptance of loading all of the equipment available at Denver for this purpose, evidently because of the fact that the mines have all the cars required, if

NO MORE SLEEP FOR SMO30. Burlington Installs Self-Registering Thermometers on All Sleeping Cars.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Soon there will be no more peaceful hours of slumber for the colored porters during their hours of duty on Burlington trains. In response to an instant appeal from the traveling public the management of the Burlington has decided to put every Pullman operated. This is a self-registering thermometer which makes black streaks on a sheet of paper, which can be read by the general manager or any one else. If the porter fell asleep and the heat went to 100, or if he permitted the chilling blasts to creep into the ventilators the fatal tracer of the "infernal" will retain the story.

Railroad Men to Get Cash. CRESTON, Ia., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—A few days ago the Burlington sent out notices that on all checks to employes on pay day over $5, but $2 would be paid in cash and the balance in Chicago clearing house certificates. This meant that practically all the employes at this place would get only a small portion of their wages in cash and tion. No one can estimate the chances of the party in the next campaign with sufficient accuracy to make his candidacy dependent upon the outlook. While the democrats have reason to be encouraged by the fact that democratic principles have grown in popularity and that democratic policies are now praised by many who denounced them a few years ago, and while further encouragement is to be derived from the fact that the democratic party is more united than it has been for many years, and the republican party more divided, still the action of the democratic party cannot be made dependent upon the prospect of success. The prospects now seem excellent, but a democratic national convention will be held, a platform adopted and candidates nominated whether the prospects are bright or gloomy, and the party must make the fight it can, whether it enters the campaign with fear or with confidence. Democrats believe that democratic principles are sound, and that democratic policies are necessary; they should, therefore, endorse those principles and present those policies and then select as their candidates those who, in their judgment, will give the party the greatest assurance of success in the campaign and the country the greatest assurance of benefit in case of victory.

"No man can ask for a nomination as a compromise if his nomination will not benefit the party, and no nomination would be justified in refusing a nomination if the party demanded his services, and if the members of the party believe that Mr. Bryan's nomination will help the party, its principles and its policies, he will accept the nomination whether the indications point to defeat or victory. A defeat can bring no disgrace when the defeat is a just one, but cowardice would be disgraceful, especially in one who is as deeply indebted to his party as Mr. Bryan.
