AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

South Omaha Packers Deny Any Effort to Manipulate Produce Market.

NO STORAGE ON FALLING PRICES Packers' Side of Reduction of Meat Prices When the Prices of Live Animals Go Down is Also Set Forth.

The condition of the produce market in South Omaha, it is alleged, does not warrant certain rumors from Chicago to the effect that the big packers are forcing a corner on butter, eggs and produce. The packers have been congratulating themselves here that they have their storage practically free from produce of all descriptions. Most of the butter now in the refrigerators has been consigned fully three months ago, and the same is true of the eggs. The amount still remaining in the packers' hands is very small. The companies are buying only for immediate orders and show no activity at present. In fact, the market has fallen 6 cents on butter and 5 cents on eggs since the money stringency developed. A similar drop is noted on all other products. It would appear that the bottom has not been reached and there is little danger of the packers becoming heavy buyers until the financial conditions become firm, and they are not at all inclined to buy at present on a rapidly falling market.

R. C. Howe of Armour & Co. said yesterday: "It doesn't look like we were making any attempt to secure the output of produce under the prevailing prices. Speculation in produce is a hazardous at best. Our buying and selling in these lines naturally are large, even when relatively we secure but a fraction of the produce. This uncertainty is the probable reason for the refusal of the Chicago packers to purchase such a volume at present on a falling market. It is the same with hogs. Today the prices jumped up 25 cents. The reason is purely local. We run short in a supply for local orders and we had to have some hogs, so we bid up."

Reasons for Meat Prices.

Managers H. S. Culver and R. C. Howe agreed in an explanation of certain outcries against the corporation heard in many quarters locally, because the packers have not raised the prices of fresh meats, notably pork, in comparison with the price of the animal at present paid for hogs. "The fact is," said Mr. Culver, "only 20 per cent of an animal killed for pork is sold as fresh meat. The rest is cured, as hams, bacon, salt or pickled pork, with a percentage of lard. All of this 80 per cent finds no market for thirty days, and often not for six or eight months. If the people who are complaining so bitterly will look at the quotations for hams, bacon or lard, they will find enough reduction to satisfy them. As soon as the stringency came we cut down the killing of hogs, so as at least to increase the output of cured pork. This cut off the supply of fresh pork, of which we cannot carry a large stock. The local demand remained as before, so the retailers began bidding up to get their supplies. It is active bidding on a reduced supply which has kept the price of fresh pork up. Most of the salt pork in our cellars comes out of 5 cent hogs, and we have been wishing we had our cellars clear. Bidding on futures at present shows that we will do well to come out even on the season's storage, and it is easily possible to raise the market and make the prices for fresh pork cover the losses on the cured meat we shall be more than satisfied."

"What is true of pork naturally holds with beef and mutton, although these commodities are not nearly so extensively cured. A general reduction in the price of live animals has kept the price of beef higher in the retail market than the prices of live animals might appear to justify. The retail market cannot change as spontaneously as the live

THEN CUTICURA MAKES COMPLETE CURE IN 5 DAYS

"It is in my opinion my only joy to join those who praise the Cuticura Remedies. After my granddaughter of about four years of age, who had been cured of the measles, she was attacked about a fortnight later by a furious itching humors, especially under the arms, of considerable size. She suffered from it for three weeks, and was nursed her every night, using all the remedies we could think of. Nothing would help, until we heard of Cuticura Remedies. We sent for them and after twenty-four hours we noted considerable improvement, and after using only one complete set of the Cuticura Remedies, in five consecutive days the little one, much to our joy, has been entirely cured, and has been well for a long time. Mrs. P. Ruefenacht, R. F. D. 3, Bakerfield, Cal., June 25 and July 20, 1906."

Thirty Days for Wife Beater.

Vall Svalenka of Brown Park got thirty days in the county jail yesterday morning for beating his wife Tuesday evening. He works at the Omaha Packing company. He lived at Twenty-first and S streets. He came home after work and not finding things to his liking broke up the sewing machine with an ax. His wife was not in the room and when she returned she ventured to protest. He then seized her and threw her on the floor and struck her several times. She had him arrested. His defense was that the woman refused to do any work for him and to cook his meals. She said she did not want him around her at all. She owns the house and he has been married to her only four months. She has a daughter from a former marriage.

Fight for Paving Contract.

Dan Hannon says he will defend his rights against the city of South Omaha to the last ditch. These he believes have been infringed in the recent action of the city council in awarding the contract for the paving of Q street from Twelfth to Twenty-fourth. He said: "They are not going to rub it in like that with me. I have my samples of brick here and I also have the representative of the company manufacturing these paving blocks, who will agree to test with any paving brick manufactured by the Paragon company." Mr. Hannon has not published his plans yet, but he has a determined plan of action, which probably will develop today. He went to the mayor last night to ask him to veto the resolution of the council awarding the contract to the National Construction company.

WALTERS SENT THE CARS

Shows This Can Be Done When Imperative Orders Come from Headquarters.

A superintendent of transportation is able to dig up freight cars when he has imperative orders to do so, as shown by a story on General Manager Walters of the Northwestern when he was trainmaster on the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern railroad. He received an order from General Manager Ives reading: "Send fifty grain cars to Iowa Falls" division by 6 p. m. No reply."

In telling the story on Mr. Walters a friend of his said:

"Things did not look very favorable for carrying out that order, so Mr. Walters told me, but there was no question about the authority which issued that order and there was not much doubt in Mr. Walters' mind that it must be obeyed. He must send the cars whether he had them or not. Well, he searched the system and gathered up fifty grain cars and sent them to the Iowa Falls division by 6 p. m. that day. Mr. Walters forgot about the end of that

The leader will report that the environment in most of the army posts and naval stations has been had and the men have been subjected to all sorts of evil temptations. While the Young Men's Christian association has been able to change these in some instances, only a start has been

UTES DECIDE TO GO TO WORK

Indians Accept Railroad Employment, Which is Tantalum to Solution of Problem.

Word has been received at Omaha army headquarters from Colonel Frank West, now at Thunder Buttes, S. D., that fifty or more of the Ute Indians have finally concluded to go to work and that others are likely to follow this commendable example. This is regarded as almost a solution of the Indian troubles prevailing there. The Indians will be put at railroad work on the Milwaukee extension north of Thunder Buttes.

Walters were at a very quiet and uninteresting stage with the Indians which is due largely to the show of force indicating to the dissatisfied Utes that the government does not intend to temporize in any degree.
