POPULISTS SOON TO CONFER

National Committee Will Meet at St. Louis Tuesday.

MAY MEAN TOM WATSON AGAIN

Chairman Ferriss Declares His Party is Pleased with Trend of Sentiment Guaranteeing Deposits.

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 22.—The populist national committee will have a conference at St. Louis November 26, at the Hotel St. James. In addition to members of the national committee, friends and advisers have been called in and the meeting may result in the fixing of a time and place for holding the convention of 1908 and the renomination of Tom Watson of Georgia.

National Chairman James H. Ferriss of Joliet said today: "The meeting is timely, for in a measure our party is a calamity party, but really calamity is not the motive this time. The populists are pleased with the trend of public sentiment, for the people were never more patriotic in time of war than in this financial crisis. Best of all, the government is with us for the first time in my remembrance on a like occasion."

"By the way, Bryan has hit the keynote. Let the government guarantee the bank deposits. It is easy as guaranteeing the bank notes and quite inexpensive. A tax on the bank deposits of less than one-half of one per cent in one year would pay all the losses from national banks since they were organized."

"The government should issue all circulating notes direct and attend to the elastic feature automatically or otherwise. In short, the government should go a little further into the banking business, as other governments do, and the banks should recede a little from government business."

Mr. Ferriss denied that an alliance was being arranged with either the Hearst independence league or prohibitionists, but he added: "We feel individually as friendly to either as we do to Bryan or Roosevelt. We are pleased that they are going our way and would be more pleased if they would go further. All of our planks led in public discussion when our call was issued. Now comes the financial issue, the keystone of our party structure, and on this the populist idea is the best. I think you will see an address sent out from the St. Louis meeting, respectful, sensible and to the point."

BADGERS AND GOPHERS TIE

Minnesota and Wisconsin Teams Score Seventeen Points Each.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 23.—Playing against heavy odds, Wisconsin's fighting foot ball heroes held the Minnesota eleven to a tie score of 17 to 17, on Camp Randall field this afternoon. Wisconsin clearly won the game on straight foot ball, but Minnesota's star drop kicker, Capron, negotiated three drop kicks from the field and added 12 points to Minnesota's only touchdown.

Wisconsin scored all its points in the first half on three touchdowns and two goals. In the second half, Chestnut scored a quarter and Harry Capron to left end, George Capron kicked off to Fucik, who was downed on Wisconsin's fifteen-yard line. Messer kicked to the center of the field. Minnesota gained twenty yards on straight foot ball. Capron kicked a field goal from the forty-yard line. Score: Wisconsin, 17; Minnesota, 17. Time was called with the ball in the center of the field. The line-up:

TALKS ON TEETH

By E. R. L. Murphy, D. D. S.

TEETH WITHOUT PLATES

Teeth without plates—ordinary bridge work that is the last achievement in the science of dentistry. Sounds wonderful, does it not?

A few years ago we announced to the world that we had a process by which all the missing teeth could be replaced without ordinary bridge work.

All we required was that the patient have two or more teeth left in either jaw—sound or loose—and with these as a basis we promised to restore those which had been lost by disease (pyorrhea) or through ignorant dental work.

We follow nature's plan as closely as possible and set each tooth in a socket—the whole frame work being anchored by the two or more teeth remaining in the jaw.

You can use these Alveolar teeth with as much comfort as you could those nature gave you in the beginning and they will not cause you any pain or inconvenience.

In short, we give you a new set of teeth—to use in just the same way you would use the teeth if a new set were to grow in your jaw.

Now, isn't this worth investigating? If you are suffering with a torturing "bridge" or a bothersome makeshift of a partial plate that you wear in your pocket half the time—let it worth your while to follow the lead of those 1000 people who are enjoying good teeth and consequently good health.

You can have an examination of your teeth free of any charge or obligation by calling at our office.

We are general practitioners, and because of the skill required to do the Alveolar work our operators are better able to do the simpler forms of dental work necessary—so you will be better served in these offices than by the average dentist, who has no such training and experience over our men have had.

The Alveolar Method is so radical a step in advance that it must be proclaimed abroad to the multitude, else we would be hiding our light under a bushel.

Don't say we don't make "teeth without plates"—"It can't be done!" We said a few years ago that Marconi couldn't send messages through trade without wires, but we are doing that very thing today—and greater things shall follow.

Don't condemn us without investigation. If we can do what we claim we deserve consideration—and we are ready to demonstrate and prove our claims at any time—and submit testimony from thousands of satisfied patients.

Send for our free book, "Alveolar Dentistry," which will be mailed to you thoroughly—if you can't visit our offices in person.

If you have read the book you will want to come to us, no matter how great the sacrifice.

Needless to add that this work can only be obtained at one of our regular offices. There is nothing just as good to be had elsewhere—no done by misled unscrupulous dentists who would try to make you believe there was nothing in the Alveolar Method.

Will you investigate the Alveolar Method today?

HELP FROM STATE

Danish system in Ireland are increasing. A few days ago the Cork county council appropriated $3,000 for the establishment of a model farm where a scientific dairy will be established under the charge of experts and a careful record kept of the results.

Farmers will be invited to visit it, and all the information gained will be at their disposal free of charge. Several other county and rural councils are considering the establishment of similar experimental farms and the success of the Cork experiment will be watched with much interest.

of his uncle's stern and mortally wounds him in the duel that follows.

The duel is a transport of grief and rage, after having vainly tried her blandishments on the colonel. Incidental to this skeleton of tragedy is a fine accompaniment of comedy, so that the ugliness of the story is much relieved and the whole play is one that is much enjoyed.

Mr. Skinner finds in the character of the colonel one that he likes. It is a bluff, somewhat rough, decidedly blunt and a little given to swagger. Not that the colonel ever forgets his manners, for at any point in the delicate panicle of the period in dealing with his equals, but towards the woman he has set about to dispose of his uncle's means he shows only the one side of his character.

He is a man of a household that is dominated by an adventuress, and in the course of establishing himself and reinstating his uncle he deals very decisively with the cause of the trouble.

In no way does the play compare in strength with either of his recent productions, but as a story it is worth while. He gives it with directness and force and with his customary sincerity and careful attention to details.

Miss Haswell, who faced her first Omaha audience last night, made her entrance unobscured, but at her final exit carried the support in which she carried and maintained that is sufficiently exciting to enlist the best efforts of any woman. In Paris the piece was written as a play for a woman star, and the creator of the role was applauded by the Parisian critics for her work. It has hardly been shown of its importance in the present instance, and Miss Haswell fairly shared with her in the credit for the play's success here.

The character is that of a girl who has come up from poverty, having been taken into the house as a servant and through her machinations and by playing on the affections of the old man, raising herself to the position of all but absolute mistress of his home and fortune. She caresses and wheedles, browbeats and bullies him, and makes him miserable under pretext of making him happy. In the meantime she comes into contact with a number of half-pay officers of the army of Napoleon, and naturally forms an alliance with one, who is not only handsome and dashing, with an air of good fellowship, but is thoroughly unscrupulous. She loves him unreservedly, and aids him in duping the old man to the end that they may secure his money and leave him straggled by his foolish hide.

Miss Haswell makes this very plain, but in the end not a little sympathetic, and out to her in her genuine grief for the death of her lover. Her terror, too, at the menace of the duel and her efforts to prevent the quarrel, is very naturally portrayed. All in all, she makes the character distinct in its many phases and gives to its warmth an attractive life.

Mr. Carlisle as Commandant Gilet, the paramour of Madam Flora, has the other important role of the cast, and brings to it careful and understanding effort. The others in the cast are well placed and do their work thoroughly well, very good. It was a most enthusiastic audience that assembled at the Boyd theater last night, and the reception given Mr. Skinner and his associates was far more than cordial. After the second act he and Miss Haswell were called out several times to bow their thanks, and at last Mr. Skinner was brought before the curtain to express for himself and company appreciation of the welcome given them.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

John P. Fennell, Secretary of the City Clerk, Tenders Resignation.

TAKES UP HOMESTEAD IN DAKOTA

High School Boys Turn Out Today and Tear Down Old Y. M. C. A. Building and Clean Off the Bricks Ready for Use.

John P. Fennell, secretary to the city clerk, has resigned his position to take effect December 1. Mr. Fennell has been connected with the clerk's office for nearly two years, and has done all the stenographic work of the office. He introduced the new system of loose leaf journal for the council proceedings, which has proved the nearest possible mode of preserving the record. All of the council proceedings are thereby done in typewritten form. The clerk has valued his work highly. Mr. Fennell is to go to Pierre, S. D., where he intends to take up a homestead claim. He has had the project in view for some time, and visited the place about two months ago.

The city clerk has secured the services of D. Horrigan, an attorney who recently moved to South Omaha. Mr. Horrigan comes well recommended. He is a graduate of the State university, and has been located in Omaha previous to his moving to South Omaha. Mr. Horrigan will come into the office in a day or two to learn the routine of the work.

Controversy Over Street Signs

George D. Nichols of Clyde, O., was in South Omaha yesterday morning in the interests of the American Sign company. He hopes to get the council to rescind its action in granting to E. L. Clapp the contract to put up street signs on the corners of the city. The council authorized the mayor to enter into a contract for this work.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Paul F. Voelker, under the auspices of the local Young Men's Christian association, will deliver his lecture on "Human Nature" Monday evening at the high school auditorium. Mr. Voelker comes as the third number of the lecture course. He has a long list of recommendations as a public entertainer. He is said to be a most attractive and magnetic speaker. He takes a specially humorous view of the little eccentricities which have much to do with the differences and variety of human character. The management feels that it has secured a lecture well worth hearing. The patronage of the public is earnestly solicited.

The high school boys have volunteered their services today for the purpose of taking down the brick walls of the old gymnasium in the association. They expect to do all the work in a few hours. The bricks will be cleaned and made ready for the reconstruction of the gymnasium in its new quarters. The boys are divided into squads, who will contend to see which can clean the largest supply of brick. Russell Philip, Constance Ingraham, Ralph Coppenhaver and Charles Burke will be captains of the several squads. They will put in all day if necessary. The young women of the high school will prepare and serve a dinner to the boys after their work is completed in the parlors of the Methodist church.

The excavation for the new gymnasium will be completed today. This has required nearly all of the week. A permanent foundation will be built and the present gymnasium erected on the foundation.

Whenever it is necessary to build a new building the foundation will be that advanced and permanently done. A swimming pool and bath is to be constructed. This will occupy the basement under the gymnasium.
