Witness, Attorney, Witness in One.—In the triple capacity of plaintiff, attorney and witness, J. Tammann, an American rug dealer, is trying a case in Judge Reick's court against Frank Crawford. Tammann cleaned and repaired some rugs for Crawford and tendered a bill for $52. Mrs. Crawford paid him $35, but refused to pay him more, asserting he had overcharged.

Tammann is now suing Crawford for $17 and is fighting his case through the courts himself without the aid of a lawyer. He went on the stand as a witness in his own behalf Monday morning and asked himself searching questions about the case. At times during his self-examination he would leave the witness stand to argue the admissibility of evidence.

PRESSMEN'S PRESIDENT HERE

Head of International Organisation Looking Over Situation in the West.

George F. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen's union, visited Omaha Monday, in consultation with the local officers of the union and others interested in the lockout inaugurated by some of the employing printers recently. Mr. Berry declined to visit any of the employers for fear it might be construed into a violation of the restraining order issued against him and Secretary Mullen of the pressmen at Cincinnati. He says he is very carefully avoiding anything that might possibly be construed as contempt of Judge Thompson's order, pending a final hearing of the case, which will be had shortly.

In regard to the contempt charges made against him in connection with his recent circular letters to the pressmen, announcing the result of the referendum vote of the membership of the union, Mr. Berry said he admitted the authorship of the circulars in court, and was closely examined by attorneys for the typographers, but at the close of the hearing Judge Thompson dismissed the charges, saying that no contempt had been established, and that the circulars sent out by Berry were proper under the circumstances. The court also requested the attorneys for both sides to prepare their case as soon as possible, in order that a final hearing could be had, adding that he was convinced the restraining order issued had done an injustice to the pressmen.

Mr. Berry came from Kansas City and will remain here at once, as are employing printers of that town have recently concluded an eight-hour contract with the printers' union and are now negotiating a similar contract with the pressmen.

BISHOP GETS GOOD BARGAIN

Such is Opinion of Realty Men of Leavenworth Deal.

MANY REAL ESTATE DEALS

Burley Printing Company Begins Removal of Hill at Fifteenth and Jones Streets for New Building.

Real estate men of Omaha were interested in the purchase of the corner lot at Fifteenth and Leavenworth streets from David Cole by St. Philomena's church corporation and which is to be used for a new Catholic school. The lot now contains frame buildings valued at less than $1,500, while the bishop of Omaha proposes to make large expenditures for a school and perhaps a church.

The interest in the well known corner centers in the fact that it has a history in the courts and has been the subject of contention between foreign syndicates and former Omaha men for many years and while it is believed Mr. Cole will be able to furnish the bishop with a title as good as government bonds, the time has been when a title to the lot would not be considered a good asset. The lot, 123 by 132, was formerly owned by Adolphus P. Linton and when a London syndicate attempted to sell it with other Omaha property owned by Mr. Linton, a suit followed in which the attorney fees equalled half the value of the lot.

The price paid by the church, $14,000, is said to be very reasonable and the deal is thought by the real estate men to be a good bargain hunter. The lot is on the northwest corner, while the lots of similar size on the northeast corner were sold by the Bury Reed company for $15,000.

Burley Starts Excavation.—Work has been started by the Burley Printing company removing the "hump" at Fifteenth and Jones streets, where the company will erect a modern printing house. With the disappearance of the "hump" of the Burley lot, the whole of the troublesome sale, in the wholesale and manufacturing district of Omaha, will be off the relief map of Omaha.

Fred D. Arnold, a druggist at 213 North Twenty-fifth street, has bought a new six-room cottage at 2715 Capitol avenue of Dr. C. S. Shepherd, the sale being made through the Byron Reed company. The home bought by Mr. Arnold for $1,000 is the last of five desirable homes built by Dr. Shepherd last year on Capitol avenue. Some of the cottages were sold before completed.

Dr. Frank J. B. Kalil has bought through D. V. Sholes the residence and two lots of I. Connor at 2806 Chicago street, the purchase price being $5,500.

CLUB MAY INCREASE DUES

Members of the Country Will Vote on It and Elect Four Directors.

Four new directors to the Omaha Country club will be elected at the annual election December 2 at the Omaha club and the members will be asked to vote on whether they wish to have the dues of the club placed at $50, $60 or $75 a year. The dues were raised to $60 at the last annual election and the club is now divided on whether it is not better to raise them again.

Many members of the club desire to have it run on an expensive scale, so the plan is to be put to a vote of the members. A deficit of $3,500 exists because of the increase of the cost of everything and because the club was run on a more expensive scale during the last year than in any previous year. The house pay roll expense showed an increase of $2,000, insurance $800, ground expense $1,000 increase, water $275, printing $275, laundry $150, light $250, heat $125, repairs $700, taxes $275. The club has been patronized by a fine class of members, but its total receipts exceeded the cost of raw material but $1,800, and the total receipts of the bar exceeded the cost of raw material but $2,500, showing that both bar and cafe were operated at a loss when other expenses are charged against these departments.

It is estimated that by fixing the dues at $75 the board would be able to run the club on a par with last year and liquidate the $3,500 deficit. By placing the dues at $60 the strictest economy would have to be used to take care of the deficit. It would allow the golf course to be kept in good condition, but would not permit of any changes or improvements. It would mean the club could support a good club maker instead of a first-class professional. It means fewer table d'hôte dinners, a good cook, but no chef, less and cheaper help around the club house and higher prices for lunches and social functions.

Votes may be cast during the entire day with the clerk of the Omaha club.

INNOCENT OF BAD MONEY

Man Presents Spurious Coin at Post-office, but Cannot Tell How He Got It.

Sam Golden, employed by M. Blobo-denky, a junk dealer, put in an appearance at the money order office of the Omaha postoffice Monday morning and bought several money orders for various amounts. Among the cash offered was a counterfeit silver dollar of the vintage of 1898.

The money order department is particular about receiving any coins having the United States imprint on them unless they are made by Uncle Sam at one of his mints. This coin, which was a good imitation, bore traces of having been recently re-galvanized and was also a little off in weight. Golden was detained at the window for a short time until the coin could be investigated by the secret service officers. He was subsequently taken up into the secret service office and questioned and searched for more of the spurious coin. None was found on him, however, though he had $15 or $20 in coins of miscellaneous denominations—all good. He insisted he did not know how the coin came in his possession and that he was not aware of its fraudulent character. As his story seemed fairly straight he was let go, but the bad coin was confiscated.

IT IS NOW UP TO CHICAGO

Omaha Banks Will Resume Cash Payments if Windy City Will.

For the free and unlimited use of currency in the payment of all demands without waiting for the consent for any other city in the world—except Chicago. This is the platform of the Omaha banks.

Dear Chicago: We are ready to resume the payment of cash in full for all exchange and checks of depositors at any time you see fit to do the same and would advise that it should be done at the earliest possible moment. Omaha Clearing House association.

This is the advice which Omaha bankers have sent to the bankers of Chicago, who have sent letters to western bankers asking for advice and suggestions as to when and how to resume the payment of "all cash."

President Henry W. Yates of the Omaha Clearing House association called a special meeting to take action on the Chicago communication and the Omaha bankers had no other reply to make than that they were ready at any time to resume when Chicago opens up the hoards of cash in its banks. No other city need take action.

The Omaha bankers are ready to open up with Chicago and believe the reply will come at an early date from the clearing house of that city, announcing that Chicago and Omaha will take the lead.

Mr. Yates said the communication from Chicago was confidential and parts of the reply sent by the Omaha bankers might be regarded as of the same nature, but he was glad to say that the clearing house association had agreed to open with Chicago and call in the cashier's checks.

There will be a special morning matinee Thanksgiving day at the Burwood, commencing at 10:30 a. m.; also the usual performances at 2:30 and 8:15 p. m.

NEARLY KICKS OUT A PANEL

Colored Man Employs Maude Tactics to Get Into Package Mail Box.

A colored man, carrying a good-sized package well plastered over with postage stamps, was observed trying to kick in two or three panels under the package receptacle boxes in the postoffice corridor Monday morning. He was admonished against his destructive tendencies by Watchman Morse.

"What a dem things gotten letters on 'em for dey want to putten packages in I'd like ter know!"

Watchman Morse told him the package opening was just over the wooden panels. "I kaint read dem brass letters. Hard 'nuff for me to read dem gold letters on de wood. But I'm glad you showed me er maw' likely I'd a kicked a hole in de post office, for dis package is got to go to day."

Stora Blue Ribbon Beer in addition to being a delicious beverage is also highly nourishing on account of containing all the nutriment of the finest barley, and of great tonic value because of the juices of the hops brewed therein.

WAR ON BOYS WHO THROW

Court Serves Notice on Juveniles that Punishment is Certain.

MAN MAY LOSE EYE FROM ROCK

Peddler Refuses to Supply Boys with Apples and is Therefore Pelted with Stones by the Crowd.

War has been declared by the juvenile authorities against small boys who take delight in annoying Jewish peddlers and hawkers. The practice in stoning and throwing missiles at peddlers is said to be growing among the boys and efforts are being made to break it up. Monday morning Earl Riner, Alvin Erskine, Paul Barnard and Arthur and Emil Presher were before the juvenile court charged with joining A. Hirsch, an apple peddler, in the neighborhood of Nineteenth and Lake streets when the boys, on their way home from school, asked him for apples. He refused and they began a bombardment, which lasted until one of the missiles struck him. Complaint was made to the juvenile authorities and the five boys were taken before the court.

"I am ashamed of the whole push," said Judge Kennedy, looking the boys over after hearing their stories. "You are American citizens and you stone a foreigner, who has come to our shores because he won't give you his property. Do you think that's the way for future American citizens to act?"

The boys admitted it was not and they all agreed they would assist the court in stopping similar mischief among their playmates. They were all allowed to go home, subject to visitation by the juvenile authorities.

Boy Admits Taking Horse.—James McCabe, a small boy who tried to his way out of the Detention school with a hatchet a few days ago, and Henry Hockenschnieder were charged in juvenile court Monday with entering the home of Fred Stevens and stealing a clock and a pair of stators. Hockenschnieder is a delivery boy and McCabe accompanied him on a trip to the Stevens home. McCabe admitted he had taken a horse from in front of the Exchange building in South Omaha and had ridden it around the city for his own amusement. The boys were both committed to the Detention school.

After his mother had reprieved Truant Officer McCauley with a broom, John Kudrna was finally rounded up and brought into court, charged with truancy. Truant Officer McCauley declared the people in the neighborhood pointed to the Kudrnas and said they would send their children to school when the Kudrnas did and not before. Hence he was anxious to have the court pass on the case. When the court asked Mr. Kudrna the age of his boy he shook his head.

"I have six children and I can't keep track of all of them. If you find my woman she can tell you, but I can't tell."

In order to give needed advice a representative of the county attorney's office will be present at all the sessions of the juvenile court hereafter. Deputy County Attorney Masney attended the session Monday.

STEAL MARCH ON JAKE RINER

Street Railway Men, Guarded by Policemen, String Wires and Defy Property Owner.

"Come down off that pole," cried Jake Riner, as he hurriedly to a point on Jackson street, near Sixth, which he claimed as his own and which the street railway company wishes to use on which to build its conduit system to the power house on the river front.

Not being able to come to terms with Mr. Riner for the building of the conduit, the street railway company sent a force of men there Sunday morning at 7 o'clock and had large wires strung over the poles which already cross the contested street.

"We have a lease for five years, which is paid up, permitting us to run overhead wires over that street," said Assistant General Manager Leussler of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company. "So, you see, we were simply acting within our rights when we strung the overhead wires across that part of Jackson street which Mr. Riner is claiming as his own."

Our lease, which permits us to carry overhead wires across has a couple of years yet to run, and by that time the title to the property will be settled.

The street railway company sent a force of men to string up the overhead wires Sunday morning, and had with them a couple of policemen in uniform to avoid any disturbances. They had the work nearly completed when at 9 o'clock Mr. Riner appeared on the scene and demanded the men stop work. Jock Gorman, who was in charge for the street railway company, did not propose to take orders from Mr. Riner and the work continued.

"What could I do with two big policemen standing around?" said Mr. Riner.

Employ this boy. Here's the most ambitious boy that ever came to town and a Bee want ad will find him. Those who use this very inexpensive method of finding help always have the best help. Those who put the primitive "Boy wanted" card up in the window usually get the boy they don't want and imagine all other boys are the same kind.
