ARGUMENT IN BRADLEY CASE

Prosecution Insists Defendant Be Not Favored by Sex.

DANGEROUS WOMAN A MENACE

Sympathy, Passion or Prejudice Should Not Be Considered--Defense Bogfus Its Plea.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30 .- Paslonate oratory marked the proces today in the trial of Mrs. Annie M. Bradley charged with the shooting and killing of former Senator Brown of Utah, in this city last December. The court room was unable to accommodate the great number of people who came to witness the last scenes of the tragedy that has attracted national attention for nearly a year. Many of the attendants were ladies and some of them arrived at the city hall long before the doors of the court room were opened in order to secure desirable positions from which to witness the events of the day. Mrs. Bradley came into court as if fully alive to the importance of the proceed ings. She took her accustomed place where she could be plainly seen by the jurymen and very near her counsel. The day was devoted to hearing arguments by attorneys on both sides of the case. Assistant District Attorney Turner opened for the government and he was followed by Mr. Wells of counsel for the defense. Mr. Turner urged the jury to consider the case on the same basis as if it were a man involved and as if it were an ordinary mind involved instead of the brilliant mind of Mrs. Bradley. Sympathy, passion o prejudice should not be considered. Mr. Turner, shortly after he began his argument, broke down with emotion and the court proceeding was temporarily auspended. Mr. Turner soon regained his composure and resumed his arguments.

A Danger to Society. Mr. Turner characterized as dengerous the woman who considered a man not her husband more sacred to her than does the wife herself. He said that even a horse doctor could have discerned that Mrs." Bradley when she shot Brown was not suffering from toxic insanity.

Mr. Turner concluded with the statement that Mrs. Bradley's act was that of a sane person deliberately planned. Robert Wells then opened for the defense. Mr. Wells told the jury that the defense had not submitted its case on the unwritten law, but on the law of the land, which safeguarded defenseless women.

Mr. Wells' argument was so impressive that Mrs. Bradley nearly fainted. Judge Powers, one of her counsel, sought to divert her mind by talking to her, but she brushed him away and listened closely to what Mr. Wells was saying. Mr. Wells concluded at 12:47 and court adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

RUSSIAN PLANS ARE NO GOOD Admiralty Will Secure Specifications for War Vessels from English Shipbuilders.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 10.-Because of criticism of the decision of the admiralty to purchase the plans for a Russian Dreadnaught from Vicker Sons and Maxim, the an illness of four days. He leaves a English shipbuilders, the government has mother and four children, Thomas, Alex. decided to institute a competition to be open to Russian and foreign firms for designs for new battleships. The vessels must be built in St. Petersburg of Russian material, by Russian workmen and they must be fitted with Russian engines. The successful competitor will supervise the construction, and he will be penalized for deficiencies in speed, etc. As a matter of fact, however, the competition is limited He was city ticket agent in Council Bluffs to Vickers Sons and Maxim, as the plans and Omaba from that time until April 1. must be presented within thirty days. The decision of the government to go abroad for plans is a sore blow to the Russian designers of warships. The technical committee of the navy had worked out half a dozen designs, but not one of them was eatinfactory.

FACTS VS. FRIGHT.

The crops of 1907 are valued at $7,000,000,000 and the mineral output of $2,000,000,000 more. increase of 200 per cent In ten years, says the eral Merchants' Review. three years past the immigration from foreign lands has been over 1,000,000 a year, while the increase of the native population has been very great. The wealth of the United States is now $120,-000,000,000, which is more than combined wealth of France and England.

Those who take a gloomy view of the outlook for business in the United States, says James W. Van Cleve, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, should ponder these facts: While the United States has only 5 per cent of the world's population, it produces 20 per cent of its wheat, 25 per cent of its gold, 33 per cent of its coal, 35 per cent of its manufacturers, 38 per cent of its sliver, 40 per cent of its iron, 42 per cent of its steel, $2 per cent of its petroleum, 55 per cent of its copper, 70 per cent of its cotton and 80 per cent of its corn.

And yet the producing possibilities of the country are beyond calculation. In agriculture millions of acres of fertile lands remain untouched, while the rapid and steady growth of the oil, coal and mining industries demonstrates the inexhaustible wealth that Hes beneath the soil.

With such a country and such a people why indeed should prosperity not continue?
