shown in the shope for the delectation of the horse show crowds of shoppers negligees of the more elaborate type have had a prominent place, and it is safe to say that in no previous season have we had so varied and beautiful an exhibit in this line. For many seasons past a few merchants have specialized in dainty offerings of this sort, but now the grade of negligoes has improved throughout the entire trade,

More American women are buying and wearing handsome and juxurious tea gowns and boudoir gowns than ever be fore, and the women who cannot afford the costly models insist upon greater daintiness and charm in negligee garments than was once the rule.

Of course there is still an immense supply of the cheap negligee garments, and some of them are aggressively ugly, but even in this class the leaven is more noticeable that it once was, and even among the very cheapest of the kimonos, bodside gowns, etc., one may find things that have a certain piquancy and daintiness. In one Broadway house which has a reputation for attractive negliges there is, for example, a line of negligees in outing fiannel priced at $1.85. That sounds depressing, but the little gowns themselves are distinctly prefty in spite of their quite obvious cheapness.

In the first place the manufacturer has produced an outing fiannel which, white ne more expensive than the materials usually in color with the names, is really attractive in color and design. On a ground of narrow stripes, pink and white or like end white, is scattered a flower design in the same coloring. That is, loose pink rosss are scattered over the pink and white stripes. lavender flowers over the lilac and white stripes.

The gown is quite loose and of modified simono type. The edges are all neatly finished in machine buttonhole stilch of pink or lavender and the fronts are caught together by ribbone tled in little fluttering

For what the French call a saut de lit this extremely cheap model has its merits, and while there are few pretty things so cheap, there are many desirable gowns at reasonable prices.

Nun's veiling, albatross and other woolien or cotton, yet not too heavy for well heated body of the material. rooms, and in light colors extremely dainty and becoming. pretentious gowns in these light weight introduced.

NEGLIGEE OF TUCKED CHIFFON WITH BANDS OF SATIN, A SECOND OF STRIPED MARQUISETTE AND LACE AND A THIRD OF REAL OTTOMAN SILK OVER WHITE NET.

trims some charming negligees in wool or by the yard as well as made up in himono

such model in a silvery light blue crepe em-woman could want for negligee wear.

wide white silk braid and passementerie surface of the cloth. Pekin striped silk

In elderdown robes there is nothing new in senana, being introduced in pipings, but the handsome zenana cloths, which bands, etc. are as warm as elderdown and very popular for boudoir gowns. These materials are signers of negligees, and there are crope somewhat expensive, but are offered in gowns of all sorts, from simple kimonos to stuffs of similar weight are well liked for beautiful colorings and are really very the most elaborate of tea gowns. It is simple negligees, wearing well, cleansing handsome. Some of the new designs have usually hand embroidered or lace trimmed readly and even washing satisfactorily, border stripes in soft Persian colorings or and Japanese crepes embroidered in affording a little more warmth than silk in shades of the color which is used for the quisite designs and colorings are to be had-

French makers do not heeftate to put handsome trimming upon these zenana Very simple gowns in pale blue or pale cloths, though the material is essentially pink albatross, with wide broidering bands for boudoir use. Collars and wide bands and big collar of white wash silk with bordering the fronts and even continuing wafer dots of black, are smart and in- around the bottom are sometimes of heavy expensive, and wide white silk braid and lace, and knots of velvet ribbon, border frogs are used effectively upon other un- folds or pipings of velvet, etc., are aften

One sees, too, handworked buttonholing acter yet far removed from the conven-Warmer and more chic, though more in self-color or contrasting color finishing easily soiled as well, are loose boudetr collars and ouffs edges on zenans robes gowns of light colored chiffon broadcloth and occasionally heavy raised embroidery made on the simplest lines and trimmed in designs worked directly upon the crinkly broidery and color scheme, but Parisian in Japanese red creps embroidered in many tones of Japanese blue and falling over an inner robe of creamy net, with frills and sleeves of embroidered net. From the same French maker was a tea gown of black silk mousseline with satin stripe. This fell straight from the aboulders in the black and in front was left open to show a girdled under robe of creamy malines and valenciennes over delicate pink, A bold pink rose design was painted in a border around the black over robe.

The striped materials, gause and satin, gauge and velvet, crope and satin, chiffon and satin, etc., are high in favor for tea gown purposes and lovely models are built up in plain chiffon cloth, inset with lace of trimmed almost entirely in inumerable selftuckings, plaitings, etc., with knots of ribbon passed here and there and soft frills and tace finishing neck and sleeves, or perhaps with lace undersleeves. A charming example of this elaborately simple type of tes gown is illustrated among the sketches and was in white chiffon cloth over palest rose petal pink. A daintier garment it would be difficult to imagine, and chiffon cloth, though of sheer texture, wears surprisingly well and is easily freshened by pressing.

One Fifth avenue importer shows a wonderful empire ten gown in fine, cobwebby lace dyed to eld gold tone, ornamented with crystal bugle embroidery in the same tone and made over a clinging satin foundation of the same color. A parrow line of dark fur bordered the bottom and the shoulder draperies.

Further down the avenue we saw a tes gown of blue liberty satin in the new Atlantic shade, trimmed in wide bands and motifs of coarse filet dyed to match the satin, and embreidered heavily in blue and gold. A deep tucker, bringing the decolletage line up almost to the base of the throat, was of cream alecon, as were the hugs wing sleeves, whose fullness was weighed down by heavy golden tassels.

And there was a gorgeous tea gown of new rose velvet, very light and supple, allver embroidery and fine grey net over silver gause. Such negligee as this are for the privileged few, but the ranks of the few have evidently increased amazingly during recent years. Crepe is always a material beloved by deform.

Chat About Women.

Mrs. Charlotte Smith, Counder of the Woman's Board of Trade of Boston, is making a serious effort to have a woman's hotel built in her home city, madeled after the Mills hotels in New York.

After Miss Edith Root is married the twin daughters of Postmaster General Meyer will be the only really young girls sash is among the most pictureque and in the cabinet circle, until Miss Roosevelt beautiful of the costly negligees, and one makes her debut into society.

Miss Betty Alden, a teacher of Middle-boro, Mass., recently selected by the Nan-tucket Steamboat company as sponsor for its new steamer, the Betty Alden, is a di-rect descendant of John and Priscilla Al-den, famed in the early days of Plymouth colony. breidered all over in drooping clusters of pale lavender wistaria and lined with wistaria satin was as charming a thing as any Other handsome gowns, Japanese in char- colony,

The queen of Roumania is ardently pursuing her chilanthrapic idea, which lirst took practical shape last year of collecting the blind of the country in one city, which her majesty has given the name of "Vatra Luminosa." tional kimono, are included among the elaborate tea gowns. The model of the sketch, for instance, was Japanese in em-

Elderly Man's Shoes

Many an elderly man has his shoes made to order because he thinks ready made shoes will not fit. He would not think so if he wore

It "fits like your footprint." MADE IN ST. PAUL BY C. GOTZIAN & CO. SINCE 1855

Our attractive Fall and Winter Style Book shows tasty Men's and Women's Styles. Write for it.

Activities and Views of Progressive Women in Various Walks of Life

settled on "the Grace Darling of America," Ida Lewis Wilson, keeper of the Lime Rock lighthouse, off Newport har-

The heroine of the lighthouse service is known to the marine world as Ida Lewis, her maiden name. She is 68 years of age. In 1870 she married William H. Wilson She was born in Newport, and her father, Captain Hossa Lewis, was appointed keeper of the light in 1854. She went to live with him, succeeded him at his death, and has remained in the service ever since.

Ida Lewis was the eldest child, and she speedily became proficient in equatic exercises. She rowed her brothers and sisters to the mainland every day when they were attending school. She became an expert swimmer, and could handle a sallboat with toltens of appreciation from all classes. the best yachtsmen in the harbor. Before and she has been visited in her rockshe was 18 she had saved the lives of four young men, all sons of prominent Newport families. Their boat had been capsized by the foolbardiness of a member of the party. and their cries for help aroused the daughof the lighthouse keeper. She jumped into her rowboat and rescued the four with considerable difficulty.

Shortly afterward her father was stricken with paralysis, and the work of watching the light develved on Ida and her mother. She was always on the lookout for possible wrecks, and was ever ready to rescue There is nothing prettler, whether it be a those in peril of their lives. In 1861 a cavalry wedding all aglow with yellow saller was rowing across Newport harbor, decorations, or an infantry wedding of ance and manner. She is a woman of when his boat sank. Miss Lewis heard pale bine. There is always the glitter of marked talent as a writer, as well as an his cries and brought him safely ashere.

sard was raging, two troopers who had to Fort Adams. When a short distance lovely with flowers, behind which glow the gines. from the Lime Rock light their hoat cap- colors of nation and regiment, to plight steed. Miss Lewis hurried to the rescue her troth to her soldier lover. And heat and managed to pull the benumbed bodies After returning to the lighthouse Miss Lewis was compelled to work for an hour ever the prostrate forms of the two soldiers before she was able to bring them back to consciousness. The men at Fort Adams made up a purse for her because their lives to the Grace Darling of Amer-Not long after the saving of the two treopers already mentioned she brought ashore a boy who had clung to the mainmast of his saliboat from midnight until making detail, or will it be a call to war? She added three more resours to her list within a year from this time.

retary of the Treasury William Windom awarded her the gold life-saving medal. When General Sherman appointed her as keeper he said: "This appointment is conferred upon you as a mark of my appre-In soving life."

the Massachusetts Humane society for saving a soldier, and the New York Life Saving association also save her a medal Her rooms to the lighthouse are filled with bound home by General Grant, General Sherman and Admiral Dewey. She is in as it was thirty years ago. She has one of the distinguishing marks of the true heroins-she dislikes to take about her rescues.

Hardships of the Army Wife,

Mary Dean, writing in Leslie's Weekly. gold ornamented uniforms and gleaming enthusiastic automobilist. Sports and During the winter of 1882, while a bliz- awords to linger in the memory of the guests, and the vision of a bride passing been to Newport were being rowed back down an aisle of stacked guns to an altar tive articles on these subjects to magamemory of all is the happy bride cutting is she who knows loneliness and heartache, In all five treopers from the fort owed called upon to perform next. Will it be three months in a maneuver camp; will it be a few weeks' absence in a distant garrison on court-martial duty; will it be a summer's camping out while on a map In all of which events she must stay behind. To be left alone in a foreign land, With her brother, Hossa, she dragged two to travel alone the breadth of continents. sallers from a watery grave. Night after fails frequently to the lot of the army wife. night she trimmed the light and kept it If she has children, the problem is still The rescues were but incidents more complicated. Indeed, it takes a brave to her, but during her career she has eaved heart, eftentimes, to face the situations that arise. Bravery, if one is not born

Every mether feels a great dread of the pain

and danger attendant upon the most critical period of her life. Becoming a mether should be a source of joy to all, but the suffering and danger incident to the ordeal makes its anticipation one of misery.

Mether's Friend is the only remedy which relieves women of the great pain and danger of maternity; this hour which is dreaded as woman's severest trial is not only made patnless, but all the danger is aveided by its use. Those who use this remedy are no longer despondent or gloemy; nervousness, nausea and other distressing conditions are evercome, the system is made ready for the coming event, and the

Friend. "It is worth its weight in gold." MOTHEP'S serious accidents so common to the critical hour are obviated by the use of Mether's bottle at drug stores. Book containing valuable information of interest to all women, will be sent to any address free upon application to

BRABFIELD REGULATOR GO., Atlanta, Ga.

ALL the money donated by port subscribed for a lifeboat, which was before the world. And a goodly number you can live at peace and know the value sire to travel. A few trips to San Antenia, Ardrew Carnegie for philanthro-called the Rescue and which was pre- of army women have traveled alone, and of true friendship. If a woman is famous Brownsville and other towns of this part of pic purposes, none has been sented to Miss Lewis by General Grant. some with wee babies, long and tiresome for her income, people expect a good deal, the state constitute the world that she has ple purposes, none has been sented to Miss Lewis by General Grant more worthily bestowed than the For it "Jim" Fisk ordered a beathouse journeys by land and sea to reach the sta- more of her than if she is just 'plain Jane.' seen. But she is a great lover of books and pension of $30 a month for life built, and he also presented the hero'ne tions of their husbands, after one of these. The 'poor rich' are at the mercy of the her reading has taken a wide range. Capwith a beautiful silk flag, painted by Mrs. unavoidable separations. In the event of McParland of New York. After being her husband's death, the army wife has $12,000 a month is absurd. My expenses made a member of Borosis Miss Lewis greater hardships than ever to reckon with. received a broach bearing the inscription: Unless he has been one out of a thousand Sorosis to Ida Lewis, the heroine." In 1879 she was made custodian of the He has no home to bequeath her, no busi-Time Rock light for life, and in 1821 Sec-ness properties or interests. The army does not pension her." Record Auto Trip.

Automobile tours have been indulged in by venturesome Americans in nearly every your noble and heroic efforts corner of the globe. The quiet of the Holy City has been broken by the "honk, honk" In 1887 she received a affver medal from of an automobile horn; the lotus flower of the Nile has been surprised by a red devil on its sacred banks; the jungle depths of India and Africa have likewise been invaded by the modern juggernaut, but it remained for an American woman-Mrs. make the first trip over one of the most difficult runs in the world-the Overland trail of the Rocky mountains. Mrs. Powers is the talented wife of Judge. O. W. Powers of Salt Lake City, a millionaire mine owner and legal light from the Last summer, in company with her husband and 17-year-old son, she made a famous ride in her touring car from Salt "Oh, the joy of being an army bride, if Lake City to New York City and back only to have an army wedding!" exclaims again, the longest and 'most difficulty journey ever taken by any woman in this

> Mrs. Powers is prepossessing in appearphysical culture are her chief fads, and she has contributed interesting and instruc-

Black Boots to Help Library. With girls shining shoes, washing win-The boatman was lost, the bridal cake with her husband's sword, dows and show cares, selling candles and "Revelation comes to the army wife. It cakes of their own make; boys cleaning the streets and yards, shucking corn for the many times. Her home making instincts farmers and doing all sorts of odd jobs suffer, remembering all the uncertainties about town, the sixty-five students of the of home life in the army. She lives in Princeton (Mo.) High school made more dread of what duty her husband may be than $100 in one day with which to buy books for their library.

Being in need of books, and money to get them not being on hand, the teachers and students decided upon this method. The entire number put in the day at work, While some only turned in small sums, others proved money-getters of the best kind and had several dollars to show for their labor. Each student was allowed to cheese his own method of making money.

Miss Urania Alley, a member of the senior class, and a leader in the younger society circles, procured a bost-blacking outfit and went about the streets shining shoes. By this method she made $1025, cattle, land and other property is estimated Misses Montie Hollars and Lella Pair, at $30,000,000. members of the class, also shined Fair 22.10.

The girls of the sephemore class sold candles and cakes. Prof. Wright and his fresh water for the thousands of head of class of boys went to the country and gathered corn. Some of the girls blacked stoves, scrubbed, washed dishes and did ranch, the water for irrigation being other odd jobs. Many of them made as tained from artesian wells. Only the best high as $3.

Spends 8200 a Day. expenditures are these of any woman of my means. whose conservators have given her up attuated in a perfect oasis of semi-tropical in despair, denouncing her as the most verdure. The residence contains many extravagant woman in New York, talked guest chambers which are always ready at length with a reporter of the demands of society and the world at large upon ranch. meneyed people, and the unhappiness which public. The stery, for instance, that I spend seldom exceed $5,000 or $6,000 a month, and $200 a day isn't much monsy to spend, "I try not to be extravagant, and I don't think I am. Why, sometimes I buy a bottle of perfume only once in three months. I know I don't buy nearly as many shoes as most women in my position. I have a suite of rooms at the Plaza, two houses in the country, town house, twelve horses, gowns, shees, lingerie. And I have a weakness for pretty tea gowns, preferably pink " In the room were other evidences preparation for the social events of the season Six new gowns for the Horse show and opera, with tiny satin boots to match, were displayed.

"I do so like pretty things," she con-O. W. Powers of Salt Lake City, Utah-to tinued. "Compared with other New York year. She is a royal entertainer and women, I think any one will tell you that I spend only enough to meet the demands of nociety."

> Mrs. Julia Watts Curtiss, is noted for her generosity. She is not anxious to marry. When her aunt in Harlem dies she will become the mistress of a large guests never suffer from ennul during their fortune, which she has planned to give stay. to charities.

Owners of Huge Ranches.

Mrs. H. M. King, whose magnificent ranch last few years. The "man with the Christi, has added another tract of land. embracing 190,000 acres to her holdings. The purchase of this land a few days ago from Captain John Tod and associates makes Mrs. King the largest landowner in the the world. Her landed possessions now aggregate 1,470,000 acres. The next largest women landowner is Mrs. C. Adair, whose ranch situated in the Panhandle of Texas, aggregates 1,300,000 acres. Until Mrs. King made her purchase of an additional 190,000 acres a few days ago Mrs. Adair held the record of owning more land than any other woman in this country. Mrs. King's ranch embraced 1.050,000 acres until two years ago, when she purchased an adjoining tract of 250,000 acres. Reports have been current from time to time that, now that this region is opened up for settlement by the building of a railroad through here to Brownsville, Mrs. King would divide her great ranch into farms and sell the land at the big advance in prices resulting from the building of the railroad. Instead of selling her land she Women know the hook is there, but they The price paid for the 190,000 acres it down anyway. which she purchased from Mr. Tod and associates was approximately $1,000,000. Mest of Mrs. King's land is valued at $15 ing to correct her traits of character to to $30 per acre, and her total wealth of which he married her.

The King ranch is one of the most beau-Miss Hollars made $7.05 and Miss tiful spots in southwest Texas. The great wells which afford an ample supply cattle and other live stock. Farming is also done on an extensive scale upon the breeds of cattle and horses are raised. The active management of the vast property is in the hands of R. J. Kleberg, a "An income is like a reputation-one must son-in-law of Mrs. King. In all matters of live up to it. I am not extravagant; my impertance, however, Mrs. King is consulted and she keeps in close touch with her business interests at all times. The Mrs. Julia Watta Curtiss, the hairess ranch home is a large two-story building. for the accommedation of visitors to the

Mrs. Hing also has a beautiful residence in the town of Corpus Christi. She divides her time between these two delightful tain Richard King, her husband, who laid the foundation for her present great fortune, died many years ago. He had accumulated land to the amount of several hundred thousand acres at the time he died Through careful and judicious management Mrs. King has more than doubled the fortune that was left her by her husband. She experienced trying times and severe hardships during the sarly days when this part of the frontler was the rendezvous of bands of Mexican thieves and out-

Mrs. Adair, the other Texas woman who is running Mrs. King a close second in the amount of landed holdings, is of an opposite type from Mrs. King in many things. Mrs. Adair is a great traveler Si'e has an elegant home in London, Eng land, where she spends a part of each usually when she returns each year from Europe she brings back with her one or more members of the nobility and entertains them most sumptuously upon her ranch. She indulges in wolf-chasing and other exciting out-door sports and her

Most of the ranches in the territory where Mrs. Adair's big tract is located have been out up into farms during the home is situated thirty miles from Corpus has made a successful conquest of that whole region with the exception of the ranch belonging to Mrs. Adair. She could dispose of the vast property at an enormous advance in price over what the land originally cost, but she still holds the big United States, and probably the largest in tract intact. In this respect she and Mrs. King are alike.

A Few Sharp Points.

Every married woman wonders how her husband managed to keep out of the poorhouse before she took possession of his

Nothing annoys a man as much as having his wife "fuss" over him, yet when a woman ceases to "fuss' over a man it is because she has ceased loving him a latch key without an argument he is either lying or is married to a woman who does not care for him. Men swallow flattery without suspecting the hook that is concealed within is constantly adding to the enormous acre- are so greedy for praise that they gobble After a man marries a weman he gen erally spends the balance of his life try-

If it were not for their nerves half of the women in the world would have nothing with which to amuse themselves. Almost all of the famale invalids be pastures are dotted with flowing artesian long to the moderately well-off class. Poor women have too much to do, and rich women too many diversions to be sick.

> feminine intellect is when he tries to keep house while his wife has gone to visit her mother. A man will sit up and discourse by the hour about the iniquity of the trusts in raising the price of foodstuffs, and then wonder where his wife's housekeeping allow-

The only trouble with the new-fashioned method of rearing children is that it has be tried on the old-fashioned child. There is always a woman behind the door of a man's opportunity, but she pushes it shut in his face just as often she opens it for him. A good many of women's angel feathers are borrowed plumage. The reason, for instance, that wemen forgive so much is because their bread and butter depends with all their hearts.

sleeves.

Skirts have been lengthened a trifle, so that they are again instep length, and their waistbands have been raised an inch to give them a sort of empire appearance. braid and valvet in conjunction are find-ing tremendous favor for gowns of every variety, and a very fine cord that is new is used a great deal, with the wider braids to carry out a prescribed design.

The ready-made shirt waist is cont, but the latest hint from Dame lon's leadquarters at read-to-wear waist must be slightly modeled to make it seem individual.

The military vest is very popular, and, after that the double vest, either of which give opportunity for brightening an other-wise somber costume. Many of the cutaway coats open over a vest that fastens blindly at one side, but this style is more appropriate to the visiting than the walking costume.

The separate waist is very much were even for informal occasions and, at family dinner parties, it is the most popular waist that can be selected. But even the separate waist has progressed and every modiste will tell you that she has many applications to make the separate waist more elaborate than before and to make it harmonize with the satisf

The little touch of lace in the shape of lace ends adds much to a lace walst. These ends must be arranged fichu fashion upon the bust, where the lace is knotted so that the two ends fall in long and beautiful points. In the imported dinner gowns these trail far below the belt line and are finished with contract of the land of th

The new guimpes are as lovely as they can be, for they are made of a variety of material. One of the most admirable of the guimpes of the autumn is a silver cloth with full short sleeves to match. The guimpe is all cloth of sliver, with a tall stock of the same. A siring of pearl beads is wern with it, or a big sliver armament in Leaves from Fushion's Notebook.

Vests of a strongly contrasting color are permitted, the color showing again in a band or under-cuff at the bottom of the sleeves.

Skirts have been lengthened a trifle, so that they are again instep length, and their waistbands have been raised an inch to give them a sort of empire appearance.

Outricit is boas are very nanesemble to the specific to be a polar the set of them away from the many. The few who can afford them are reveiling in a very wide certified from the labellers and very wide upon the shoulders and very wide upon the shoulders and very wide upon the shoulders and very wide open the shoulders and very wide open the shoulders and very wide option from the labellers in a standard them away from the many. The shoulders and them away from the many the few who can afford them are reveiling in a very wide optrion facility of them away from the many. The shoulders and them away from the many the few who can afford them are reveiling in a very wide optrion facility to like them away from the many. The shoulders and them are reveiling in a very wide optrion facility to like them as a shaped east with the many. The collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk to light the collarette in brewn, shading from durk t

The visiting costumes of this season are both amart and siegant. Skirts are very long, the waists elaborate, and the coats, for there is usuall a wrap of seme sort designed to wear with them, to alternate with the fur coat. It is not either that these costumes are any more coatly except that materials generally are that this year, that materials generally are that this year, in it is there daubling out that gives to them as air of inxury quite outdoing anything of previous years.

All series of little notes of novelty are struck in the trimming of smart walking suits, with braid and buttens, motifs of fur or velvet, and oftentimes all in combination. The cents are hip length, two-thirds or three-quarters—it's entirely a matter of individual tasts. In the way of colors, too, the range is wide, but all of the dull, smoky are a servedually length a mater of and blues are in the lead. Moreover, they are the colors that will prevail next apring

The Gentle Cynte. On the other hand, the chess player would rather pay rent than move. It makes some fellows chesty to think of all the medals coming to them.
Experience teaches us that if we want a thing cheap we must pay pretty dearly for it.

Salvation is free. If it were only marked down to 38 cents from 31 it would probably be more popular.

Time and tide wait for no man, but you can't make a woman believe it, when she is putting on her hat.

About one woman in a bundred is fond. About one weman in a hundred is fond of a s in the limen it. The other ninety-nine handle it at wholesale. Despite the fact that she can't throw a store a woman should have an aim in life.

New York Times.

