

THREE IN LINE FOR CAPTAIN

First Ballot Fails to Select Leader for the Cornhusker Squad.

ONLY SEVEN ENTITLED TO VOTE

He is Elected Coach for Another Year at an Advance in Salary of Three Hundred Dollars—Lees to Attend Conference.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Dec. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—Because of an irregularity in the ballots sent to the members of the Nebraska football team, the athletic board, which canvassed the votes last evening, declared no election, and the next leader of the team will not be known till the board meets again in January. Harvey, Cooke and Matters divided the votes. It is said that none of the three received a majority. Unless several members of the first squad settle with the management for their equipment and training table board, only seven men will be eligible to vote at the second election. The right to wear the "N," which carries with it the right to vote for the new captain, was granted to the following only, they having squared their accounts: Collins, Harvey, Chappelka, Kroger, Matters, Harbo and Perrin, the latter being granted the honor on account of consistent work on the second team. He participated in no intercollegiate contests the required full half.

MUSCATINE TO TOUR NORTHWEST

Iowa Basket Ball Champions Will Meet Good Five on Pacific Coast.

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—Spokane has three teams to play from the middle west, and at there is a desire to see its style of play against teams in the northwest, there is every reason to believe the attendance will be large. The team will make a trip to the California coast, and for this the schedule of games enroute has been arranged. As soon as the list of cities in the north is prepared a representative of the Iowa five will arrange the dates for the return trip. The games will be played in January or February. The Spokane contingent of basket ball fans, which includes many former residents of Iowa, are preparing to give the Hawkeyes a lively reception and entertain them while in the city.

Contracts Coming In.

Pa Rourke Monday received the signed contract from Hollenbeck, the crack south-of-the-Iowa State league last year, who will be one of the pitchers to help in the pennant again for the Rourke 'amly in 1908. Pa has several southpaws on his staff, all of whom show the promise, and who will make it hard for the left-handed hitters of the other Western league teams.

BACK TO TOKIO, BALL PLAYER

Omaha Jap Signs as Third Baseman of Oriental Team.

TAKES AMERICAN WIFE ALONG

Charley Yong Leaves Douglas Street Restaurant for Native Land to Follow in Great American Game.

"Charley Yong of Omaha to the stick, Kaiki on deck an' Wan Lee, the heathen Chinese, in 't hole."

This will be the yell of the "umps" who hold the indicator in Tokio next year, and then when Charley steps up with pride in his bearing and a smile on his face like the mighty Casey the ump will make the indicator turn around a buttonhole or two and shout, "strike one." Another spit ball will cut the plate in two and it will be "Strike two," and when the heathen pitcher of the Chinese gets wild Charley of Omaha will hear "Two bowls."

Charley may think the umpiro wants two bowls of chop suey, and the third strike will convince him that he is on a Japanese base ball diamond and not dealing in an Omaha chop suey house.

Charley Yong, he of the slant eyes and American wife, who has had charge of the restaurant at 1213 Douglas street, left Tuesday for Minneapolis, where he will ride the parlor car of Yim Hill's Oriental Limited to Seattle and sail for Japan. Yong has been signed by the base ball team of Keio university to play third base next year.

Yong married a Chicago girl a year ago who became infatuated with him when he was playing in an amateur team of the lake breeze city. She married him, not because he wore a base ball uniform, as most girls who have many base ball players, but in spite of the fact, and he took her from the checking counter of a big laundry and brought her to Sioux City, where they lived for several months, and then came to Omaha. Mrs. Yong is visiting in Sioux City and Yong hopes to take her to Japan with him to join the team who cheer the university team when they go round the diamond at a rate which would turn Silk O'Loughlin green and make Mickey Hagen, the man who fanned Casey, think his eye was bad.

Women Are Not Fans There.

But Mrs. Yong will be the only woman at the game, if she depends on her Japanese sister-in-law for company. Women don't attend the base ball games in Japan, according to Yong, who played base ball in the fairy land before he sailed for America, and won honorable mention in the great Japanese independent newspaper.

"Do you expect to attend the 'gotten' at you as they did in Chicago?" Yong was asked.

"Plenty o' times—an' 'you're the candy,' 'soak 'em,' and 'good bye.'"

"Do they ever mob the umpire like they do in Des Moines?"

"Nix," said the Jap. "mit, umps in Japan has respect of the gods. He is descendant o' hundred Samurai and no one licks him."

"Do Japanese base ball players know what it means when the bleachers yell 'twenty-three'?"

"Sure Mike," said Yong scratching his full head of black hair. "Means 'rango' and 'get off the grass.'"

"How does it come that you can go to Japan to play base ball after living in Sioux City, where there are no ball players?"

"Keto heard o' 'Duckley Holmes.'"

"Do the sporting writers run the team as the manager and president of the association?"

"Liners out no aspicio. 'Dey ain't the candy in Japan. Only the gods can help.'"

"Spit ball over there?"

"Lots of it, but they pass players to the rice bag when they uses sloops, and the fellows yell like a bunch of firecrackers."

WITH THE BOWLERS.

At the Association alleys last night the Reed Bros. team took two games from the Gate City and one uncomforably from the Metropolitan. The team played in hard luck and splits were plentiful. Weymuller was high man for the evening on the Omaha side, with 59 and 201. For the Liquor House Adams was high with 59 for total and 163 single. Score:

New Blood Wanted. "The future of this organization is assured. I question whether there is a business man or citizen of Omaha who would suggest that we abandon this enterprise. I must now, however, ask you to let me retire from further active work on this board, that others may share the honors you so generously bestowed on me. In selecting the nine men tonight from whom we are to elect three members of the board of governors let me ask that you select new blood, for with new blood comes new ideas that can but redound to the future glory of achievement of this great organization."

SON-IN-LAW OF W. F. CODY DEAD

Lieutenant Charles A. Stott Dies in South Dakota and Relatives Hasten from Omaha.

Lieutenant Clarence A. Stott, United States army, of the Twelfth cavalry, died Monday night after a two days' attack of pneumonia. Lieutenant Stott is stationed at Fort Des Moines, but died in South Dakota, where he had been doing service against the Indians. He is a son-in-law of Colonel W. F. Cody, having married his daughter, Irma, several years ago. Mrs. Stott was in Omaha at the time the news of the death of her husband was received, visiting with her father at the Merchants hotel, and had no warning of the serious illness of her husband. She and her father attended the theater Sunday night and spent Monday in shopping in the Omaha stores. They left for Des Moines on the first train after the news came. The body will be buried there.

Lieutenant Stott entered the service of Uncle Sam as a private in a Pennsylvania regiment during the Spanish-American war and served as a private and corporal until October, 1898, and enlisted in the regular army in February, 1900, and received his commission in the following spring. He was first assigned to the Tenth cavalry and afterwards to the Twelfth, to which regiment he was attached at the time of his death.

SAME OLD STORY OF FAITH

Suburbanite Pays the Penalty of Trusting Newly Made Friend at Depot.

David Manson, an old man from Lynch, has had his faith in human nature rudely shaken. He was waiting for a train at Union station, and when he learned the train was several hours late a desire came upon him to see the sights of a real metropolitan city. He had a suit case which he did not wish to lug around on his sight seeing tour and he advised with a young man who was waiting, or said he was waiting, for the same train, as to what disposition to make of the suit case. The young man offered to guard it and the old man was glad and thanked him with all his heart. When he returned from his up-town trip the young man and the suit case had disappeared and neither has since been seen.

MORNING SHOPPING. An experienced shopper tells us that she can do twice as much shopping in the forenoon as in the afternoon, with one-half the fatigue. She says there are no crowds then; that she has no difficulty in obtaining a seat in the street cars; that she is waited upon more promptly at all the stores and that the clerks are more courteous and take more pains to show goods, because they, like herself, are not tired at that time of the day. Knowing this to be true, we suggest to all ladies able to do so, to try this plan and do their shopping in the early part of the day.
