According to the petition Briggs kept a large tank of combustible oil in the back room and August 10 sent a small boy with a lighted candle to draw a bottle of the oil. The tank ignited, resulting in the fire which spread to the other rooms.
AMERICAN GRAPES BEST.
Vines Cultivated for "Cooks Imperial" Proven Best for Champagne.
American wine growers have been making strenuous efforts to outclass the foreigner in the production of fine grapes and as usual, American skill has won.
This is notably evidenced in the preference of Cook's Imperial Champagne over all other brands. The grapes from which this sparkling Champagne is made have been cultivated in the same vineyards for fifty years, during which time the soil has been so carefully nurtured that the vines now yield fine luscious grapes of exceptionally rare quality and flavor.
Connoisseurs claim that the delicate bouquet and delicious flavor of Cook's Imperial Champagne is due to the extraordinary line quality of the grapes used and the enormous care of this celebrated American wine during the past year seems to bear this out. Of course there are no ship freight charges or import duties to be paid on this Champagne, and the discriminating American has been slow to patronize foreign brands and thus pay exorbitant charges for Champagne of less merit.

Who is Responsible?

OMAHA, Dec. 31.—To the Editor of The Bee: On South Twentieth street and Central boulevard my friend and neighbor P. Kuntz got his lot filled. To protect the sidewalk they covered it with dirt to more than the width of the lot, about sixty feet. About a week ago they got through, but the dirt is there yet. Yesterday's sloppy weather made this place so muddy, the soft dirt is carried and spread for a half block either way. As my neighbor is a busy man, and besides there would be no use to ask him to put the walk in proper condition, as he ought to have done as soon as they finished hauling, I naturally went to the Board of Public Works and asked for a sidewalk inspector to look into this thing. I was told this was none of his business. I had to apply to the commissioner of streets. When I told my story to the clerk of the commissioner of streets, he thought it was the concern of the Park board. I told him it certainly could not be, because the Park board had nothing to do with the walks on Twentieth street. By talking one way and another he arrived at the conclusion it must be the concern of the school board, because the dirt was taken off the ground of Vinton school. So we went to the office of the School board, and there rests my complaint. I should like to know, is it red tape, or do we have so many officials that they in fact do not know what their proper duties are? I think the owner of the lot is responsible for the condition of the walk, if he lets a contract to have dirt carried over the walk, and it is covered during the time of work; it ought to be removed when finished. Respectfully, F. SIMAN, 311 South Twentieth street.

Announcements of the Theaters.

Master Gabriel, who formerly played "Buster Brown," will be the big magnetite one at the Orpheum next week. As Tomby, the mischievous cut-up of a boy, the diminutive comedian and his big bull dog Spike in "Auntie's Visit" are declared a great pair of fun makers. Master Gabriel has proved such a great drawing card for the children and women that his own personal Orpheum theaters in other cities say extra matinees had to be given.
