Talks About the National Corn Exposition

III The Exposition and the Exhibits

$250.00 for a single ear of corn! Sounds ridiculous doesn't it? But that was the price paid at auction, for the Grand Champion single ear at the national show at Chicago last year.

Stop to think, why was it worth such a price? The man who produced it didn't do it by accident; he spent years of hard, patient, intelligent work and study—and succeeded. He did better than any man has ever done—in this one thing. Moreover, he would not have made the effort were it not for the National Corn Exposition.

"Corn Exposition" may sound pretty dry to the man who doesn't raise corn. Just remember, though, that three-fourths of the people living between the Alleghenies and the Rocky mountains do raise corn or wheat and depend on their success in raising it for their three meals a day.

It won't surprise you then that there will be between five and six thousand exhibits at the Omaha show next December. These will include all varieties of grains and grasses. They will be in competition for prizes, to the value of $50,000.00.

While the educational idea is the foundation of the Exposition, the wonderfully beautiful effects, which can be gained in decoration, will be a delight. The corn palace of some years ago will be out-classed, because now a combination with electrical effects will create a veritable, cereal fairland.

It is proposed to erect a miniature corn palace at the west end of the Auditorium, in which the moving picture show can be given. The moving pictures will show actual work on farms, where the most approved methods are used.

Wonderful progress has been made in the manufacture of farm implements and equipment. Every progressive farmer wants to be well posted and the basement of the Auditorium and the lots adjoining will be used for extensive exhibits of machinery in operation.

How are the cereals used in manufacture? In several hundred ways. Working exhibits showing the uses to which they are put will not only be interesting, but tell the growers why they should specialize. For example, one manufacturer wants corn with a high per cent of oil; another with a large per cent of starch; and its use as food for beast and man, demands still different qualities.

The model kitchens and other methods of demonstrating values from the food standpoint, will be instructive as well as interesting. Some special exhibits are being sought, such as one from the Agricultural department, showing the newest results from experiment. Exhibit from the various agricultural colleges and experiment stations will be like a visit to the colleges themselves. It is assured that Garton Bros., the great seed houses of Warrington, England, will send an exhibit, and there is possibility that Luther Burbank will make his first exhibit of his wonderful creations.

More than this, the Expositions will bring together the leaders in agricultural thought, the heads of commonwealths, the professors, the leading seedsmen, the implement manufacturers, the manufacturers of cereal products, the men who deal in grain and the men who raise it. Special days for various interests will bring speakers of national prominence.

That people want to be amused, as well as instructed, is not overlooked. The stage of the Auditorium will be used for an appropriate splendid spectacular performance, Hiawatha having been one of the themes suggested, while a band of real merit and other musical features will make the exposition no less instructive and more enjoyable.

This is the third of a series of advertisements, which will be published, giving information regarding what the National Corn Exposition is and what it means to you and the whole United States. HEADQUARTERS, ROOM 606, BEE BUILDING, OMAHA. TEL. DOUGLAS 2527.

COASTING

Now that the time for coasting and other Winter Sports is at hand, we want to speak a word of WARNING with particular reference to COASTING.

On all streets on which there are street car tracks and on all hills which cross or terminate on streets having street car tracks there is CONSTANT DANGER to those indulging in the exhilarating sport of coasting.

Men and Women, as well as boys and girls, have lost their lives or have been seriously injured by dashing into moving or standing cars on their sleds or travelers.

PARENTS: Why jeopardize the lives of your children by allowing them to coast where the hazard is so great, when there are so many places in this city of hills where this sport may be indulged in with perfect safety?
